Thompson Will Not Retire and the Present Caucus is Probably the Only One that Can Be Arranged For.

LINCOLN, Feb. 24 .- (Special Telegram.)-While the hotel corridors and lobbies are deserted and most of the members of the legislature away on visits to their homes. there is still a sufficient number of senatorial candidates and strategists on the ground preparatory to the resumption of the maneuvers on the senatorial battlefield. The approach of March 4, when the seat of Senator Thurston becomes vacant, naturally intensifies the anxiety on the part of republicans to end the deadlock by the nomination and election of two senators. that the contest will have to be fought out before the people.

With the factional strife in the party which must necessarily follow such a proceeding the republicans cannot hope to elect a legislature that will again give them the opportunity which they may throw away at this time. We feel that we are perfectly justified in offering our good offices in overcoming the difficulty. We do not propose to dictate whom the republicans in the legislature shall elect, but we merely ask to be allowed to suggest how the much-to-be-desired result may be brought about in order that the party may have in the United States senate the two members from that state to which the from that state to which the party is entitled.

independent of all these considerations the greatest difficulty to be encountered is the conciliation of the men who have seceded from the caucus, because they would decline to be bound by its action, should E. Thompson happen to be one of the nominees. If it were proposed to dissolve the present caucus, it is doubtful whether sixty-seven signatures could be secured to strike the bond from the files in the Ferree siderable feeling, as he calls carnestly upon any other caucus agreement. What the Fusionists Are Doing. All reports of impending alliances between fusionists and republicans are the wildest pipe dreams. A well known democrat, high in fusion councils, expressed himself in this fashion on the senatorial situation from the fusion standpoint:

"Don't put any faith in any of this talk about the fusionists jumping in help elect two republicans to the United States senate. One or two of our people may occasionally take a shot at a republican just for the fun of it, as they have done once or twice in joint session, but whatever the fusion members might would be as a party and only as the result of a caucus by which all would stand together. I have no doubt that a proposition to give us one of the senatorships would secure immediate and serious consideration if it should ever be made in good faith. Intimates That if Law Takes Its Course He May Have Hard Time Recovering Anything-Barton Promises Full Details.

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.-(Special Telegram.) -Guy C. Barton of Omaha declined to accept, under the conditions proposed, the Chinese Masonic society. The problem yet $50,000 offered him this morning by Lant to be solved involves the method of col. K. Salsbury, city attorney of Grand Raplection. Twenty-five cents is to be collected ids. This is the question Mr. Gordon and Salsbury may result. Salsbury is now is to solve, and its solution promises to be practically, a prisoner and if he is not locked up tomorrow morning by the private detectives who brought him here in the each other through the police courts, caus- interest of Mr. Barton he is likely to be aring an endless wrangle. The police are rested by Sheriff Magerstadt. Four rooms at the Grand Pacific were occupied all day by the parties to the case and the corridors were at times crowded with officers. Mr. Barton and his son and Lawyer Crofoot of Omaha were in one apartment. Mr. Salsbury, Lawyer Forrest and a couple of detectives occupied another rcom. Cigars and refreshments were within easy reach in the third apartment, while a number of Omaha people, Superintendent Nation, tiring of jail life, has written Judge McGuire of the detective agency and half Hazen a letter demanding release. "I want a dezen sleuths flitted about the remaining you to quit your fooling," she writes, "and room and made mysterious visits to the let me out of here. affair really is. When the lights went out in the apartments late tonight and Attorney Forrest went home to bed, two detectives curled themselves up in the room where Salsbury was sleeping with a sack said to contain the $50,000 safely tucked under his mattress. Notwithstanding the expressed desire of both sides to push the case, the conferences show that all parties desire a quiet settlement. It is also believed that if the Omaha party could lay its hands on the $50,000 without incurring the publicity attached to a trial it would gladly do so. Vigorous Prosecution. State's Attorney Deneen, however, is de-tory law, but no specified time was set termined to follow up the indictment with a vigorous prosecution. The indictment was found," he said tonight, "on what the grand jury certainly considered was good and truthful testimony. Witnesses from Omaha told their

There were hints also that threatened exposure of an alleged unproper fund would be used as a club to bring about a settlement, but in answer to this it was declared that if there had been anything of the kind to fear, publicity would have hardly been risked by a demand for indictment of Sals-warily enough if matters are forced into the courts. A story was circulated tonight by some of the officers engaged on the case to the effect that when Barton found that instead of having $50,000 in the vault of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, he had an empty box, he jumped to the conclusion that Sals bury, instead of being city attorney of Grand Rapids, was a confidence man. The detectives say this was the reason why, until Barton saw him face to face this morning, he was not sure that the right
