General Lorne Campbell, the English commander, and General Wogack, commanding the Russians, met Count von Waldersee upon his arrival here. Learning that both had received instructions from their governments, Count von Waldersee said it was useless for him to give even an opinion regarding the matters at issue. It is the general opinion in Tien Tsin that the feeling is not likely to reach a point where blood would be shed. Both detachments on guard have orders to do nothing aggressive unless forced to do so, Except the army and camp followers, the only persons now residing here are the members of the consular staff, two clerks and two Jews, who are running stores, and who left Russia in order to save their lives. "I have been taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy off and on for about three years, and I feel it my duty to write and tell that it has helped me wonderfully. I had a fall and was hurt inwardly, and the doctor said I would never be well. One day my little boy brought in a book which was an advertisement of Dr. Greene's Nervura, and as it seemed to be just the thing that I needed I got a bottle and tried it, and one bottle helped me so much that I have kept on taking it and I am now almost a well woman. I was very nervous, had fainting spells, and would be unconscious for a long ime. My son, who is about twelve years old, takes it also whenever he is not feeling well, and it always seems to help him, and he is improving every day. I am thankful for what it has done for me and for my son, and would not be without it in the house. I ave also recommended it to my friends, and many of them say they could not live without it. I hope the medicine will help others as it has helped me."

Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy Is the Safeguard of the Home.

It helps father and mother, and it helps children. When it is relied upon to build up after any acute illness it is soon found to be effective beyond anything else, and the family that depends upon it for a tonic and strengthener will always be found recommending it broadcast.

Everybody feels the need of a blood purifier and flesh builder in the spring, and this grand medicine of Dr. Greene's, made of purely vegetable elements, helps Nature and fills the veins with pure blood. Dr. Greene will give his advice free to all who call on him at his office, 35 W. 14th St., New York City, or write to him through the mails. In this way his work is carried on in proportions which only to see who come in practical contact with it can appreciate. Great numbers of people seek Dr. Greene's help, and none without good result. His great experience and scientific acquirements in medicine make his advice the most valuable in the world for the run-down and weak, yet this counsel is free to all, rich and poor alike.
