Wheat Traders Disposed to Wait for Intentions of Change.

MODERATE ACTIVITY IN CORN MARKET

Fairly Good Business in Oats with Narrow Range of Prices—Provisions Open Steady, but Close Dull and Weaker.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—In today's speculative place on the leading Board of Trade markets conditions were not materially changed, although the tendency was toward easier prices.

Wheat was irregular with regard to prices. Traders evinced a disposition to await something distinctly indicative of a change in crop conditions before assuming their stand.

Moderate activity characterized the corn market during the day. The market was steady after the market for this cereal ruled dull and live wheat was bounded by the pit.

Provisions were quiet, but active. The market was steady on light offerings and a strong market at the stock yards.

Receipts and shipments of various commodities. Flour, wheat, corn, oats, barley, etc.
