

CHESS CONTEST CONCLUDED

Americans Win Three Games, Britishers Take Three and Four Are Drawn.

OWNERSHIP OF TROPHY IS UNDECIDED

Pillsbury, Hymes and Newman Win Their Games, White Showalter, Marshall and Howell Are the Losing Men.

NEW YORK, April 20.—After a fierce battle which lasted two days, the chess players representing the United States and the United Kingdom broke even in the sixth international match by cable. The Englishmen scored two games and kept the lead until the evening when victories by Newman and Pillsbury offset their advantage. Two games were agreed upon as draw, so when the twelfth hour, London time, approached there were still four games going, which by the rule should have been submitted to the referee for adjudication. By mutual consent, however, two more games were called a draw and each side was awarded one game. This compromise met with general approval and was considered very fair, as the decision of the referee could not have been otherwise.

The play was full of surprises. At times it looked as if the Americans would win hands down and then again as if the British would simply walk in. The latter scored first on the second board, when Showalter, pursuing his attack in the center, allowed Maso to break in on the king's side, whereupon the Kentuckian had to sacrifice the exchange without any compensation.

Marshall Overlooks a Bet. A downright blunder on the part of Marshall enabled Ward to turn defeat into victory. Curiously enough, the snap which Marshall overlooked occurred on the first day of the match, when Marshall guarded against it.

The game between Hampton and Jackson ended in a draw. Hampton at one time was ahead and even after he had lost it he still ought to have secured victory, but, pressed by time, he threw all chances away by a premature admission of his past defeat. On the other hand, the draw between Bellingham and Voight was a very lucky incident for the American. Bellingham, by a brilliant attack, obtained a winning position, when he gave Voight the chance to stave off defeat by a temporary sacrifice of the queen.

The first victory for the American side was scored by Newman, who, after repelling a fierce onslaught from Jackson, emerged with a couple of pawns ahead. Shortly afterward Pillsbury had the intense satisfaction of lowering Blackburne's colors for the first time in the cable matches. When the games were called Hymes was a couple of pawns to the good and, although queens were still on the board, his victory seemed only a question of time. This game was conceded to the American team.

Howell's Hard Losses. The young Brooklyn player, Howell, was struggling throughout the long day with a game which he ought to have resigned from early in the morning, if not on Friday night. He was saved the necessity of resigning, but the game was rightly awarded to the Britishers. Judges were won ahead, but could not win, as the adverse bishop commanded the ultimate square. Barry had the better position, but no clear win. Both of these games were agreed as drawn and the match ended, each side having won five points, will be seen from the appended table:

Referee Will Decide.

The fate of the Newnes trophy is still in abeyance. The deed of gift, while mentioning that after three matches the trophy should be accounted in possession of the last custodian, does not state clearly whether a drawn match, as the present one, is to be counted alone, or whether it breaks the sequence. The question will be submitted to the referee by Baron Rothschild of Vienna. President A. E. Black of the Brooklyn Chess club announced that in the event of the referee deciding the cup to be the property of the Brooklyn Chess club a new trophy for the cable match will be provided, and Colonel Hester has offered to donate a cup.

Britishers Are Disappointed. LONDON, April 20.—When the British players retired for dinner after Maso's brilliant win they were confident that nothing could defeat them. This belief received its first shock when Jacobs withdrew to Newman. The depression, however, was somewhat relieved when the

Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets

GIVE PERFECT DIGESTION, SOUND SLEEP, STRONG NERVES.

A Popular Remedy for Dyspepsia Which Has Made Many Remarkable Cures.

The spring of the year is the time for blood purifiers. It is the season when we think we must do ourselves with sarsaparilla, bitters and the endless list of so-called blood purifiers and nerve tonics. As a matter of fact, there is but one possible way in which to purify the blood and that is, through the stomach and bowels. Pure blood results from wholesome food thoroughly digested and impure blood results from poor digestion and assimilation. When the stomach refuses to work properly the food remains too long a time, fermenting, forming gases, blowing by sour, bitter taste in the mouth, bloating and belching of gas, and distress and discomfort generally. Poor blood, weak nerves, sleeplessness and a general don't care feeling can always be traced to imperfect digestion.

This is the reason why Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets are superior to all other spring medicines and blood purifiers. They give perfect digestion, the food does not lie in the stomach for hours. They give a vigorous appetite, sound sleep, strong nerves, and wholesome food well digested makes pure blood, and in no other way can the blood be purified. The idea that a medicine in itself will purify the blood when the stomach and digestive organs are out of order is nonsense. Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used by thousands in preference to "bitters," "after dinner pills" and "blood purifiers" because they remove the cause of the impure blood, and you do not have to take them forever to get results. Dyspepsia is an obstinate disease to cure and a remedy must be designed especially for it and nothing else. Cure-all will not cure dyspepsia.

Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not claimed to cure everything or anything except Dyspepsia and stomach troubles and for that it stands alone among patent medicines. Anyone suffering from any trouble with their digestion will find these tablets will give immediate relief and a permanent cure.

Stewart's Dyspepsia Tablets are prepared by the F. A. Stewart Co., of Marshall, Mich., and sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. No dieting nor change of habits is required, they digest the food.

Voight-Bellingham game was declared a draw. It was thought that Howell and Marshall of the American players had sacrificed good opportunities by their impetuous plays and it was assumed that Blackburne would certainly draw with Pillsbury, thus securing an English success, but this was a futile hope, for Blackburne was defeated for the first time in his career by an American.

"I fought a good fight, but it proved not good enough," said Blackburne as he arose from the table, and the Britishers realized that the best they could hope for was a draw. This they were finally compelled to propose and Sir George Newnes read the American acceptance of a draw, saying: "Well, the trophy does not go to the United States yet."

The spectators received the news with the best face possible, having believed for five hours that it was impossible for the British players to lose. "I can only say," said Sir George Newnes, "that the Americans conducted the game in the same spirit of sportsmanship we have been accustomed to expect, as the game will now proceed anew, we hope for many renewals of the contests, which, for our part, we believe promotes friendship between the two countries, as well as stimulating the great game of chess."

OLD MEN MADE YOUNG AGAIN

Captain Brewster Tries Salt Cure and Feels Like a Young Man Refreshed from Slumber.

An elixir of life known as "leithin," discovered by a Dr. Robin of Paris, and said to be infinitely superior in its rejuvenating effects to the waters from Ponce de Leon's fountain of youth, has found its way into Omaha. Captain Charles Brewster of the army headquarters is undergoing treatment by the Robin process. The treatments are given daily; Captain Brewster has taken four of them, and says he is already beginning to feel a sense of exhilaration and vigor. Being a man well advanced in life, he and his friends are disposed to think favorably of the new elixir. "Several weeks ago," said Captain Brewster, "I heard that a personal friend of mine, Hon. Abram S. Hewitt, ex-mayor of New York and ex-member of congress, had been treated successfully by the Paris physician, so wrote him a letter and asked him for the particulars. He answered, testifying to his wonderful improvement as a result of subcutaneous injections of glycerophosphate. "When I went to Paris," he writes, "I was somewhat enfeebled in body. I put myself under the care of Dr. Robin, who administered twenty-one treatments, one daily, and at the end was certainly very much improved in health. I gained seven pounds in weight and the improvement continued for a long time afterward. "My treatments is hardly far enough advanced as yet to admit of a fair estimate of its effects," resumed the captain, "but I can say that I am feeling more vigorous than when I commenced, four days ago. The effects are especially manifest upon awakening in the morning."

Here is a paragraph from some of the literature sent out from the laboratory of Dr. Robin, who is connected with the Academie de Medicine of Paris. "Chemistry has demonstrated the presence of a phosphorus-bearing substance in the nerve cells. This is known as leithin. It is a constituent of the human body in general, but is especially characteristic of those constituents that make up the brain and nerve substance. Life depends upon the presence of healthy leithin, and the decay of old age is due to a diminution or a deteriorated quality of this element. Hence the philosophy of administering directly into the circulation of the blood leithin in the form of a glycerophosphate to replace the lost and, as it were, retard decay and prolong life."
