SITUATION IN VENEZUELA IS SERIOUS

Americans Ready to Give Up Unless Washington Makes Show of Resistance to Demands

WILLEMSTAD, Island of Curacao, Dutch West Indies, Jan. 19.—(Via Havana, Cuba.)—The United States auxiliary cruiser Scorpion, Lieutenant Commander Sergeant commanding, has just arrived here on its way to Guayana, Venezuela, the nearest port to the scene of the trouble between the rival asphalt companies. It recently left La Guayra (the port of Caracas) and brings the latest news of the Venezuelan troubles. The situation is described as being serious. It is said that the emphatic protests of the government at Washington have been defied and bloodshed at the lake of the Bermudas Asphalt company was feared.

The most hotbed of the foreigners in Venezuela go so far as to say that if the Washington authorities do not take steps to protect American citizens now all foreigners may as well leave the country. The officers of the Scorpion are quoted as saying that the diplomatic corps at Caracas is unanimous on this point, as are all the foreigners. They admit, however, that the United States minister at Caracas, Francis B. Loomis, is working vigorously in the efforts to arrange matters.

The more recent developments in the trouble in Venezuela were the seizures by the authorities at Curacao of the important commercial town of Venezuela and capital of the state of Bolivar, situated on the right bank of the Orinoco, thirty-seven miles by water from the sea, of two steamships belonging to the Orinoco company. This concern is an English corporation, but 90 per cent of the capital is American.

The concession of the Orinoco company was recently annulled on the ground that it was illegal and the opinion prevails that it would be driven from business and all the money invested by the shareholders will be lost.

FRED METZ, SR., NEAR DEATH

Family is Summoned and Physicians Hold Out No Hope of Recovery.

Frederick Metz, sr., who has lived in Omaha since 1874 and has been prominently identified with the progress of the city, was in a precarious condition last night and the attending physician gave out a statement that his death might be expected at any hour.

Mr. Metz has been confined to his home, 2556 Harney street, since last August, suffering with a complication of ailments, and for some time his condition has been so serious that the members of the family have had no hope for his recovery.

Dr. M. H. Verneen has been in constant attendance upon the patient for several weeks and many of the best physicians from Omaha and from Chicago and St. Louis have been called in consultation in the endeavor to prolong the life of Mr. Metz. The advanced age of the patient, however, has brought on a general breakdown and the action of the heart is now sustained only by the use of powerful stimulants.

The condition of Mr. Metz became so critical on Friday that telegraphic calls from his wife, Mrs. Metz, were sent. Mrs. Metz and Mrs. F. H. Hauck of St. Louis and Mrs. A. C. Funk of Bloomington, Ill., the last named being in Chicago on her wedding tour, having been married only a couple of weeks ago. Dr. and Mrs. Hauck and Mr. and Mrs. Funk arrived in Omaha yesterday and, with all the other members of the family, were at the bedside of the sick man last night. Mr. Metz is 68 years of age.

Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.

The suffering from it is sometimes intense, local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.

It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

positively removes them, has radically and permanently cured the worst cases, and is without an equal for all cutaneous eruptions.

CAMP AND FOOD.

Getting Close to Nature.

It would hardly seem possible to some people that a man could, on food, cure himself of tuberculosis. "I was sent by my doctor to camp in the mountains and to live largely on Grape-Nuts food. My case was pronounced tuberculosis of the bladder by a famous New York specialist, the best authority of all American specialists in that line.

I went into camp and used Grape-Nuts as I would meat, bread or potatoes. I was careful not to over-eat, but used the food three times a day, and at the end of 10 weeks, went for a new examination, when not a trace of tuberculosis could be found. My physician looked at me and said, 'I don't believe there is such a marvelous case as this on record.'

"Both the doctor and myself give the credit to the Grape-Nuts food. To be sure, I took outdoor exercise and this no doubt helped me some, but with all the outdoor air and exercise in the world, I could not build up my blood to a condition where it would kill off the bacilli unless I had good food of the character of Grape-Nuts to do it on. For family reasons, I wish to avoid having my name appear in public print. Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., will furnish this name upon application."

the affairs of men and the world. Dr. Creighton had many attainments and was accounted one of the most distinguished colonial historians of the day. Yet none could roll a cigarette more deftly or retort more quickly in up-to-date slang. He wore his learning as lightly as a flower, but his addresses to the clergy were always profound in an Oxford sort, but he was most famous for his eleven-volume history of the troublous times of the keen, ritualistic controversy, yet generally secured oblong measures. He was an athlete in his youth and rowed an Oxford crew. His wife was equally distinguished. In ruling his episcopate during the troublous times of the keen, ritualistic controversy, he avoided stern legal measures, yet generally secured oblong measures. CAMP AND FOOD.

Getting Close to Nature.

It would hardly seem possible to some people that a man could, on food, cure himself of tuberculosis. "I was sent by my doctor to camp in the mountains and to live largely on Grape-Nuts food. My case was pronounced tuberculosis of the bladder by a famous New York specialist, the best authority of all American specialists in that line.

I went into camp and used Grape-Nuts as I would meat, bread or potatoes. I was careful not to over-eat, but used the food three times a day, and at the end of 10 weeks, went for a new examination, when not a trace of tuberculosis could be found. My physician looked at me and said, 'I don't believe there is such a marvelous case as this on record.'

"Both the doctor and myself give the credit to the Grape-Nuts food. To be sure, I took outdoor exercise and this no doubt helped me some, but with all the outdoor air and exercise in the world, I could not build up my blood to a condition where it would kill off the bacilli unless I had good food of the character of Grape-Nuts to do it on. For family reasons, I wish to avoid having my name appear in public print. Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich., will furnish this name upon application."
