

MUTATIONS OF NINE YEARS

Changes Undergone by the Jacksonians of Omaha Shown by Speakers.

PRINCIPLES TURNED UPSIDE DOWN

Theories of Government Advocated in 1892 and the Notions that Are Now Championed by the Speakers Who Attend.

The Jacksonian club has completed arrangements for the banquet at the Millard hotel tonight, but some of these arrangements have been changed by reason of the nonarrival of certain distinguished guests at the time expected.

A telegram received Sunday morning from Senator Tillman stated that he would arrive at 12:45 on Tuesday evening.

The banquet would be held Tuesday night, the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, but, "if the mountain will not come to Mohammed, Mohammed must go to the mountain."

As one of the members of the club put it yesterday: "Bryan has to be in Chicago on Tuesday. The democracy of that city could not alter its date. We wanted to hear Bryan. Throughout the state there are hundreds of democrats who do not know where they are at until Mr. Bryan speaks here."

The order of speaking at the close of the banquet will be carried out with W. O. Gilbert as toastmaster, as follows: W. D. Oldham, "The Democracy," Harry E. O'Neill, "The Democracy," W. J. Bryan, "The Press," Will M. Maupin, "Andrew Jackson," Governor John T. Beckham of Kentucky, "The Untried," A. C. Shallenberger of Illinois, "The Democratic Party Its Duty and Destiny," Senator Benjamin R. Tillman of South Carolina.

Worship at St. Andrew's Shrine. Tomorrow night will be the anniversary of the battle of New Orleans, when every democrat, good and true, will worship at the shrine of St. Andrew, the Spillman; the man who first carried triumphantly the democracy to the public crib, while he will be eulogized for his heroism and his victories by the words of the speakers, the heart of every man will soften when they think that he was the man who said: "If there is any office in the United States which can be held by a white man by a democrat, we will abolish that office."

A great change has come over the spirit of the men who in earlier days honored the memory of the hero of New Orleans. The first meeting of the Jacksonian club of Douglas county was held nine years ago. On the night of January 8, 1892, a notable assemblage gathered at the Paxton hotel in response to invitations sent out by the managers of the club.

At that meeting Gilbert M. Hittcock was so near the faith that he thought it necessary to offer a half apology for his appearance among democrats who had in good report and evil report upheld the cause dear to the heart of Andrew Jackson, Judge Wakeley was a guest at the meeting and accepted the seat of honor on the right hand of the president of the club.

At the banquet of 1894 John P. Irish of California, an old democrat of Iowa in the days when democracy meant hopes deferred, was the speaker of the evening. Mr. Irish's address was eulogistic of Grover Cleveland, and, although the population of the state today are masters of the democratic situation in the state were fanning Cleveland on every hand, the men at that Jacksonian meeting cheered the eminent editor to the echo.

In his speech that night Colonel Irish warned his hearers against uniting with that new party in which appetite occupied the place of principles. Judge McHugh presided and a letter of regret for inability to attend was read from J. Sterling Morton, S. R. Bush spoke on the subject of "The Jacksonians."

T. J. Mahoney presided at the banquet of 1895, and Horace Boies of Iowa was the principal speaker. At that time Mr. Boies reiterated his position on the money question and in the state of Bryan was not named. On the contrary, his speech for honest money was listened to with pleasure and received with cheers.

Then came the momentous year of 1896. T. J. Mahoney presided at the banquet of 1896, but it seemed to be impossible to secure speakers of more than local importance. Every invited guest sent a letter of regret except R. A. Clark of Stella, whose address was hardly worth the effort.

Hot Air at High Pressure. If the hot air pumps were not in evidence in 1896 they were working double time in 1897. The question of quality was not considered as much as that of quantity from the program which was prepared for the meeting. In place of the learned and dignified address of Morton or Irish, William Jennings Bryan, then smarting under his first defeat in his effort to secure the presidency, talked upon democracy and endeavored to prove that his was the only silver-pure article.

SUPPLY OF BANKRUPT ROADS

Opening of New Century Happy to Find It Nearly Exhausted.

BAD TWENTY-FIVE YEARS FOR INVESTORS

Thirty-Four Railway Companies Every Twelve Months Have Suffered Sale by Foreclosure—Conditions Greatly Improved.

Analysis of receiverships and foreclosures of railroads in 1900 is made by the Railway Age as follows: The number and extent of railway bankruptcies in the United States last year was a little greater than in 1899, but with that exception they were very much less than in any year since 1887.

It has been a quarter of a century for investors in railway securities. On an average thirty-four companies every year have suffered sale by foreclosure. The early years, at least, of the twentieth century, certainly will show few foreclosures, for the supply of bankrupt roads is about exhausted.

While the number of roads sold during 1900 was just the same as the number of roads placed in the hands of receivers, the mileage of the roads sold was more than twice as great as that of the new roads.

More than likely a meeting of citizens and taxpayers will be called for some evening this week to listen to the reading of the revised charter. The subcommittee appears to be getting along nicely and the draft of the charter will soon be submitted to the board.

Even after the charter has been approved by those who attend the mass meeting and the various committees some changes are liable to be made. In speaking of this matter yesterday a well known taxpayer said that he would advocate the holding of an election in the spring, with a view to electing the present administrative officers.

MANCHESTER MARKETS FIRM

Have Healthy Tone, Not Affected by the Bank's Increase in Rate.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 6.—Notwithstanding the easier cotton conditions at Liverpool cloth makers adhere generally to the recent quotations and endeavor to improve the position, centering their hopes in the large demand for Indian goods.

Many manufacturers who are two or three months ahead are able to refrain from selling their goods at a loss, and are fortifying. The tone of the market was healthy and was not affected by the increase in the rate of interest.

Yarns were irregular, although in a stronger position since the holidays. The demand for the week was somewhat broken, there was considerable inquiry following the turn of the year which proved difficult to satisfy.

Foreign Financial. MADRID, Jan. 6.—The report of the Bank of Spain for the week ending yesterday shows the following: Gold in hand, no change; notes in circulation, increase, 18,449,000 pesetas. The gold quotation yesterday was 245.

WEST POINT, Jan. 6.—(Special.)—At the session of the local branch of the Catholic Knights of America of this city these officers were elected: Very Rev. Joseph Ruesing, president; Ferdinand Ramon, vice president; William Stieren, treasurer; John H. Jandic, recording secretary; Ferdinand Ramon, secretary; Joseph Kuch, sergeant-at-arms.

MERCANTILE MARINE'S NEEDS

French Deputy Urges Substitution of Better Vessels as a Precautionary Measure.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—A supplementary report upon the depressed condition of the mercantile marine of the United States was furnished the Department of State by United States Consul Thacker at Havre.

Mr. Thacker forwards a resume of an interesting report on this subject by M. Thierry, assistant consul general at Havre, which forms the basis for the discussion of the matter in the lower chamber. M. Thierry advocates the diminution of the advantages enjoyed by the sailing fleet under the law of tonnage.
