

ATTACKS SHIP SUBSIDY BILL

Senator Vest of Missouri Grows Sharply Sarcastic in His Opposition.

NAVIGATION LAWS DENOUNCED ROUNDLY

Democratic Senator Rawlins of Utah Attempts to Make Political Capital Out of the Election of Thomas Kearns.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Consideration of the shipping bill was resumed this afternoon by the senate. At the instance of Mr. Frye of Maine, who relinquished the chair temporarily to take charge of the measure on the floor, it was postponed until the unfinished business of the senate, thus restoring it to its privileged position.

Mr. Vest of Missouri took the floor immediately in a characteristically brilliant, forceful and interesting speech. He advocated free trade and vigorously attacked the navigation laws of the United States, holding that they were responsible for the decadence of the merchant marine of America. He was accorded close attention by his colleagues on both sides.

Early in the session Mr. Rawlins, democrat of Utah, precipitated a lively colloquy by charging that a deal had been entered into between the republican members of the Utah legislature and the officials of the Mormon church to secure the election of Thomas L. Kearns to the senate from that state. He aroused Mr. Hale of Maine and Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire. Mr. Rawlins contended that the statement of Mr. Rawlins ought not to be made in the senate at this stage of the proceedings in Utah, as the senate could not consider the question in any phase in advance of action.

At the conclusion of his business consideration was resumed of the legislative, executive and judicial bill, the pending question being the amendment of Mr. Jones of Arkansas providing for the appointment of an assistant attorney general to represent the government in all matters of claims pending before congress.

Mr. Chandler, who opposed the amendment, offered an amendment providing that the assistant attorney general should have an office in the capitol, an assistant at a salary of $2,500 per annum and be assigned two clerks, who should assist him in the work of his office. Mr. Chandler ridiculed Mr. Jones' proposition and indicated that he held in reserve another amendment which would provide for a similar attorney for other departments of the government.

A spirited incident occurred when the legislative bill was taken up. Mr. Rawlins of Utah read a newspaper article saying there was a combination formed in the Utah legislature to elect Mr. Kearns senator, and that it was being forwarded by the Mormon church to the senate.

Mr. Hale of Maine replied to Mr. Rawlins vigorously. He said there ought not to be any expression of the United States senate upon a matter like a senatorial election. It was highly improper to send a voice from Washington to a legislature in another state while a legislature was performing its constitutional duty. It was paternalism of the worst sort.

Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire also took occasion to say that he thought the action of Mr. Rawlins was not in good taste and that the senate should not attempt to influence a state legislature.

In reply Mr. Rawlins criticized the action of the legislature of New Hampshire, where Mr. Chandler was defeated, and said the result was a result which was now working its way through the legislature. Mr. Chandler's statement, brought about by combinations similar to those proposed in Utah.

Mr. Chandler smilingly retorted that while the result in New Hampshire was greatly to be deplored, and the methods of the late senator, elected in that state, were condemned, yet it would have been very bad taste if his colleague (Mr. Gallinger) had made a protest while the election was going on.

Mr. Jones of Arkansas called attention to the Indian appropriation bill, which had been reported, and asked the committee to consider and which contained much debatable matter. Mr. Jones thought the Indian bill should therefore be considered.

After an arrangement had been concluded for procedure in regard to amendments to the bill, Mr. Vest of Missouri took the floor in opposition to the measure.

Mr. Rawlins of Utah, who had endeavored to discuss the senatorial situation in Utah under a question of personal privilege at the opening of the senate, was recognized and within the latitude afforded by the rules read some articles from Salt Lake City and Washington (D. C.) newspapers dealing with the Utah senatorial discussion and discussed them.

Without intervening business the house immediately resumed the consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. After the passage of the District of Columbia appropriation the senate resolution for the celebration of John Marshall day, February 4, was adopted. The house then took up the most appropriate resolution.

Mr. Foss of Illinois, chairman of the naval committee, explained its salient features. He said our navy was larger than the German navy and was keeping a little ahead of it. Mr. Grosvener of Ohio said he considered the remark unfortunate and capable of misconstruction. We were friendly with Germany and there was no reason why that country should be singled out for the purpose of comparison.

Mr. Foss disclaimed any idea that we were directing our energies toward keeping ahead of Germany. He had simply stated a fact. He believed in a strong and efficient navy, not so large as England's, but of moderate size, built on conservative lines and capable of upholding the honor of the country and the flag.

Mr. Hill of Connecticut asked whether the committee had given any consideration to the question of the ultimate size of the navy. Mr. Foss replied that congress must decide that question. He presented the committee believed in proceeding conservatively. Man for man and ship for ship, he believed the American navy the most efficient in the world.

Mr. Foss said the controverted question as to armaments was finally settled by the action of the secretary of the navy in accepting bids for 36,810 tons of armor at $120 a ton and $24.22 royalty for Krupp and $11.20 per ton for Harvey armor. He declared that at that price the United States could obtain armor at 25 per cent below the price paid by other countries.

Millions in Time of Peace. Mr. Richardson of Tennessee, the minority leader, called attention to the fact that the bill "carries an increase of $11,000,000 in time of profound peace."

"This bill carries $9,000,000 for carrying on work previously authorized," interposed Mr. Dayton of West Virginia, "and $2,000,000 for rehabilitation of the naval academy."

"That may be," answered Mr. Richardson, "but last year the bill carried $12,000,000 more than the bill for the previous year. Last year the size of the bill was apologized for by what I desire to emphasize is that year by year there comes these great increases for the navy. The present bill is $20,000,000 larger than the bill of two years ago."

Mr. Wheeler of Kentucky spoke enthusiastically in favor of a great navy. He was opposed to a large army. A big standing army, he said, might threaten our liberties; a large navy never could, while it might preserve them against a foreign enemy.

The provision of the bill giving warrant officers the commission of major allowed second lieutenants in the marine corps was struck out on a point of order made by Mr. Cannon of Illinois, and the same fate befell an amendment by Mr. Fitzgerald of New York to increase the number of chaplains from 10 to 15.

TAKES UP APPROPRIATION BILL

House Discusses American Navy and Compares Its Advance with that of Germany.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The blind chaplain of the house, in his invocation today, referred feelingly to the death of Queen Victoria.

Without intervening business the house immediately resumed the consideration of the District of Columbia appropriation bill. After the passage of the District of Columbia appropriation the senate resolution for the celebration of John Marshall day, February 4, was adopted. The house then took up the most appropriate resolution.

Mr. Foss of Illinois, chairman of the naval committee, explained its salient features. He said our navy was larger than the German navy and was keeping a little ahead of it. After completing five pages of the sixty-five pages of the bill, the house, at 5:10 p. m., adjourned.

CORPS INSTEAD OF REGIMENT

Senate Recedes from Its Contention in Regard to Artillery and Reaches Agreement with House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The conferees on the army reorganization bill reached a final agreement on the bill late today, but the measure is so complicated and the amendments so numerous that the agreement probably will not be reported before Friday. The senate receded from its amendment providing for a regimental rather than a corps organization of the artillery and of the engineers.

The most important difference was considered the most important difference. When a settlement was reached on that point no great amount of time was necessary to come to an agreement on other points. On the next most important controversy, that concerning the detail of officers to serve in the field, the conferees agreed to practically as they passed the senate.

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE

Watches the Effect of Proper Feeding

"I have an excellent opportunity to know of the effect of food in sickness, for my husband is a practicing physician and has been recommending Grape-Nuts food for some time. I have watched the result, and have never known a case where it has not given satisfaction. "One instance will perhaps suffice to illustrate. A professor in the high school here was in very poor health from stomach trouble. He finally got into such a condition that he could not eat any food whatever without suffering, and was so reduced in strength that he could hardly walk. He was put on Grape-Nuts food, and gained rapidly and is now in good health. His cure was effected by the use of Grape-Nuts food." Mrs. Dr. Lyman, Croton, O.

LEAVES IT ALL WITH LEE

Appeal for Troops is Referred to Him by War Department.

IS TO DO WHATEVER HE THINKS BEST

Marshal Bennett's Report is that Outlaws Have Organized and Are Terrorizing the Whole Community About Muskogee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—At the instance of the attorney general the War department today took steps for the preservation of life and order at Muskogee, I. T., where the Snake Indians are making trouble for the authorities. United States Marshal Bennett has telegraphed from Muskogee to the attorney general saying the Snake band of outlaws has organized into several sections, with about fifty well armed men in each, and have brutally whipped several persons, killed at least one and generally are terrorizing the people. They have organized in open rebellion against the constituted authorities, and have destroyed several hundred allotment certificates issued to Creek Indians by the Dawes commission. Marshal Bennett asks that a troop of cavalry be sent to quell the disturbance. The War department has telegraphed General Fitzhugh Lee, commander of the Department of the Missouri at Omaha, authorizing him to act in his own discretion in the matter of sending troops.

General Lee yesterday afternoon received a dispatch from Muskogee, I. T., warning of the Indian trouble about Muskogee, I. T. He immediately sent telegraphic orders to First Lieutenant Dixon of the Eighth cavalry, at Fort Reno, to proceed at once with Troop A to the scene of the trouble.

"I don't know how serious the outbreak is," said General Lee, "but as soon as I heard officially from Washington that the Snake Indians were threatening the life and property of citizens at Muskogee I decided to send a cavalry troop there to promptly put down any rebellion that may exist."

INDIANS THREATEN ATTACK

Snake Party of Miscreants Disposed to Resist Arrest of Two of Their Members.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Jan. 23.—The Creek trouble continues the same as yesterday. The fullbloods are still in arms, terrorizing the whites and are posting notices threatening lives. Two fullblood members of the Snake party were arrested this afternoon at Chekatoah and brought to Muskogee.

They were Eastman Folk and Hulto Hultok. They were going all through the country posting notices. The Snake party sent word to Marshal Bennett that if the men arrested were not released in twenty-four hours they would burn Chekatoah.

John Coffee, one of Crazy Horse's light horsemen, was arrested today by Marshal Bennett and will be tried before Commissioner. It is feared that the warping Indians will attempt to resist him. No word has yet been received in reply to Marshal Bennett's request for federal troops and the feeling of insecurity has been intensified. News was brought in from the village of Dick King, a full-blood Creek, because of his refusal to join the marauders.

RECEIVE NEBRASKA ELECTORS

Thurston and Berkert Center About Plans for the Program in Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 23.—(Special Telegram)—Senator Thurston and Congressman Berkert, Nebraska, are expected to arrive in Washington today. They will be met by the Nebraska delegation and will be taken to the hotel. Senator Thurston is expected to be the first to speak at the Nebraska reception. He will be followed by Congressman Berkert. The Nebraska delegation will then be taken to the capitol to meet with the other delegations.

SAYS BOOZ WAS TOO SURLY

Ex-Adet Sheldon Testifies Before Congressional Investigating Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The congressional committee which is investigating the hazing of Cadet Booz resumed the taking of testimony today for the purpose of clearing up some remaining points. Former Cadet Rowland F. Sheldon, who entered the service in 1895 and remained three and one-half years, testified that Booz was allotted to him in the summer of 1897 as "special duty man" according to a custom. Asked if the academy rules did not forbid this service, the witness said he had never heard any academy service of Booz or any service to demean him. Rowland Sheldon said he did not believe in such service and did not require it. At most Booz was required to set out refreshments for a tent party, which he did not do, or to wear a laced uniform. He did not retain Booz for special duty very long.

Witness had exercised fourth class men, but did not remember exercising Booz. Witness said he knew nothing of the hazing of Booz, and little of hazing generally, as he did not approve of hazing, and, therefore, saw little of it. Booz was unpopular, he said, because shiftless and of a surly expression. Sheldon stated frankly the circumstances of not leaving the academy. He had been hazed by the other cadets, and thought it did him good, as it made him quicker. His testimony was generally corroborative of the other witnesses.

JENNINGS GETS FROM UNDER

Ball Player Says Long-Term Contract with Cornell Will Not Allow Him to Handle Tenn.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23.—Hugh Jennings will not play baseball with any of the leagues for the next four years at least, he has been informed by James H. New, a friend in this city. Jennings says: "As far as my taking charge of a team in any league is concerned, it is now beyond my power to do so, even though I wished to. I signed a long-term contract with Cornell University, binding me for four years from September 23, 1900, to June 25, 1904, so as I am bound to remain with Cornell until I wish to consider an offer from any league."
