cial club last night and seen the throngs feet up to prevent catching cold." of former Pennsylvanians assembled he would no doubt have trembled for the show ing of his state in the census returns. There were almost as many as there were in the entire city of Philadelphia at the time he passed from the scene of action. Foreseeing the depopulation of his "woods" by emigration, he can be imagined exclaiming with Harriet Beecher Stowe's character, 'Hold on, Quaker!'

It is estimated that during the progress of the evening there were not less than 600 native-born Pennsylvanians and their familes present at the thirteenth annual reunion of the Pennsylvania club. The crowd was almost too large for comfort. Many, unable to find seats, remained only a few minutes and went away. The program of the evening consisted of recitations, instrumental and vocal music and refreshments, followed by dancing.

Renaton of Old Friends.

But the most interesting feature of the evening to a majority of those present was not mentioned on the printed cards. This consisted of a renewal of old friendships and an exchange of old-time reminiscences -mamortes of long ago on the banks of the Susquehanna, the Lehigh or the Monongabela. The conversation teemed with quaint geographical names. Such words as Youghlogheny, Lackawanna and Kittlatinny were common, and those who spoke them lingered lovingly over their many syllables as though they awoke tender recollections.

state before its wonderful resources were 14th and Douglas streets, Omaha, Neb. developed and while it still retained in its less populous sections a hint of the wilderness that characterized it during the days of Penn. There was Rev. D. W. Patton, who was born in Lawrence county in 1830. J. B. Bruner came upon the scene eleven years later in Bucks county, on the banks of the historic Delaware. His birthplace is almost within site of the spot where Washington made his famous landing after fighting his way across the river choked with ice. Rev. L. Groh was born in 1533. in the foothills of the Blue mountains of Lebanon county. T. A. Creigh, who was born near Chambersburg sixty years ago, was the only person present to claim Franklin as his native county.

General Manderson is Absent.

In the absence of General Charles F. Omaha, Neb. Manderson, who is ill, Richard C. Patterson served as presiding officer. The program was very brief. It consisted of two recitations by Mrs. John W. Evans, a song by Mrs. A. A. Covalt and a solo, "Every Rose Its Own Thorn," by Miss Dollie Driesbach, 'Mrs. Evans' selections were entitled, "The Lest Child" and "The Sick The plane accompaniment to the enusteal numbers was played by M. PERKINS IN OMAHA

Humorist Stops Over in This City While on His Way to Cal-

Melville D. Landon stopped in Omaha yesterday enroute from his home in New York for a visit in California. Dressed in sombre black he walked through the corridors of his hotel and attracted no more than passing interest until an acquaintance hailed him: "Why, how do you do, Eli Perkins?"

'I'm on my way to California." said Mr. Landon. "No, I'm not going to lecture any this trip. Confidentially, I'm going to look into these hig railroad combinations that have been so much in the public prints of late. If you'll pardon me, I would prefer to say nothing of the interest that prompts me to travel across the continent in search of information that you would naturally

25 Years Younger

"I am now seventy-two years of age and my hair is as dark as it was twenty-five years ago. People say I look at least that much younger than I am. I would be entirely bald or snow-white if it were not for your Hair Vigor."-Mrs. Anna Lawrence, Chicago, Ill., Dec. 22, 1898.

Aver's Hair Vigor restores color to gray hair every time. And it is a wonderful food to the hair, making it grow rich and heavy, and keeping it soft and glossy all the time. It is also an elegant dressing.

Eli Perkins walked with a pronounced imp. Replying to a question as to how he got it Mr. Landen said: "Got it in a wreck on the Iowa Central. All I know is that after the wreck I ound my head in the coalbox and my feet in the hatrack." "Will your lame foot bother you when you lecture?" was the query propounded

"Oh, no. I don't lecture with my foot See," he continued, "one foot is No. 8 and the other is No. 16. Why, that one foot is so large that I can rest better standing up than sitting down. It's so large tha I'm afraid to go out doors for fear so much of me will be exposed to the damp ground If William Penn could have stepped out that I'll catch cold. MURRAY LOSES HIS CASE

Court Holds That City Cannot Be Held Linble for Condemnation of Old Buildings.

Judge Baxter yesterday instructed the jury in the case of Thomas Murray against the city of Omaha to return a verdict for the defendant. Murray sued for $5,000 damages because five frame dwellings owned by him were condemned and torn down by the building inspector.

The court decided that John F. Tilly, who was building inspector at the time Murray's houses were condemned, and his bondsmen were responsible for any damages sustained by the plaintiff and the action against the city was improper.

Mortality Statistics. The following deaths and births were re-ported to the city health commissioner for the twenty-four hours ending at noon Friday:

Having Visited Beresford, Drummer Finds Centerville Inhospitable-Eats Chicken Dinner in Depot Waiting Room.

There are reasons why C. J. Ziebarth, a traveling representative of an Omaha wholesale rupber house, did not sell any goods in Centerville, S. D., a few days ago. "Going up Majuba Hill would be easy as compared with getting into the business portion of that town," Ziebarth remarked feelingly as he told of the arsenal with which the natives of Centerville have surrounded the ratiroad station. "They've got everything there in the way of firearms from a six-shooter to a cannon from Morro castle and, what is worse, they act as though they know how so use them." Ziebarth visited the little town of Beresford, S. D., and started for Centerville, where he has several good customers. It was snowing. Rubber goods had taken a fall in price and the prospects for good business in Centerville were fine.
