TAKEN FOR UNION PACIFIC

Purchase of Large Blocks of Burlington to be Followed by Directorate Representation.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Mail and Express today says: "It was learned today from an authoritative source that the large blocks of Chicago, Burlington & Quincy stock, which have been bought in the open market by the directors of the Union Pacific, are now being taken for the Union Pacific, and within a short time this will be followed by the election of several Union Pacific men to the board of directors of the Burlington company."

The closer relations which will follow between the Union Pacific and Burlington are only less important than the purchase of the Southern Pacific by the Union Pacific. The Burlingtons was the company which was most to be feared by the Union Pacific in transcontinental territory, the latter reaching out into Wyoming and Colorado and threatening to build an independent line of its own to the Pacific coast.

Such a road would necessarily parallel the Union Pacific to the great degree, and there is reason to believe that the Burlington people were lending aid to some of the recently incorporated companies, notably the one that promoted by Senator William A. Clark of the Lake City to an angle.

The Union Pacific, who now has a controlling interest in the Burlington for the purchase of Burlington stock so far aggregate not much more than half the amount outstanding, which is $10,000,000, including the last issue.

The Union Pacific's purchases are said to be between 100,000 and 150,000 shares and the holdings are to be increased when it can be done at a convenient price.

DEATH OF HARRISON

Nation's Twenty-Third President Expires at His Home in Indianapolis.

END COMES AT 4:45 IN THE AFTERNOON. Sufferer Never Fully Aroused from Condition of Semi-Consciousness. UNABLE TO RECOGNIZE THE FAMILY. Sorrowing Members About the Bedside Hear No Parting Word. PRIVATE LIFE AND PUBLIC CAREER. Third of His Illustrious Name—Born in North Bend, Ohio, August 20, 1823—Served from 1850 to 1860.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 13.—General Benjamin Harrison died at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon without regaining consciousness. His death was quiet and painless, there being a gradual sinking until the end came, which was marked by a single gasp for breath as life departed from the body of the great statesman. The change was a great exception, and several of the former president's old and tried friends were at the bedside when he passed away.

The general's condition was so bad this morning that a restless night, that the attending physician, Dr. Jameson, had said could not be far off and all the bulletins sent out from the sick room were to this effect, so that the family and friends were prepared when the final blow came. The gradual failing of the remarkable strength shown by the patient became more noticeable in the afternoon and a few moments before the end there was an apparent breakdown on the part of the sufferer as he succumbed to the disease against which he had been so bravely battling for so many hours. The change was noticed by the physicians and the relative and friends, who had retired from the sick room to the library below, were quickly summoned and reached the bedside of the general to be passed away.

News of the death spread quickly throughout the city and several of the more intimate friends at once hurried to the residence and offered their services, which, however, were not needed.

The word was hastened by all the newspapers and this caused the people to gather on their way home in the evening. The announcement caused the greatest sorrow, nearly everyone having nurtured the hope that General Harrison would recover. Within a few moments the fact as to the public buildings and most of the downtown business blocks were hoisted at half-mast and other outward manifestations of mourning were made.

None of General Harrison's children was present at his death, neither Colonel Russell Harrison, who General Harrison had attended for so many years, Secretary Tibbets, Dr. Jameson and Dursley, Colonel Daniel Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate and a close personal friend of the dead ex-president. Clifford Arnold and the two daughters were in constant attendance at the bedside. General Harrison's two sisters and an aunt were also present.

Mrs. Harrison knelt at the right-hand side of the bed, her husband's right-hand side, and she was the only woman who reached the city, although both were hurrying on their way to the bedside of their dying parent as fast as steam would bear them.

Elizabeth, the little daughter, had been taken from the sick room by her nurse before the end came. The group at the bedside included Mrs. Harrison, W. H. H. Miller, Samuel Miller, his son, the Rev. M. L. Haines, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who General Harrison had attended for so many years, Secretary Tibbets, Dr. Jameson and Dursley, Colonel Daniel Ransdell, sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate and a close personal friend of the dead ex-president.
