

IRISH PARTY IN FORCE

Bons of Erin Are Quick to Gain Domination Over the New Parliament.

BRITISH MEMBERS IN THE BACKGROUND

Bewildered at the Cool Way Seventy-Five Rule Six Hundred.

REDMOND ACTIVE IN EMPIRE'S AFFAIRS

Ministers Recognize in the United Party a Ruling Force.

DILLON'S DEADLY BLOW TO GOVERNMENT

O'Donnell Emphasizes What He Terms Britain's Attempt to Kill the Language, Literature and Intellect of His People.

ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-EIGHT LIVES IN THE LATEST ESTIMATE.

One Hundred and Twenty-Eight Lives in the Latest Estimate.

FISHERMEN FIND THE PURSER'S PACKET

This Gives List of All Passengers on the Ill-fated Steamship.

NUMBER STAYED OVER AT OTHER PORTS

Wildman and Family Are Surely Among Those Drowned.

CARGO VALUED AS HIGH AS $600,000

Beach Patrol Established and All Fishing Boats Must Report in Hopes of Gathering More Cues of Missing People.

LOST WITH THE RIO

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—So far as can be ascertained from reliable data 128 lives were lost in the wreck of the Pacific Mail steamer Rio de Janeiro.

THE BEE BULLETIN.

- 1 Irishmen Dominate Parliament. 2 Uncle Sam's Cuban Expectations. 3 Wreck of the Rio de Janeiro. 4 Barton Gets Cash. 5 Says It Was All a Mistake. 6 He Never Intended to Steal from Omaha Millionaire. 7 All Are Now Anxious to Forget. 8 But State's Attorney Requires Them to Disclose Full Facts. 9 Discovers a Gigantic Water Deal. 10 Four Millions Involved in Grand Rapids Contract. 11 Fund of $125,000 for Lobby Purposes. 12 Michigan Legislature May Now Order an Investigation—Before Money is Returned Complaint is Made for Second Indictment. 13 CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—Lant K. Salisbury, city attorney of Grand Rapids, Mich., accompanied by his legal adviser and two detectives from the Martin White agency, arrived in Chicago on a Michigan Central train at 11:30 o'clock last night. In the pocket of Detective William Turner was $50,000 in currency, which was taken, it was said, by Salisbury from a safety deposit vault in the Illinois Trust and Savings bank recently. The party was met at the station by a corps of detectives and representatives of Guy C. Barton, millionaire of Omaha, and C. E. Loss, railroad contractor of Chicago. Attorney Crofoot of Omaha was in the party, and he led the way to carriages, which were in waiting for the detectives and their companions. All were driven to the main entrance of the Union League club, where they made a pretense of entering. However, they turned and walked into the Grand Pacific hotel, where Barton is quartered. At an early hour this morning the party was in consultation, and it is said that the $50,000 carried by Detective Turner was paid over to Mr. Barton. This amount Mr. Barton has alleged was stolen from the safety deposit vault and "one Salisbury" is now under indictment for its alleged theft. Two Million-Dollar Deal. Behind the mysterious disappearance of the money and the resultant action of Barton before the grand jury is a story of a $4,000,000 contract, to secure which one of the attorneys in the case says $125,000 was to be used as a lobby fund among Michigan officials. According to this lawyer, in consideration for $125,000 Barton was to receive a contract of $4,000,000 to put in a new waterworks system at Grand Rapids. The deal was being engineered, this lawyer states, by C. E. Loss, a wealthy railroad contractor, with offices in the Pullman building. Some days ago Mr. Barton met City Attorney Salisbury in Chicago to prepare the preliminaries, and $50,000 was put up in escrow, pending the securing of the contract. The lawyer says that the $50,000 was a portion of the fund of $125,000 intended for the Michigan people. Mr. Barton, Mr. Salisbury and others interested met in the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, where Salisbury had rented a safety deposit vault under the name of William Wood. The $50,000 in currency was produced and placed in the box, with the understanding that Mr. Barton was to carry the key, says this attorney, until the deal was completed. Salisbury, according to this attorney, took the deposit box to a place in the vault, and while so doing, it is charged, he removed the big roll of bills and substituted a wad of paper. "Could Not Deliver the Goods." A few days later Mr. Barton learned that Representative Burns had introduced a bill in the Michigan legislature for a referendum vote on the $4,000,000 contract proposition. It appeared that the deal could not be carried through, and that the Michigan people could not "deliver the goods." Mr. Barton visited the safety deposit vaults and found that the money was missing. He hastened to Omaha and soon returned to Chicago with his attorney, Mr. Crofoot. The Martin White Detective agency was employed in the case, and one of its operatives was hurried to Grand Rapids. They began to shadow City Attorney Salisbury. In the meantime Barton had given an affidavit to cover the return of the money, and he appealed to the grand jury, the indictment against "one Salisbury, alias William Wood," being voted. When the detectives approached Salisbury, according to the attorney interested in the case, the Grand Rapids official consented to return the money and accompanied them to Chicago. Detective Turner was made custodian of the $50,000, and the party left Grand Rapids this afternoon. The attorney says that Barton, Loss and all the other persons concerned are now anxious to "forget" the whole transaction, as the big fund has been returned and it is not deemed desirable to stir up the Michigan officials into any investigation. However, a big sensation is in prospect, which may end seriously for some Michigan officials. Every possible subterfuge was resorted to last night by those concerned in the $50,000 transaction to cover their tracks. The greatest secrecy was enjoined, and no one would go further than to try to mislead persons making inquiries. Several days ago Barton changed his rooms from the Palmer house to the Grand Pacific and did not register. Clean Breast to State's Attorney. The whole story has been related to State's Attorney Benson. The persons interested were slow to disclose the facts to the official, but when the grand jury investigation was under way a clean breast of everything was made. Today the official was informed that Salisbury would return the money. Detective Hanley of the central station had been in waiting to go at once to Grand Rapids to arrest Salisbury on the indictment, but the new turn of affairs ended his connection.

SOUTH AFRICAN PICNIC

Smart Women Who Find Frolic in War Now Fingers in English Divorce Suit.

(Copyright, 1901, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Feb. 23.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The new much agitated over renewed reports that a sensational divorce suit, referred to the first of last September as pending, but which was subsequently understood to have been hushed up, has actually been filed. Besides the duke, there is a bachelor, who is mentioned as a probable co-respondent. It is said that two young lords and the brother of a famous South African financier have been cited. All concerned, including the husband, were engaged in the South African war, where the lady went with other smart women, who regarded it as a picnic.

WANTS PRIVILEGE OF GUARDING YOUNGESTER FROM DANGEROUS ASSOCIATES.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

SPANISH WAR DEBT TO BE LET ALONE

Cuba Not to Undertake to Lift the Obligations Incurred by Deas.

NAVAL STATIONS AND HEALTH RULES

Former to be Purchased or Leased, and Latter to be Imposed by United States as It Sees Fit.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The proposition embodied in the proposed amendment, considered at today's committee meeting, include the following points:

That the United States shall have supervision of all treaties with foreign countries made by the republic of Cuba.

That Cuba shall agree either to lease or to sell to the United States such coaling or naval stations in the region of the president of the United States may be necessary to the protection of the interests of this country.

That the United States shall have sufficient supervision of the laws of Cuba relating to sanitation to protect this country from epidemics liable to originate there.

The idea is that these provisions shall be included in a treaty to be made with Cuba, but that they need not be a part of the Cuban constitution. It is understood that the draft of the amendment containing these provisions was submitted to the president and the secretary of war, and that they expressed approval of them. The minority members of the committee expressed themselves willing to come to an understanding upon these general lines. Indeed, some of the most important suggestions were made by the minority. Senator Butler of North Carolina being one of the foremost movers in the matter. They insist, however, upon many verbal amendments, thus evincing a determination to aid in giving form to the provision as well as suggesting its general tenor.

When the committee adjourned today there were still quite important difficulties to be reconciled and the members separated with the understanding that another meeting would be held on Monday.

AGREEMENT IS NOT CERTAIN.

The members on both sides of the committee express the hope that an agreement would be reached, but all said that the proceedings had not gone far enough to render it certain that they would be attained. One important point to which the committee is giving especial attention, although that point may not be emphasized or even mentioned in the proposed amendment, is the relation of Cuba to the United States to hold on to that island, so near their shores, while there is apparently no disposition on the part of the United States to release that possession, on the ground that the island was acquired as a result of the Spanish war.

There is also more or less contention over the exact meaning of the word "pacification," as used in the Teller resolution. That resolution provided that the United States forces should be removed from the island when it should become "pacified." The contention is that this is a word that may be broadly interpreted and may permit the United States troops to remain for a long period, until the island is "pacified." There is also some disposition among the Cubans to hold on to that island, so near their shores, while there is apparently no disposition on the part of the United States to release that possession, on the ground that the island was acquired as a result of the Spanish war.

There will be an effort to report the amendment Monday or Tuesday, as there is a general desire to have it become a part of the army appropriation bill, the consideration of which has already begun in the senate.

CUBANS NOT OF ONE MIND.

HAVANA, Feb. 23.—The constitutional convention's committee on relations between the United States and Cuba held a long session this afternoon and afterward conferred with a number of delegates to the convention. At the private session members of the convention unanimously agreed that some form of relations should be drawn up showing the gratitude of Cuba to the United States, but these relations, they also agreed, must be in conformity with the views of the people of Cuba and must not endanger the sovereignty of the republic.

The right of the United States to intervene for the preservation of peace and the establishment and maintenance of naval stations in the waters of Cuba and adjacent waters is a question which is being discussed by the committee. It is understood that the committee was agreeable to accepting the provision of the treaty of Paris with reference to the former clause, giving the United States the right to intervene, however, only when the republic's sovereignty is endangered or the government is incompetent to preserve peace. A compromise was suggested with reference to the question of naval stations, providing that it be agreed that the United States be allowed to fortify and occupy forts in time of war the same as at the Dry Tortugas.

The committee will meet Monday morning to sign the report for submission to the executive session of the convention to be held Monday afternoon.

POPE MAY EXPRESS HIS VIEW

Is Credited with Intention of Delivering Important Political Speech at Special Gathering.

ROME, Feb. 23.—The pope is credited with the intention of delivering an important political speech at a special gathering of the cardinals in the course of the three days' reception now being held in honor of his accession.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The Memorial Diplomatique says the Vatican is preoccupied with the situation in Spain and that Cardinal Rampoll, secretary of state, has asked the nuncio at Madrid for a detailed report of the anti-clerical troubles.

FRESH CARLIST AGITATION

Madrid Hears of Renewed Trouble at Barcelona, but Police Need No Worry.

MADRID, Feb. 23.—El Herald publishes a dispatch from Barcelona announcing a fresh Carlist agitation there. The authorities, however, were forewarned.

WHAT CUBA IS TO DO

Senate Committee Discusses Phases of the Prospective Relationship.

UNCLE SAM TO SUPERVISE TREATIES

Wants Privilege of Guarding Youngster from Dangerous Associates.

SPANISH WAR DEBT TO BE LET ALONE

Cuba Not to Undertake to Lift the Obligations Incurred by Deas.

NAVAL STATIONS AND HEALTH RULES

Former to be Purchased or Leased, and Latter to be Imposed by United States as It Sees Fit.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The proposition embodied in the proposed amendment, considered at today's committee meeting, include the following points:

That the United States shall have supervision of all treaties with foreign countries made by the republic of Cuba.

That Cuba shall agree either to lease or to sell to the United States such coaling or naval stations in the region of the president of the United States may be necessary to the protection of the interests of this country.

That the United States shall have sufficient supervision of the laws of Cuba relating to sanitation to protect this country from epidemics liable to originate there.

The idea is that these provisions shall be included in a treaty to be made with Cuba, but that they need not be a part of the Cuban constitution. It is understood that the draft of the amendment containing these provisions was submitted to the president and the secretary of war, and that they expressed approval of them. The minority members of the committee expressed themselves willing to come to an understanding upon these general lines. Indeed, some of the most important suggestions were made by the minority. Senator Butler of North Carolina being one of the foremost movers in the matter. They insist, however, upon many verbal amendments, thus evincing a determination to aid in giving form to the provision as well as suggesting its general tenor.

When the committee adjourned today there were still quite important difficulties to be reconciled and the members separated with the understanding that another meeting would be held on Monday.

AGREEMENT IS NOT CERTAIN.

The members on both sides of the committee express the hope that an agreement would be reached, but all said that the proceedings had not gone far enough to render it certain that they would be attained. One important point to which the committee is giving especial attention, although that point may not be emphasized or even mentioned in the proposed amendment, is the relation of Cuba to the United States to hold on to that island, so near their shores, while there is apparently no disposition on the part of the United States to release that possession, on the ground that the island was acquired as a result of the Spanish war.

There is also more or less contention over the exact meaning of the word "pacification," as used in the Teller resolution. That resolution provided that the United States forces should be removed from the island when it should become "pacified." The contention is that this is a word that may be broadly interpreted and may permit the United States troops to remain for a long period, until the island is "pacified." There is also some disposition among the Cubans to hold on to that island, so near their shores, while there is apparently no disposition on the part of the United States to release that possession, on the ground that the island was acquired as a result of the Spanish war.

There will be an effort to report the amendment Monday or Tuesday, as there is a general desire to have it become a part of the army appropriation bill, the consideration of which has already begun in the senate.

CUBANS NOT OF ONE MIND.

HAVANA, Feb. 23.—The constitutional convention's committee on relations between the United States and Cuba held a long session this afternoon and afterward conferred with a number of delegates to the convention. At the private session members of the convention unanimously agreed that some form of relations should be drawn up showing the gratitude of Cuba to the United States, but these relations, they also agreed, must be in conformity with the views of the people of Cuba and must not endanger the sovereignty of the republic.

The right of the United States to intervene for the preservation of peace and the establishment and maintenance of naval stations in the waters of Cuba and adjacent waters is a question which is being discussed by the committee. It is understood that the committee was agreeable to accepting the provision of the treaty of Paris with reference to the former clause, giving the United States the right to intervene, however, only when the republic's sovereignty is endangered or the government is incompetent to preserve peace. A compromise was suggested with reference to the question of naval stations, providing that it be agreed that the United States be allowed to fortify and occupy forts in time of war the same as at the Dry Tortugas.

The committee will meet Monday morning to sign the report for submission to the executive session of the convention to be held Monday afternoon.

POPE MAY EXPRESS HIS VIEW

Is Credited with Intention of Delivering Important Political Speech at Special Gathering.

ROME, Feb. 23.—The pope is credited with the intention of delivering an important political speech at a special gathering of the cardinals in the course of the three days' reception now being held in honor of his accession.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—The Memorial Diplomatique says the Vatican is preoccupied with the situation in Spain and that Cardinal Rampoll, secretary of state, has asked the nuncio at Madrid for a detailed report of the anti-clerical troubles.

FRESH CARLIST AGITATION

Madrid Hears of Renewed Trouble at Barcelona, but Police Need No Worry.

MADRID, Feb. 23.—El Herald publishes a dispatch from Barcelona announcing a fresh Carlist agitation there. The authorities, however, were forewarned.

PUTS AWAY PRINCIPAL THINGS

Now He is King, Edward Behaves as a Monarch and Amuses by His Transformation.

(Copyright, 1901, by Press Publishing Co.) LONDON, Feb. 23.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The personal transformation which King Edward has undergone is astounding everybody. Society is asking itself, Can it possibly last? Since Henry V ascended the throne and incidentally cast off his royal companions there has been nothing like it.

Edward's friends are still waiting, hoping against hope, to be summoned to the royal presence; but there is no sign so far that King Edward is aware even of the existence of the boon companions and bacchanal cronies of the prince of Wales.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

Lord Marcus is the only one of his old pals who is still in the country. He is a bachelor, and his only child is a young girl, who is being educated in a convent. He is anxious to have the privilege of guarding her from dangerous associates.

LOST WITH THE RIO

One Hundred and Twenty-Eight Lives in the Latest Estimate.

FISHERMEN FIND THE PURSER'S PACKET

This Gives List of All Passengers on the Ill-fated Steamship.

NUMBER STAYED OVER AT OTHER PORTS

Wildman and Family Are Surely Among Those Drowned.

CARGO VALUED AS HIGH AS $600,000

Beach Patrol Established and All Fishing Boats Must Report in Hopes of Gathering More Cues of Missing People.

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—So far as can be ascertained from reliable data 128 lives were lost in the wreck of the Pacific Mail steamer Rio de Janeiro.

The list of passengers, as given out to-night by the steamship company and compiled from the papers of the purser found today, is as follows:

From Hong Kong (cabin): W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.

W. M. Casie and wife, laid over somewhere enroute.