City Council Likely to Consider Reto come up for another round at the meeting of the city council next Monday night. City Engineer Etnyre has received replies from all the cities where he sent McDonald, the champion of asphalt paving, says, is not in the least discouraging.

The inquiries were sent to the city en gineers of a number of the larger cities where asphalt pavement is in use. One of the principal questions asked was in re gard to the necessity of keeping asphaltpaved streets in a state of cleanliness. In all of the replies received the engineers agree that clean streets are absolutly es sential to the life of asphalt paving. If dirt and debris are permitted to accumulate on asphalt pavement it tends to rot the paving and it becomes in a short time full of holes and useless. Another point on which inquiry was made was whether shade trees tended to injure such paving. Most of the replies state that shade trees are beneficial to asphalt. Most of the replies agree on one pointthat of the necessity for a grade of not less than two-tenths of a foot in 100 feet It is said that the grades in the part of asphaltum are less than the gradient named in the replies. who are urging the use of asphalt contend that with this machine the cost of keeping the asphalt-paved streets clean would be but a small item. They claim that it would be sufficient to have the sweeper go over

It is known that three of the aldermen are unalterably op posed to it, while a fourth is uncertain. The other four city fathers are said to bo in favor of the material, if it is shown that a majority of the interested property owners desire it.

> Tax Ferreis Do Good Work County Treasurer Arnd returned yesterday morning from Des Moines, where he attended the annual meeting of the State

Association of County Treasurers. One of the principal matters discussed at the meeting, he said, was the "tax ferret" question. The consensus of opinion of the treasurers in attendance at the meet ing was that the tax ferret law was a good one, as it had undoubtedly succeeded in recovering to the state and many counties large sums on property which had been omitted from assessment The discussion developed the fact that a large number of counties throughout the state were employing tax ferrets, but that in no county was more than 15 per cent being paid for the work. In some counties 50 per cent contracts had been in existence, but when the law was enacted by the city where it is desired to pave with the Twenty-eighth General assembly making such contracts void new contracts were entered into on the 15 per cent basts.

The general opinion of the county treasurers was that the employment of tax ferrets had tended to increase the assessment in such counties where they were operating, as property holders are beginning to realize the futility of attempting to withhold property entitled to as-

and mending bureau the day after the shipping clerk for the bureau, testified that a box of clothing marked Ray L. Evans was received that day containing a coat, a vest and two pairs of trousers. He noticed a clot of blood on the leg of one pair and something like a cut below the knee about an inch long. He was permitted to examine the trousers Evans had on in court and at first thought them the same, but finding no cut said they could not be the ones in question. A. G. Gilbert, an employe of the mending bureau, corroborated this evidence as to the bloodstain and the cut. He said there was a tear which had been bunglingly sewn up. It had never been pressed, showing it to be recent, as Evans' clothing was frequently pressed. He declared the pants Evans had on in court were not the ones.

W. A. Chandler, bartender at the West hotel, testified that he heard Hamilton make no statement of any kind to Officer Rooney while the two were in the bar room before the defendant was taken to the lockup. He was close to them most of the time The defense decided at the last minute not to call T. M. Ryan, the Des

The testimony of the medical experts had occupied the forenoon session. Dr. Erdmann, professor of anatomy of the University of Minnesota, by the aid of an articulated skeleton and also using one of the state's attorneys, for illustration, showed how in his opinion the fatal knife thrust was delivered from behind Day and how with the sharp edge of the blade toward the back of the murdered man's body a piece of bone was chipped out of a rib. The state's attorneys, aided by other medical experts, put him through a rigid crossexamination, but failed to shake him in his deductions. Dr. George Ericker testified as to the bruises on Hamilton's head after the affray and said they might all have been caused by one blow with some instrument. Paul Gyllstrom, a reporter who covered the affair for the Times, testified that during all the time he was at the West hotel Hamilton made no confession, nor did he
