LEE FORMALLY IN COMMAND

New Department Commandant Officially Assumes Charge.

INFORMAL RECEPTION DURING THE MORNING

Many Guests Express Their Gratification at Distinguished Soldier's Coming-General Breather Deep the Nebraska Atr.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Brigadier General Fitzhugh Lee assumed command of the Department of the Missouri. At that time he arrived at the army building and quested as a precaution arginst the issued the formal order taking charge. A few minutes after his arrival the heads of the various bureaus at the headquarters visited him and were introduced to their new chief. Later in the day the heads of the government offices in the federal building called upon the general to pay their respects, and with no formalities the business of the department resumed its wonted

"As far as the work of the department is concerned I can say nothing. I knew nothing of the department when I was assigned to it, and as General Merriam had an appointment in Denver yesterday, my arrival later than was expected Tuesday made it impossible for us to talk over matters. Everything is in ship-shape, however, and all of the business is before me."

Major Michie, the adjutant general, succeeded Captain Erwin yesterday, and that officer assumed charge as judge advocate of the department. This is not the first visit of Major Michie to Omaha. When he joined the Second cavalry at Boise City, Idaho, as second lieutenant, he passed through Omaha, and on the transfer of that regiment to the east he was here again. A few years ago he came here to report on rifle practice at the Bellevue rifle range. His visits to the city were so pleasant that he welcomes the opportunity of service at the headquarters in this city. Mrs. Michie will remain in Virginia until after Christmas, when she will join her husband, and at the close of the school year their daughter will also come to Omaha.

BOARD ASKS FOR ITS FULL SHARE Educators Suspect that Council May

The members of the school board, through their attorney, have applied to the district court for an order commanding the mayor and the city council to levy as large a sum for the school fund as the laws of the state allow. Attorney Herring told Judge Faw-cett that the board had reason to believe the council does not intend to give this body all that is coming to it under its legal quested as a precaution against the council repeating its action of 1898.

The same question came up two years ago, when the council disputed the right of the school board to determine the amount of money which should be set aside for its needs. The council members announced that they would levy only such a sum as in their judgment was sufficient to answer the needs of the board and not as large a sum

The Board of Education thereupon secured a mandamus to compel the council to make the levy as requested. When the matter came up for hearing Judge Fawcett decided that the board is sole judge of the amount of money it needs and ordered the council

DRUG FIRM DECLARED BANKRUPT.

Creditors Ask Appointment of Re-ceiver for Fuller Company. In the United States district court yesterday the American Linseed Oil company and other creditors of the firm of J. A. Fuller & Co., druggists, filed an application to have the firm declared bankrupt, alleging that it owed debts in excess of $1,000 and that it had committed an act of bankruptcy. Immediately after the filing of the petition an answer was filed admitting the allegations to be declared bankrupt.

Accompanying the petition was an application for the appointment of a temporary receiver, the allegations of the application being that the assets of the company did $25,000; that the assets would suffer if they were locked up and not sold, as they consist principally of the stock of drugs. Frank M. Crowl was recommended for appointment by both parties to the action and will con-

Twenty Dealers and Advisory Board Consult as to Meat Inspection.

NEW ORDINANCE WILL BE MORE STRINGENT

Committee of City Officials and Dealers Interested is Appointed to Draft New Law to Protect the Public.

Twenty butchers and commission men met with the Advisory board yesterday afternoon to discuss the proposed change in the rules concerning the inspection of meat offered for sale in the city. rules which H. L. Ramacciotti, the city meat inspector, prepared were objected to on the ground that they require all animals to be inspected on the hoof and would prevent the shipping into the city of meat which was butchered elsewhere. All the butchers favored the erection of a city slaughter house and expressed a belief that such a house would yield a good income to the city. The chief objection to having all stock inspected on hoof is that the supply of meat killed outside the city and not passed upon by a government inspector would be cut off under such a plan and the packers would be able to raise their prices. Under the present arrangements farmers who live in the vicinity of Omaha can butcher hogs and cattle and market them in Omaha. This local supply regulates the price of butcher stuff and is said to be of benefit to butchers and their customers.

Coffman Suggests Changes. Health Commissioner Coffman suggested that the rules be changed in such a manner that they will not exclude meat butchered outside the city, but will subject all such meat to a rigid examination and provide for heavy fines for any person found with of the petition and expressing a willingness diseased meat in his possession. This change was acceptable to the butchers and a committee of five, consisting of the meat inspector, the health commissioner, two butchers and one commission man, was appointed to frame an ordinance, which will not exceed $8,000, while the liabilities are be satisfactory to the city authorities and the local meat men.

E. A. Marsh and C. G. Fisher acted as spokesmen for the meat men and assured the board that the honest butchers of the city are anxious to have a rigid inspection duct the business pending a settlement of of meat and are zealous in their efforts to prevent the public from being imposed upon by unscrupulous dealers who buy diseased cattle and offer their meat for sale. These men explained that there are butchers who deal only in the stock which is rejected at the stock yards and is not suitable for food.

Chief Donahue of the police department told of a case where information came to him concerning two men who were buying cattle which had died and offering the flesh for sale. On one occasion he found a carcass from which the hind quarters had been cut. These quarters were afterward found in an Omaha meat market, but the present ordinance specifies that such meat must be sold before a dealer can be prosecuted and Judge Gordon refused to take any notice of the case. Dealers Under Suspicion. According to the statement of Inspector Remacciotti there are twenty meat dealers in the city who are under suspicton and his efforts are confined chiefly to watching these men, but under the existing ordinances it is difficult to prosecute offenders, He explained that he has driven several unscrupulous dealers out of the city and is doing all in his power to prevent the sale of diseased meat. In several cases tuberculosis in markets. Such meat is

DEFAULTER IN OLDEN TIME Bishop Williams Lectures Upon the Unjust Steward Who Squandered His Master's Money.

"The Parable of the Unjust Steward." taken from Luke xvi, 1-10, was the subject of Bishop Williams' mid-week lecture at Trinity catherdal chapel last night. The speaker referred to the efforts of the people of the business centers, particularly of the cities of the great west, in striving for riches, and illustrated the point by reference to the crowded business quarter of Chicago or Omaha, where men with eagerness and intensity written in their faces seek to legally cut one another's throats. They, like the steward in the parable, place worldly advantage far ahead of spiritual wealth.

'The steward of the parable was an agen or business manager occupying a position of trust," said Bishop Williams. "It was his duty to be honest, but this steward was a defaulter. He misappropriated money which belonged to his master that it might be wasted in extravagant living. In time he was accused by his neighbors and, having lost his position, he cast about to find means of getting a living without working for it. With the connivance of the tenants he made a compromise with them for the money they owed his master. His methods were so clever that he not only earned the gratitude of the tenants, but the master is forced to admire the cleverness. "The master of the unjust steward did not commend his servant's dishonesty, however, and our Lord nowhere intimates that such a thought was in his mind. Nor does our Lord condemn riches as unrighteous in Yours Uncle Sam's Position themselves, but only when they have been made unrighteously by men who have misused them. The lesson is that we are to human faculties—and turn them to spiritual uses. In other words, to make of them spiritual friends that after death shall go habitations.

BUTCHERS PONDER OVER LAW JESSE MOORE SOUGHT DEATH

Fills Himself with Morphine, but Police Surgeon Pumps Him Out.

Jesse Moore, a laboring man formerly of Wichita, Kan., but for the past eight weeks a resident of Omaha, attempted to commit suicide Wednesday evening, by taking a large dose of morphine, at the home of A. J. Leguerier, 1419 Howard street, where he has been a guest during his stay in the city. Prompt action on the part of Police Surgeon Ames defeated his purpose and after it was all over Moore remarked that he was glad to be still alive. Moore wrote a letter Wednesday afternoon to his wife, Maud, who has been living with their two sons, aged 2 and 4 years, at 403 Bancroft street, declaring that he was tired of living and was determined to end his existence. About 8:30 o'clock he left the house of his friend and took the morphine, returning in a few minutes, after which he fell into a stupor. The letter to his wife, found nearby, contained the following message:

When you receive this I will be out of trouble in this world at least and I hope you will forgive me for this last act that will cause you sorrow, but it is for the best for both of us. Now, Maud, do not worry over this, for what is to be will be in spite of any effort we can make. Bring our beys up right and never let them forget their papa. Maybe it will be a lesson to them to let cards and whisky alone.

When the doctor had finished numping When the doctor had finished pumping out the morphine and Moore had had time to regain his composure somewhat, he arose and walked to a dresser, where he coolly replaced a glass eye in the left socket. He said he "just couldn't bear to think of being found dead with a glass eye in his Mrs. Moore arrived later and was much

South Omaha News .

Mention has been made recently of the proposed office of water commissioner and attention called to the contract supposed to exist between the American Water Works company, or, as it is now called, the Omaha Water company, and the city of Scuth Omaha. There is a contract in existence, but no city official knows where it is, as it disappeared from the files years ago and has never been located by any person connected with the city government. The only item the city has on record is brief mention of the time the contract was let and the time it will naturally expire. This record consumes less than half a page of the ordinance book, while the franchise itself would take up a dozen pages or more. What a water commissioner is to do no one seems to know, as the city has a contract which will not expire for some time and no city official is in a position to say just when this contract will terminate. The talk about placing a meter at the northern limits of the city and then charging the supply as it comes through is not favored, as it is believed that the rush of water through the thirty-inch main is at tines so great that a meter would be ab-

Mitchell Makes a Find. Through his agents Chief of Police Mitchell located a bunch of safe-blowing utensils near the Rock Island depot yesterday. The find consisted of two bottles of nitro-glycerine, a cake of soap worked up ready for use and eight percussion caps with fuse attached. A syringe was also found in the package. The nitro-glycerine had been cut with alcohol, so that by the use of the syringe it could be injected into bole drilled in a safe. From the infermation the chief has at hand he is con fident that the plunder belongs to the three men who were arrested at the Dellone hotel not long ago.

In explaining the use of the stuff found Chief Mitchell said that the soap was used to fill the creases in the door of the safe before the explosive is inserted. Where a hole is bored in the safe near the lock the chief says that a syringe is used to inject the glycerine before the fuse and

THE PURE GRAIN COFFEE

Some people can't drink coffee; everybody can drink Grain-O. It looks and tastes like coffee, but it is made from pure grains. No coffee in it.

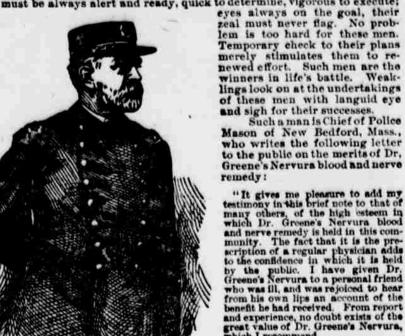

Grain-O is cheaper than coffee; costs about one-quarter as much. All grocers; 15c. and 25c.

CHIEF MASON'S LETTER

Strong Commendation of Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy, from New Bedford's Chief of Police.

The men who succeed are not laggards Their active minds and supple bodies must be always alert and ready, quick to determine, vigorous to execute; eyes always on the goal, their Temporary check to their plans merely stimulates them to renewed effort. Such men are the winners in life's battle. Weaklings look on at the undertakings of these men with languid eye and sigh for their successes.

Such a man is Chief of Police
Mason of New Bedford, Mass., who writes the following letter to the public on the merits of Dr, Greene's Nervura blood and nerve "It gives me pleasure to add my testimony in this brief note to that of many others, of the high esteem in which Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is held in this community. The fact that it is the prescription of a regular physician adds to the confidence in which it is held by the public. I have given Dr. Greene's Nervura to a personal friend who was ill, and was rejoiced to hear from his own lips an account of the which I recommend.

"HENRY W. MASON,
"Chief of Police
of New Bedford, Mass."

In the full knowledge that disease is the relentless foe of

CHIEF OF POLICE HENRY W. MASON. mankind, most men flaunt the banner of impudence in the face of the giant and court his heaviest onalaught. Not until his heel is on their necks do they realize how outraged Nature can assert herself. The struggle for health, perhaps for breath, is then begun and no one can see beyond the gloom. It is not the man who is always afraid of taking cold or who fusses about exposure that keeps out of harm's way; it is the man whose robust constitution and steady nerves defy disease; whose blood is not the sluggish element that fills the veins of the weakling, but the pure, rich red blood of health.

Dr. Greene's for the Nervura

Blood and Nerves.

Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the discovery of the celebrated Dr. Greene, and nothing ever prepared for the ills of men and women is so clearly an aid to Nature. Made entirely of vegetable elements, it will of itself cure all ordinary cases of debility or nervous exhaustion. When the cases are complicated with the remnants of some devastating disease, Dr. Greene's advice should be sought, and the remedies at his disposal, his own discoveries, used as he advises, will bring promptly the indications of returning health—sound sleep, quiet nerves, hope and ambition. Dr. Greene's treatment is the quickest and surest road to health. Many years of constant experience with human ills, and a success greater than that of any other physician, should give confidence to every sufferer who needs advice and help, and who reads these words of comfort and hope.

DR. GREENE OFFERS FREE ADVICE.

Are you bowed down with despair because of ill-health? Are your days passed in misery and your nights in torture? Does darkness surround your pathway? Are you without hope of recovery, and wishing for death to relieve you? Are you tempted to take the fatal step of ending your suffering and mental anguish with a violent hand? Cheer up, there is certain help for you, prompt and kindly. Consult Dr. Greene. Call, if you can, at his office, 85 West 14th Street, New York City. If you can't call, you can write all about your case and in either event you will receive his advice free of charge.

Miss Broderick Found.

Miss Broderick Found.

Miss Mary Ellen Broderick of 2520 Chicago street was found Wednesday afternoon by the police. She disappeared Thursday morning of last week and it was believed that James K. Newman, the spiritualist who performed the hypnotic act, was directly responsible for the disappearance. He was arrested Tuesday and released Wednesday night on his own recognizance to appear for trial in police court at 2 p. m. today. Miss Broderick is under the care of the police matron and will be taken today by her father to a private hospital for the insane at Council Bluffs.

Telegrams from Genoa, Neb., announcing that the woman who entered the emergency hospital with C. H. Long is not his wife threatens to rob the hospital of its guest of honor. The health commissioners cannot ask the woman to leave at once, however, as she has been exposed to smallpox and must not be released until the time for contagion has expired.
