to the Fisher-Coffee election contest case:
Your standing committee on privileges and elections have had under consideration the proofs offered in the case of Alian G. Fisher against Charles F. Coffee, involving the seat in the house for the Fifty-third representative district, and find that the allegations of the contest notice are not sustained and that the stiting member, Mr. Coffee, is entitled to the seat.

The facts appearing in proof are that at the time of the election the sitting member was a director and vice president of the First National bank of Chadron and resigned the same on the 25th day of November, 1900, which resignation was accepted, and that when he took his seat he was not an officer of the bank. States, within the meaning of the constitution.

It was also claimed that there were bets offered and taken on the election while the campaign was pending and that there was treating of voters by persons who favored the election of the contestee. The evidence fails to show and your committee does not find that this was done by the procurement of the contestee or through his agency or with his knowledge in any manner whatever. Indeed, the contrary expressly appears throughout the evidence.
While the law provides penalties for these acts it nowhere provides that the election shall be voided thereby, unless they are done by the procurement or agency of the successful candidate.

We therefore recommend that the con-

All Defendents Guilty. In conclusion. Mr. Shaw said: "All the defendants are equally guilty as principals n this crime. The stories told by the defendants on the witness stand proved a miserable failure as a defense. Such a defense s worthy of no consideration. Their stories are to be weighed by what they said before no matter under what circumstances they told it. With these facts presented, the state is compelled to ask you, putting aside all sympathy, but in the name of justice, for a verdict of murder in the first degree. Judge Francis Scott then began the closing argument for the defense. Judge Scott asserted that the case of the state was not supported by legal proof and that the state was charging an impossible crime. He alluded to the general unanimity with which the community had accepted as true the published statements that the death of Jennie Bosschieter had been brought about through the attempt of the accused to commit a felony and of the difficulty of the jurors divesting their minds of all projudice. He declared further that each of the accused men should have had a separate trial. Judge Scott said that if it were true that the girl had been killed by the defendants in an attempt to assault her, as alleged in one count of the indictment, the accused men would be guilty of murder, but he de nied that the allegation had been sustained by the state. The other count in the indictment charges murder. "If," said counsel for the defendants, "it were attempted to prove that the girl had died of poison it would be for the state to prove that the poison was given with intent to kill." The common law, he declared, was superior to No. 22. International Electrical Workers of the statute, and in this case he asserted the superiority of the common law principle as against the state statute, which says that if death results to an innocent person in an attempt of another to commit a felony the latter shall be deemed guilty of murder in

The following cities were represented Milwaukee, H. D. Quinn; Indianapolis, W. H. Watkins; Chicago, C. F. Havener; Louis ville, H. C. Pulliam; Philadelphia, A. N. Koch: Boston, A. A. Irwin and G. E. Bra man; Washington, William C. Bryan and Charles White; Baltimore, by proxy.

When the meeting was called at 8 o'clock there were present: A. A. Irwin and H. D. Braman of Boston, A. H. Koch and Frank Richter of Philadelphia, C. A. Havener of Chicago, H. D. Quinn of Milwaukee, W. H. Watkins of Indianapolis, Harry Pulliam of ouisville, F. F. Noyes and N. C. Bryan of Washington.

The Baltimore franchise seemed to be the only one in dispute. It was said that J. J. Klosterman, the old National league may be on the circuit. The National league con trols Union park in that city, upon whiel the new organization wants to play, and it may have something to say about who shall have the franchise. Manager Counte Mack Announces the Lease of Eligible Property for Base Ball Purposes. ROSTON, Jan. 17 .- Connie Mack, manager f the Philadelphia league base ball club, and representing Ban Johnson and C. W. Somers, left tonight for New York and Philadelphia. He announced before his departure that he had received the lease of the grounds on Huntington avenue in Boston, heretofore used by Chute & Co., from the Boston Elevated Railrond company. Mr. Mack would not discuss the circuit question, but said the American league had seven cities pledged—Milwankee, Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. It has had indianapolis and Buffalo under consideration and Boston secured. The question of a manager for the Boston team will be decided within a few days. The new grounds are separated from the National league grounds by the railroad.

CLEVELAND, O. Jan U.—Ban Johnson, Somers, left tonight for New York and CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 17.—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, was lere today in consultation with the managers of the local club. Later he and Charles W. Somers of the Cleveland club left for Phil-adelphia, Baltimore and Washington to complete plans for the circuit.

MANNING PREDICTS SUCCESS Kansas City Magnate Boasts of His Location for a Base Ball

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.-Manager James Manning, manager of the proposed new league team, arrived here today from his league team, arrived here today from his home in Kansas City. Mr. Manning predicts success for the new league. He has an option on a suitable location for a base ball park that will be announced soon. Mr. Manning corroborated the statement that each of the American league clubs had turned over to President Ban Johnson 51 per cent of its capital stock. In the case of Washington alone an agreement was had turned over to President Ban Johnson 51 per cent of its capital stock. In the case of Washington alone an agreement was entered into to deposit just as soon as the local club is incorporated.

It is one of the most ironciad arrangements ever drawn up in base ball. Johnson simply has been made the trustee of the majority of the stock of each of the clubs to be retained by him indefinitely. The stock can be bought back only by the American league and then for a specified sum. President Johnson expects to call a meeting of the league in Philadelphia next week. HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 17.—Rid Carter of Brooklyn was given the decision on a foul over Joe Walcott in the nineteenth round of their fight tonight before the Empire Athletic club. Walcott heid Carter and struck him in the face while the referee was separating them. Carter had the better of it except in the seventh, tenth and thirteenth rounds. Walcott nearly had him out in the tenth when the bell saved him.
