Bryce Crawford assumed the position of with its progress." police magistrate of Omaha Friday morning. His authority for doing so was the ap-pointment made by Mayor Moores and confirmed by the city council at its meeting

Samuel I. Gordon, the deposed magistrate, appeared at the police court a few minutes after Judge Crawford had taken his seat on the bench. He refused to recognize any authority but his own in the proceedings of the court, and stoutly maintained that he was the duly qualified and acting police judge of the city.

Court was in progress when Judge Gordon arrived at the police station. He entered the court room and hung his coat upon the same hook which he was accustomed to uring when he occupied the position of police judge. Without a word to anyone he started to ascend the bench. Sergeant Bebout intercepted him and barred the way No force was employed, for Judge Gordon gracefully receded. "I am here," he said, "prepared to exe-

An Excellent Combination. The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, Symur or Fies, manufactured by the STRUP OF FISS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxatire, cleaning the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevery gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senns and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the California Fig Symp. Impressive Ceremonies Are Held at Elks' Lodge Rooms Friday Afternoon.

William R. Learn was buried Friday afternoon. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock from the Elks lodge rooms in the Ware block. A large number of friends of the deceased joined in the service. Interment was at Prospect Hill cemetery. The services were conducted under the auspices of the Elks and were participated in by several other secret organizations of which the deceased was a member. The impressive funeral ceremony by the Elks was employed in its entirety. Rev. T. J Mackay, rector of All Saints' church and chapiain of the Elks, was in charge of the service. Judge Lee Estelle read a eulogy on the deceased.

A feeling of warm friendship had always existed between Judge Estelle and Judge Learn. Because of this intimacy Judge Estelle was chosen to deliver the eulogy. He spoke of his departed friend in th highest terms, calling attention to his many good traits of character. "His was a friendship," said the speaker, that any man might well seek. He was loyal and considerate, big-hearted and generous, and no better proof of his splendid manhood could be cited than his deep affection for the two boys who have been bereft of paternal guardianship by his sad death." All of the officers of the Elks lodge particigated in the funeral ceremony in accord with the usual custom. George P. Cronk recited "Thanatopsis" in an effective manner. The music was furnished by the Elks quartet, under the leadership of Jo Barton. The floral offerings were numerous and elaborate. Many of his friends and all of the lodges to which he belonged contributed handsome designs. The children who attend Farnam school, where the two Learn boys are students, presented a beau-
