$250,000 FOR A RAILROAD

Omaha People Are Asked to Vote Bonds for New North and South Line to Emporia.

WHO IS BACK OF THE ENTERPRISE

This is the Chief Question in Local Circles—Is It Missouri Pacific? Santa Fe? or Independent?

The county of Douglas could probably afford to bond itself to the tune of $250,000 for a direct railroad into the heart of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, but before hanging up this noble sum of money Douglas county taxpayers will be likely to Ask Some Pertinent Questions.

Omaha and Douglas county are now well served by two of the great railway syndicates: The Harriman combination, with the Union Pacific as its central line; the Hill combination, with the Burlington as its central line.

The Santa Fe System is the key to the third "community of interest" and unless this newly proposed line is to place Omaha within reach of that combination a $250,000 bond issue might be far from profitable.

H. B. Robison, President of the Bankers Reserve Life association of Omaha, writing $200,000 a month, believes in the future of Nebraska and of her metropolis. He favors everything which promises commercial victories for both. Having launched, by the aid of his associates, Nebraska's successful life insurance company, the without asking any bonus from the community, he ventures to suggest that other money-making enterprises ought to exhibit a like faith in the state and in the city. Taxpayers may doubt the advisability of dickering with a company which proposes a single line merely from a Kansas town to Omaha unless they know who is back of the enterprise.

Omaha People Can Build the Road.

In fact, can build any railroad if they can be given $250,000 as a bonus to begin business with and we need a line to the Jim river, South Dakota, worse than one to Emporia, Kansas. If the people of Nebraska will stop sending $1,500,000 a year to alien life companies and use that annual contribution for the upbuilding of home life insurance companies, they can afford to give away money for local railways, canals, factories and all other forms of permanent industries.

Positions Open to Ten General Agents.

President Robison wants ten additional first-class general agents to open new territory in the western states. Active men who mean business can secure extra liberal terms, desirable territory and positions. Write or call on him at Omaha, Neb.

wishes to state that in the manufacture of their beers they use artesian water and the best of hops, thus forming a combination of all that is the best—artesian water, imported hops and "Blue Ribbon Bottled Beer." tance. The apple crop now amounts to 200,000 bushels a year and it brings in several hundred thousand dollars annually. In the neighborhood of 200,000 cases were shipped last year, a great part of them coming from the southern section of the island.

It would surprise our people to see how closely the Tasmanians plant apple trees. The average orchard is set out ten feet apart, instead of twenty feet or forty feet, as with us, and it is said that as much as 600 bushels are sometimes gathered from a single acre, and that from trees thirty years old. The trees begin to bear in their third or fourth year and keep on bearing for many years.

Tasmania ships green fruit to Australia and New Zealand. It raises quantities of pears, plums, cherries and within the last few years has been exporting about $150,000 worth of jam annually. This latitude gives the strawberries, raspberries, grapes and other small fruits an excellent flavor and the Tasmanian jams go as far north as the Philippines.

Farming Along the Southern Ocean.

These people are excellent farmers. Nearly every crop yields more than elsewhere. The wheat fields cover only about 85,000 acres and the average production is twenty-nine bushels per acre. A large amount of barley is grown and several million bushels of oats, the latter averaging thirty-eight bushels per acre.

I find that some of our farming machinery is sold here, but the trade might be pushed at a profit. The farms are of such a nature that some implements cannot be used, still there are many farm engines, mowing machines and reapers and mowers combined. There are some patent binders, a couple of hundred threshing machines and many force pumps. I doubt, however, whether as good freight rates could be secured as are given to the English exporters on account of the close connection between here and London.

There are many sheep here which are worth $1,000 apiece. They are taken to Australia and sold there for breeding purposes, full-bred rams bringing sometimes as much as $5,000 each. The greatest care is taken in the breeding of sheep. The holdings are smaller than in Australia or New Zealand, where single men have flocks of hundreds of thousands, and the Tasmanian sheep breeders can therefore take better care of their stock. Tasmania is an excellent turnip country, and in this part of the world a good turnip country is a good sheep country. There are fields about Hobart which have produced as much as sixteen tons of turnips to the acre, and in northeastern Tasmania twenty-five tons per acre have been grown. At present in the neighborhood of 5,000 acres are sown every year in turnips, yielding more than 50,000 tons. The bulk of this stuff goes to the sheep, which speedily grind it up into mutton and wool.

World's Biggest Tin Mine.

There is a great mining boom now on in Tasmania. Up until 1872 the minerals were not thought to amount to much, but in that year tin mines were opened on Mount Bischoff, in the northwestern part of the island, and these have proved to be the largest tin mines of the world. They paid their first dividend in 1878, and since then have been paying regularly, having distributed in dividends more than $8,000,000. The total exports of minerals now amount to $5,000,000 annually and there are about 6,000 men at work in the mines. Not only tin, but also gold, silver, copper, iron and coal are taken out, as well as small amounts of other metals.

One of the most wonderful mines is the Mount Lyell gold mine, which was discovered in 1881. This was thought to be of iron mixed with gold. It was first worked as a gold mine, but was afterward found to contain copper, gold and silver and the ore was reduced after modern processes of smelting copper. The results were so great that the company was reorganized with a capital of about $4,500,000, a railroad was built from the mines to the smelting works and within a short time the company had five smelters treating 11,000 tons of ore a month. This company paid its first dividend in 1897, and by the middle of the year following it had distributed to its stockholders more than $1,000,000. It now pays out about $10,000 a month in salaries and is making money right along out of copper, silver and gold.

FRANK G. CARPENTER.

Clerical Man is Shocked

There landed from the liner Oceanic this morning the most disgusted person that has walked down the gangplank for many a day, says a New York special. The Rev. Thomas Alfred, a Methodist minister from Nashville, Tenn., was the person in question. The parson was a second cabin passenger, and a visit to the smoking room, a peep into the steerage and a watchful eye kept on the stewards resulted in discoveries of such a serious nature as to lead him to remark today:

"It was simply awful. I saw money on the tables, and, would you believe it, men were openly gambling for it. On the Sabbath night I saw, with my own eyes, a dance going on in the steerage. I tell you it was a deplorable condition of affairs.

"When I get home I am going to write the whole thing up for the town papers and my religious weekly, too."
