INVESTIGATE ALL CHARITIES

State Board to Inquire Into Every Method in Nebraska.

NEW GOVERNOR CHOOSING STAFF

Names C. D. Evans of Columbus for Surgeon General—State Board of Irrigation Completes Organization.

LINCOLN, May 4.—(Special.)—Systems of public charities in Nebraska, practices and methods used in correctional institutions and conditions prevalent in prisons, infirmaries, public hospitals and reformatories, will soon be subjects of inquiry and investigation by the State Board of Charities and Corrections. State officials who are to comprise this board today arranged the details of their organization and on July 1, the day the new law goes into effect, the board will begin its official life with a course of action minutely planned out. This will mark the beginning of a movement that educators, clergymen and others have been striving to inaugurate for several years past. At the conference today Rev. W. A. Clark of Omaha and Rev. J. W. Seabrooke of Cresco were named for advisory secretaries to the board proper, which will consist of Governor Savage, Land Commissioner Follmer and Superintendent Fowler. The secretaries will serve without compensation and as indicated by their titles their services are largely of an advisory nature, though both take an active interest in the work. Two additional advisory secretaries will be named at a subsequent meeting of the officials comprising the board.

Chief Clerk Alone Gets Pay

The only person that will be allowed to receive pay for services in connection with the commission will be the chief clerk and the amount of his pay is to be determined by the board. For this position the state officers agreed on John Davis of Pawnee county. He will probably have charge of all records and do most of the administrative work of the board's work.

branches without opposition and was signed by the governor the day it was presented to him. It carries an appropriation of $5,000 for all expenses during the biennium. The passage of such an act had been agitated for many months by members of the State Association of Charities and Corrections. Former Chancellor MacLean of University of Nebraska, and his successor, Acting Chancellor Bessey, were active movers in the association, which also had the support and co-operation of former Governors Poynter and Dietrich. The latter recommended the passage of the bill in his inaugural message to the legislature.

Inquire Into Whole System.

The law provides that it shall be the duty of the board to inquire into the whole system of public charities and the management of all correctional institutions, to ascertain by inspection the condition of such institutions. Officers in charge of all institutions that come under the provision of the act and any officers for the distribution of public outdoor relief are required at all times to furnish the board at its request such information and statistics as it may demand. All plans for new jail buildings, lockups, infirmaries and reformatories must be approved by the board before they can be adopted by the usual authorities. The governor, by the provisions of the act, may at any time order a special inquiry by the board or by a committee of its members, or advisory secretaries, into the management of any penal, reformatory or charitable institution, public or private, and the board or committee making the investigation is empowered to send for records and papers and to administer oaths. All investigations undertaken shall be directed wholly toward the betterment of methods pertaining to the health, punishment, education and reformation of the inmates of the institution involved.

Governor's Staff.

According to military law the staff of any army official ceases to exist when its commanding officer leaves or retires from office, and under this rule when Governor Dietrich retired from office his staff also retired. Several members of the old staff, in fact nearly all of them, have tendered their resignations to Governor Savage, but this proceeding is unnecessary, for the resignations of Dietrich's staff are automatically in the executive department, that of the officers of Dietrich's staff, and possibly all of them, will be renamed. Governor Savage took one step in this direction today by naming C. D. Evans of Columbus for surgeon general. Dr. J. Cameron Anderson of Omaha, who held this position under the former governor, will soon remove to New York. It is said here, and he could not accept reappointment for that reason. Colonel Evans was an aide on the former staff.

George W. Wilhelm of Lincoln was today named for chief engineer at the Hospital for Chronic Insane near this city.

The State Board of Irrigation met with secretary Adna Dobson this afternoon and completed the organization of the irrigation department by the appointment of Charles Spearman of Crawford for under secretary in the second irrigation district. The entire force is now named and the work of the department will be taken up and carried on as before. Secretary Dobson is deeply interested in the outcome of a motion pending before the supreme court for a rehearing of the Crawford county irrigation case. The decision of this case will mean much to the irrigation interests of the state.

CYCLONE STRIKES NEBRASKA

FREIGHT TRAIN RACES WITH STORM

Twister Travels from Southwest to Northwest and Touches Edge of the Town—No Lives Reported Lost.

HASTINGS, Neb., May 4.—(Special Telegram.)—A small but genuine cyclone tore things up between Juniata and Hastings late this afternoon. While Burlington freight train No. 80 was coming into Hastings from Juniata, the cyclone picked up a large barn and carried it toward the train for over 100 yards. The trainmen saw the storm headed directly for the train and a race followed, but the cyclone changed its course without reaching the railroad track.

The people of Hastings had noticed the twister and were prepared for it. The cyclone touched the west edge of the town and, after destroying trees and outhouses, it picked up Marquis' barn and shattered it into kindling wood. It then whirled close to Mr. Kohler's place, but did not do any more damage than to move the barn off its stone foundation. The course of the cyclone was from the southwest to the northwest and its path was narrow.

CLOUDBURST AT RUSHVILLE

RUSHVILLE, Neb., May 4.—(Special Telegram.)—A cloudburst occurred this morning about 11 o'clock three miles northeast of here, forming a stream twenty rods wide which rushed south, washing out bridges and filling up the creeks in many places ten feet deep. The water completely surrounded the creamery and for several hours penned up the superintendent, whose brother tried to rescue him with a wagon, but the water was over the horse's back and he had to wait till the torrent subsided. A boy on horseback made an attempt, but a mass of floating debris nearly unhorsed him and drove him against a wire fence.

Just north of the railroad track, where its once a dry creek, there is now a stream over 100 feet wide. Yesterday it was so dusty and cloudy here it was almost unbearable. Today hail and rain combined to break the drought.
