RESCUERS ARE TOO LATE

Three Proofreaders Perish in Fire in Boston Advertiser Building.

OTHERS ESCAPE BY DARING LEAPS

Eighteen Men on Sixth Floor, Trapped Before They Know It, Take Desperate Chances to Reach Safety.

BOSTON, March 15.—Three lives sacrificed, nearly a dozen men more or less injured and many thousands of dollars damage were the result of a fierce fire in the Daily Advertiser and Record seven-story granite-front building in Newspaper row tonight.

The dead are: JAMES RICHARDSON, SR., proofreader, of Boston. JUDSON CRAFT, proofreader, of Cambridge. WALTER LUSCOMBE, proofreader, of Salem.

How the fire started is not known, but it was first seen in the pressroom, spread to the elevator well and darted to the top so rapidly that before the occupants of the two upper floors were aware that the building was on fire their rooms were filled with flames and smoke.

In the editorial rooms on the fifth floor there were but five men; all had to run for their lives. On the upper floor, occupied by the composing room, were eighteen compositors and proofreaders, whose situation was most critical.

Panic-stricken they rushed for the windows leading to the fire-escapes and all but three of them succeeded in gaining the roof of an adjoining building. Long ladders were raised as quickly as the network of electric wires would permit, but before the ladders had been placed in position the men had dropped through a skylight in the room and reached safety.

Excepting in the pressroom in the basement there was practically no fire below the fifth story. No one was in the pressroom at the time the fire started, excepting the fireman, who has not been seen up to a late hour. It took three hours of work to drown the fire.

The three victims, all proofreaders, were suffocated before they had time to reach the fire-escapes. Those who found the bodies were obliged to jump several feet to the roof of the adjoining building, and in this way quite a number of them sustained injuries.

As soon as it was seen that the resources of the Advertiser and Record for issuing the editions of their papers regularly were destroyed offers of assistance were received from the proprietors of all the other newspapers in the city.

Managing Editor Underwood says it is impossible to estimate the loss until the actual damage to the presses is ascertained. Late tonight the loss was estimated at $150,000, with little insurance.

PANIC FOLLOWS FIRE ALARM

One Person Killed and Several Injured by Jumping from Burning Building.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—At 5:33 a. m. today electric light wires started a fire in the Merchants' hotel, 485 Pennsylvania avenue, which spread rapidly, causing panic among the guests, several of whom jumped from the roof, one of whom was killed and four severely injured. The dead is: L. F. HENRY, 48 years old, suffocated.

Stephen Collins, proprietor of the hotel, both legs badly burned, deep burn in neck, burned about face and arms; very serious, but not necessarily fatal. W. B. Catchings of Kentucky, back sprained, legs and right side bruised; injuries caused by jumping from window. John Scanlon, head cut by jumping from window. W. E. Kethum of Connecticut, bruised by falling down stairs.

WHITE HOUSE IN THE GLARE

Small Fire in the Inaugural Reviewing Grandstand Illuminates the Mansion and Grounds.

WASHINGTON, March 15.—An alarm of fire in front of the White House about 7 o'clock tonight for flames discovered in the inaugural reviewing grandstand, at the northwest corner of the grounds surrounding the mansion, caused considerable excitement in that section of the city. The White House, Pennsylvania avenue and the State, War and Navy department buildings were brilliantly illuminated for a brief time before the fire was extinguished. The damage was nominal.

For Selling Firewater to Indians. STIOX FALLS, S. D., March 15.—(Special Telegram.)—William Crook, a saloon keeper of Egan, was brought here this evening by United States Marshal Carlton and taken before United States Commissioner D. J. Conway for examination on the charge of selling liquor to Edward Taylor, a Sioux Indian belonging to the Piedraoux sub-agency. The evidence against Crook was deemed sufficient to hold him for appearance before the next federal grand jury in bonds of $500, which he furnished.

FOR TODAY'S CEREMONIES

Tender Hands Make Ready the Body of the Departed Statesman.

PRESIDENT IS TO ARRIVE SUNDAY

Other of General Harrison's Former Contemporaries in Public Life Are Arriving—Mrs. Harrison Seen Fev.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 15.—The arrangements at the Harrison home for the lying in state tomorrow and the funeral services Sunday were practically completed tonight.

The body was dressed late this afternoon and was then removed to the front parlor, where it will lie until taken to the state house. The body was dressed in the customary black suit of Prince Albert cut which General Harrison always wore. A simple plain black tie was used and gold buttons adorned the shirt front. The body reclines flat on the casket. The left hand is folded across the breast, a plain gold band ring being on the second finger. The face of General Harrison is composed and restful, although very white, his illness having made no perceptible change in his appearance.

The casket containing the body was taken to the front parlor on the first floor and placed directly in front of the fireplace on the south side of the room, the head being toward the east. The mantle above it was piled high with the floral offerings of friends and admirers of the dead statesman. Other floral displays were arranged about the room. The body was viewed by the friends and family after it had been placed in the position selected. Mrs. Harrison went into the room alone and remained for some time there. The copper lining to the casket will not be put in place until just before it is taken to the church for the funeral, when it will be hermetically sealed.

The casket will be covered and ready to be taken to the state house by 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. The hearse in which it will be conveyed and which will be used on the day of the funeral has been draped in black and American flags. It will be drawn by four black horses.

On the return from the state house tomorrow night the casket will be placed in the same position it now occupies, where it will remain until the time of the funeral Sunday afternoon.

President Arrives Tomorrow. President McKinley will arrive in this city from Canton at 6:45 o'clock Sunday morning and will be entertained at the home of Governor Durbin during his stay in the city. It is understood the presidential party will leave for Washington via Canton Sunday evening.

The Columbia club and the leading hotels of the city are making extensive arrangements for the entertainment of distinguished visitors who will attend the funeral. Charles Foster, secretary of the treasury; General Benjamin F. Tracy, secretary of the navy, and John Wamsucker, postmaster general, during the Harrison administration, will arrive at the Denison house early tomorrow, where rooms have been reserved for them. Captain W. E. Meredith, chief of the Bureau of Printing during the Harrison administration, will arrive tomorrow. L. T. Michener of Washington, D. C., who was chairman of the republican state committee during General Harrison's first campaign for

SHERIFF IS TOO CONFIDENT

Alleged Horse Thief from North Platte Outwits a South Dakota Officer.

Jack Joyce, an alleged horse thief, taken at North Platte Thursday by Sheriff John W. Goodall of Dickinson, S. D., escaped from custody late Friday afternoon by leaping from a Union Pacific chair car between Omaha and South Omaha. As the train was running at a high rate of speed at the time and as several minutes elapsed before the officer missed his prisoner, Joyce made good his escape and all efforts to locate him since have failed.

Joyce is under indictment for stealing a valuable team of horses at Dickinson, S. D., about a year ago. The authorities had spared no pains in running him to earth and several months' hard work finally resulted in locating him at North Platte. Upon advice from Dickinson he was arrested there and held until the sheriff could arrive.

Sheriff Goodall appeared upon the scene Thursday, having stopped in Lincoln long enough to get requisition papers, and Friday morning started east with his man. He thought it unnecessary to put his prisoner in irons. It would be embarrassing to the prisoner and at the same time would attract attention to him (Goodall) and advertise him immediately as an officer of the law. So they sat side by side in the vestibule chair car and might easily have been mistaken for stockmen or country merchants.

Just as the train was leaving South Omaha Joyce asked the sheriff's permission to step to the front end of the car as he wanted to buy a magazine of the news agent. His request was granted. The officer saw his prisoner speaking with the agent, and a moment later, when he looked again, the former had disappeared.

Goodall approached the agent and asked: "What became of the man you were just talking to?" "Why," said he, "I opened the trapdoor of the vestibule and let him out on the platform."

Further conversation along this line brought out the fact that the agent didn't know Joyce was a prisoner, and granted his request to open the trapdoor as he would that of any other passenger. He was very sorry it had occurred.

When the train arrived in Omaha Goodall notified the police and immediately returned to South Omaha to put the police there in possession of the facts and give them a description of the man who had been his prisoner. Later his description was sent to Council Bluffs police and to the authorities of several of the smaller towns within a radius of fifty miles of Omaha, but up to midnight of last night Joyce was still at large.
