Retail Lumber Dealers Hold Interesting Informal Session.

PART OF THE PROCEEDINGS ARE SECRET

Letters Are Received from Alleged Ponchers in Which Showing of Good Intentions is Made-Other Affairs.

The morning session of the Retail Lumber Dealers' association yesterday was an informal affair and in the open session nothing was done except to discuss at great length the subject of "ponchers" and "peaching."

The bridge supply house of this city which had come in for a rawbiding at the hands of the members Wednesday manifested a disposition to be good and a letter was presented from the firm in which it stated that it had not fotentionally injured the business of a retail dealer; that if arrangements gether in the state in many a year, could be made it would like to become a member of the association and make provisions for handling contracts with the county commissioners through the local The discussion was long and at times tedious. The matter finally went to a com-

A letter was read from the Dean Lumber company of Lincoln, one of the firms accused of "peaching," which stated that the bill of goods sold at South Auburn was sold under a misapprehension of the facts and that as soon as it was learned that the purchaser was no longer in the lumber business the shipments were discontinued. Colonel Fahnstock of Minneapolis addressed the convention briefly on the subject of insurance, claiming that co-operative insurance of lumber yards had reduced the price in the old line companies from $1.25 to 50 cents per $1,000 in Minnesota and from $2.45 to 65 cents in Nebraska, according to figures furnished by dealers.

Bird Critchfield of Elmwood was added to the auditing committee, vice C. H. Walrath, who is absent from the city, and the committee began the consideration of the reports of the officers.

J. H. Johnson was appointed to represent the convention in soliciting membership in

The convention then went into executive session for the purpose of discussing affairs which relate to the practical workings of the organization. Behind closed doors the matter of the suppression of the poacher took on a livelier phase, although there was no division of opinion, such as characterized the executive session last year. Every member participated in the discussion to a greater or less extent, and it was finally decided to create a defense fund of several baindred dollars for the purpose of discovering and suppressing poaching. It was noon when the executive session ended.

Afternoon Session. At the opening of the afternoon session William Krotter of Stuart read a paper on "The Retailer and the Side Lines." Mr. Krotter reviewed the condition of the lumber business from the time the dealer in this class of goods sold to the consumer all of the material which went into his house, barns and fences until today, when

Weir of Lincoln, member of the association, accusing him of selling goods in the Palmyra territory ageinst the rules of the association. The accused went into details regarding the sale and stated that the matter had been referred to the board of directors, who refused to act in the matter on account of a technicality. The matter was discussed at length until the arrival of Mr. Weir, a committee having been sent out to bring him before the body. The Lincoln dealer stood upon the technicality, but finally consented to present his case to the board

Chaffee of Omaha, who asked regarding the indebtedness of the association and how much money would remain in the treasury when the debts were paid. He further stated that when the board of directors took charge of the affairs of the organization in 1900 they found that while over $1,200 was reported to be on hand ther had less than $300 in the treasury available for their work, as the payment of debts immediately after the adjournment of the convention wiped out the surplus. It then developed that after the pending bills are paid the association will be practically without cash until the annual dues of the members for the coming year are paid. The directors were thereupon instructed to pay all debts before the meeting of the associa tion in 1802, so the balance on hand at that time would represent the resources of the anghs Good-Naturedly at the Jointist While He Gives His Testimony-Case Postponed Till Monday.

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 14.-Mrs. Carrie Naion was brought to trial in the city court here this afternoon on a charge of destroying property. The complainant was W. F. Lytle, proprietor of the Senate saloon, which Mrs. Nation and her crusaders wrecked last week. The room was crowded with visitors, many of them sympathizers with the crusaders. The case was finally postponed till Monday next.

When court opened Mrs. Nation was not to be found. Her lawyer, J. M. Dumenil, was rather excited, but assured the court that his client would be on hand very soon. Judge McCabe said he was ready to take up the case and that it must proceed. Rev. F. W. Emerson volunteered the information that Mrs. Nation had gone out to dinner and would be back soon. Assistant County Attorney Jamison, who has charge of the prosecution, announced that he would wait a few moments and in the meantime would call his witnesses, Mike Kelly, "Sheep" Lytle, Harry Jackson, Ben Mulholland and George Stambaugh. For the defense Probate Judge Fagan, Chief of Police Stahl, Officer Carpenter, Mrs. James White, Mrs. George Wolverton and Miss Madeline Southard. Mrs. Nation's attorney entered a motion to quash.

At 2:15 o'clock Mrs. Nation entered and made her way through the crowd. The crowd applauded, Mrs. Nation smiled and bowed, but said not a word. The crowd continued to applaud and Judge McCabe demanded order and called upon the marshal to preserve quiet. Lawyer Dumenii argued complaint was not properly drawn

PRETTY MISS M'INTOSH BREAKS DOWN

Questions Concerning the Knife She Had Seen in Leonard Day's Possession Unnerve Her and She is Excused.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 14.-Miss May Mc Intosh, a friend of the murdered man, contributed the most impressive feature of today's proceedings in the trial of Frank H. Hamilton by breaking down completely when pressed to tell what she knew of a possession. Dr. W. B. Murray, who had been hurriedly summoned at the time of the homicide and who had given evidence distinctly favorable to the defense yesterday, was on the stand and the prosecution was reinforced by the presence of two medical experts to aid in his cross-examination. The point at issue was whether a man wounded as Day was-the sub-clavian artery completely severed-could live six or eight minutes and whether, being on his feet when he received the wound, he could stand ten minutes, having died meanwhile.

Important Testimony Creens In. The state, in its cross-examination of Dr Murray, let allp in important testimony that the defense would not have been allowed to get in. The state was bent on showing that the witness was prejudiced in favor of the defendant and questioned him closely as to his solicitude for Hamilton when he Murray admitted that he had been convinced from the outset that Hamilton was not guilty. His dazed, semi-conscious, bewildered condition persuaded the doctor that it was impossible that he had killed Day in such a condition. The state asked why he dogged Rooney and Hamilton.

"I stayed," replied the witness, "to pre vent any headquarters confession which would convict him, for a confession at that time I should have regarded as a hallucina tion.
