KING OF UTAH RETALIATES WITH ACRIMONY

Debate is Precipitated by Clause in Appropriation Bill Providing Money for State Agricultural Colleges.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 .- The anti-polygamy crusade which resulted in driving Mr Roberts, Utah's representative, out of the me of representatives at the last sesalon, had an echo in the house today during the consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill. When the section making the appropriations for agricultural colleges of the several states was reached Mr Landis of Indiana offered an amendment providing that no money should be the college in Utah until the secretary of agriculture was satisfied that no trustee or teacher in the institution practiced polygamy. The amendment came as a complete surprise. Mr. King, who sucreeded Mr. Roberts, tried in vain to head it off with a point of order, and then inveighed against it as simply an aftermath of the Roberts crusade. He insisted that polygamy was a thing of the past. Mr. Landis replied by alleging that two of the professors of the Utah Agricultural college were polygamists and that one of the trustees had seven wives and thirty-nine children. Upon this showing the house adopted the amendment, whereupon Mr. King retaliated by offering an amendment providing that none of the money should go to agricultural colleges in any state whose instructors or trustees have engaged in lynching or been guilty of adultery or fornication. He afterward modified it so as to apply only to the agricultural college of Indiana. It was overwhelmingly Subsequently, when the bill was reported to the house, the Landis amendment was stricken out by a vote of 69 to 19. "friends of the farmer" were much in evidence during the day and against an aggressive opposition, led by Mr. Mahon of Pennsylvania, voted into the bill an additional appropriation of $50,000 for "farmers" bulleting.

There was also considerable discussion of the irrigation of arid lands in connection with the paragraph providing for an investigation of that subject. The bill was

Agricultural Bill Again.

When the house met today Mr. Tayof Ohio, chairman of committee on election No. 1, submitted the report on the contested election case of Walker against Rhea from the Ninth Virgluia district. The committee found that while gross frauds and irregularities occurred in the election they "feil very far short" of changing the result. The committee therefore recommended that Mr. Rhea, the sitting member, who is a democrat, should retain his seat. Messrs. Linney of North Carolina and Samuel Davenport of Pennsylvania dissented from the conclusion of the majority and were given leave to file their views. The report will be called up in the near future.

The house then resumed the consideration of the agricultural appropriation bill. The sections of the present law relating to the scientific bureaus of the department were substituted for the provisions in the bill which went out yesterday on a point of order made by Mr. Mahon of Pennsylvania. Mr. Latimer of South Carolina offered an amerdment to increase the appropriations for farmers' bulletins to $50,000. Mr. Mahon of Pennsylvania declared that the increased dissemination of farmers' bulletins would not do the farmers any good.

He declared that members desired t distribute these bulletins to make themselves popular with the farmers. They thought it was a good political move. He had thought so at one time and tried it "I put it to the test," said he. "I sent a public document to every registered voter in two counties in my district. The result was that I ran behind in every voting precinct in each one of them and ran ahead in every precinct to which I did not send documents. (Laughter.)

"Perhaps, where you distributed the most taformation, you ran worst!" suggested Mr. Lacey of Iowa.

"That is possible," replied Mr. Mahon dryly.

Shackleford Defands Department. Mr. Talbert of South Carolina and Mr. Shackleford of Missouri supported the amendment. Mr. Shackleford said that one on the preventation of a mildew in grapes had saved his district hundreds of dollars.

Mr. Mahon made an impassioned reply. He inveighed against the alleged friends of the farmers, who were always howling against railroads and prating of their friendship for the farmers. The farmers of Pennsylvania, he said, knew more about agriculture in an hour than those people over there at the department. The secret of the prosperity of the farmers of his state was that in the neighborhood of every city and town there was a manufacturing plant by which the irrigation of the arid lands partment, that the increases were neceswhich afforded the best market for their product. Mr. Shackleford then replied to Mr. Mahon, referring sarcastically to his economical ideas on the subject of appropri-

Mr. Landis of Indiana offered the following resolution as an amendment to the ection making appropriations for agriiltural colleges

Frovided. That no part of this appropriation shall be available for the agricultural college of Utah until the secretary of agricultura shall be satisfied, and so certify that no trustee, officer, instructor or employe of said college is engaged in the practice of polygamy or polygamous relations.

Mr. King of Utah made a point of order against the amendment. He declared that he would not oppose it if it had been offored in good faith, but he considered it an aftermath of what he had denominated the "crusade" against his predecessor, Mr. Roberts. Mr. King said the practice of polygamy in Utah was a thing of the past No polygamous marriages were now solemnzed. A few of those who had entered into such marriages prior to 1890 might be seretly preserving polygamous relations, but hey were few in number. Mr. Landis in reply said he was credibly nformed that one of the professors in the agricultural college had three wives and another two, while one of the trustees had seven wives who had blessed him with thirty-nine children. These statements, be said, had been made by one of the leading he knew the official organ of the Mormon church had not denied it. The chair ruled that the amendment was

In reply permit me to inclose a copy of a letter which I wrote to Mr. Sherman on learning that he had introduced this bill, also a copy of the report to me by the superintendent of the academy, to whom I wrote, in order that I may have all available information in the premises. Objections to Investigation.

It must be borne in mind that the investigation would interrupt the course of study. I ought to say further that no complaint has come to me during the time I have been secretary of the havy, so far as I now recall, of any hazing at the academy. This to me is significant, because parents and friends are always extremely and properly sensitive in case of any hardship or wrong, and had any such case existed at the academy I feel confident that the complaint would have been made. It is also noticeable that since the introduction of Mr. Sherman's resolution no such complaint, indeed no word at all, with reference to any practice of hazing at the academy has come to me. I cannot help thinking that if there were occasion for investigation I would have received information, especially after the West Point investigation and after Mr. Sherman's resolution had called attention to the naval academy. I may be permitted to say also that consideration should be given the general rule that an investigation is not usually ordered unless the foundation is laid for it by extthat an investigation is not usually or unless the foundation is laid for it by dence on instances of wrong-doing and it is presumed that the committee would require

Willing to Go Before Committee. I suggest, further, that before final action the committee summon me to appear before it and if need be a subcommittee visit Annapolis, where every facility will, of course, be open to determine whether there is justification for a formal investigation. I have written the foregoing not with a view to avert an investigation, if congress shall deem it necessary, in which case the department, superintendent and all the officials will heartly co-operate in making it thorough and complete. From the best information I can get, however, the practice of hazing has been, as the superintendent states, so minimized by the better public sentiment of late years and the result of the recent investigation at West Point will undoubtedly tend still further to emphasize the sentiment of the public and the students against the practice, that an investigation at the naval academy does not seem justified public and the seem justified. at the naval academy does not seem justi-fied, unless foundation for the same is laid as above suggested. Very respectfully. JOHN D. LONG, Secretary.
