Volume of Business for May Compares Favorably with Last Year.

SUGAR SHOWS CONSIDERABLE STRENGTH

Jobbers All Complaining that They Cannot Get Enough Stock to Fill Their Orders and No Prospect of Immediate Relief.

While some conditions during the month of April were unfavorable to business interests, still, taking the month as a whole, local jobbers find very little to complain of. The cold and wet weather of the first part of the month retarded the demand greese, 76,714c. spring goods, but there has been enough business transacted during the last part to make up for the deficiency. As compared with the same month last year It is found that a far greater volume of business has been done this year and in fact more than during the same month of any previous year. In many cases the amount of goods sold depended entirely upon the supply on hand. The most general complaint that is heard is that manufacturers are not turning out the goods rapidly enough to meet the demand. This is coarse, particularly true of hardware, farm implements and furniture. Goods are, of course, coming in all the while, but as soon as a carload arrives it goes out and nothing is left on hand. It is difficult to tell just how long this state of affairs is going to last, but the situation seems to be growing worse rather than better. The warm weather is increasing the demand all the time, which is only putting jobbers and manufacturers farther behind. It has been some time since there has been as marked and as general a shortage in supplies as there is at the present time.

The markets are in just about the same condition they were a week age. The feeling is firm all along the line, as is bound to be the case when the demand exceeds the supply. The tendency of prices is in nearly all cases upward and what important changes have taken place since last report are in that direction. Until there is a marked decrease in the consuming demand there is no danger of a change in market conditions. carload arrives it goes out and nothing is Sugar May Go Higher.

Interest in grocery circles now centers around sugar. There has been no change in the prices on refined since last report, but the market is in a very strong position. Raws have gone up 1-16e and many refineries are already oversold on some grades. Present indications are that the fruit crop will be very heavy all over the country and the warm weather of late is ripening the fruit rapidly and will probably bring it on the market earlier than formerly expected. All of this, of course, means an exceptionally large demand for sugar a little later in the season. A large fruit crop also makes fruit jars in big demand and for that reason many merchants are stocking up quite heavily on both sugar and jars.

jars. faringceous goods the only changes of In farinaceous goods the only changes of any importance are slightly higher prices on both rolled outs and on beans. New cheese is now on the market and for this early in the season the quality is very good. Prices are a little lower than on the October stock, but so far the demand has been so heavy that prices have not gone down as rapidly as they otherwise would. rapidly as they otherwise would.

The situation in dried fruits is unchanged. The situation in dried fruits is unchanged with the exception of prunes, which are it higher than they were a week ago. This is owing to the advance amounced by the California Cared Fruit association. The market at this point has not gone up quite as much as it did on the coast, and quotations are now only from higher higher than they were a week ago.

Summer Goods in Demand.

Summer Goods in Demand.

The warm weather is creating a lively demand for summer dry goods. According to all reports received from the country retailers are having all they can do to wait on their customers. Until recently trade in the country has been quiet, which, of course, makes the demand now all the greater. Traveling men complain they cannot get an audience with merchants, as they are too busy seiling goods to spend time to buy them. In a short time, however, stocks will be broken, and then they will be ready to place duplicate orders. The spring demand has hardly been in full swing long enough as yet to bring in many sorting-up orders, but still they are beswing long enough as yet to bring in many sorting-up orders, but still they are beginning to come. Quite a few merchants were in the city last week, and they all reported business as being in elegant condition, and spoke in particular of the exceptionally large demand for fancy lines. Belts, embroideries, all-over laces, fancy ribbons and all that class of goods are selling more rapidly than ever before, and it looks now as though this is to be the best season for fancy goods that has been experienced in a long time.

There is nothing new to be said of the market as far as the retailer is concerned, there having been no important changes since last report.

Big Shortage in Hardware.

Big Shortage in Hardware.

As anticipated there is now a marked shortage in many seasonable lines of hardware. Orders are floating in from all directions for barb wire, screen doors, poultry netting and wire cloth, but there are no goods on hand to ship out, and it is very doubtful if the merchant who has not placed his order before this time will get any in the near future. Local houses are oversold and on some lines are refusing to take orders for shipment in less than sixty or ninety days. To illustrate the situation in barb wire, a local jobber said that he had on hand at the present time orders for over forty carloads and not a foot of it has he in the house. As soon as a carload arrives it is divided up and sent out into the country without ever being taken into the house. The situation in screen doors is fully as bad, so that it is difficult to see from where retailers are going to get their goods this season. Other markets are in the same fix as this one, so that they cannot go to Chicago. St. Louis or any other point. This is simply an instance of where the demand from all over the country is so far beyond the capacity of the mills that manufacturers are swamped and cannot turn out the goods fast enough. But in spite of this shortage local houses shipped out more goods, both in tennage and in value, than they did the corresponding month of last year, and if they could have had the goods to fill the orders they received the gain over last year would have been enormous.

About all that can be said of the market is that it is in a good, strong position. There have been no important advances except on ename! Wire, which went up 13th per cent. It is, however, no longer a question of price, but one of getting goods at any figure.

Glass Takes a Jump.

Glass Takes a Jump.

It is announced that about May 10 window glass is to be marked up another legio per cent. The reason given is that the demand is exceptionally large, while stocks are light. Foreign manufacturers do not seem to be shipping in large quantities, which leaves the American manufacturers practically in control of the situation. They claim that in view of the light supply on hand higher prices are justified, and local jobbers say they would not be at all surprised to see a still farther advance at no very distant date. Retailers out through the country have been watching the market closely, and are now buying quite freely in anticipation of higher prices. Wholesafers expect a big trade between now and May 10, as the expected advance will be more generally known.

It is also announced that plate glass will go no lower. The belief all along has been that there would be a drop in prices this spring, but the large demand now makes that impossible and those who are posted on the situation say that if there is any change at all it will be in the direction of higher prices. Glass Takes a Jump.

change at all it will be in the direction of higher prices.

Linseed oll was marked up another 2c last week, which makes raw 82c and boiled 64c. Tarpentine, however, went in the other direction and is now selling ic lower, or at 33c. The demand for paints, oils and glass is exceptionally heavy owing to the large amount of building that is going on in this section of the country.

Selling Fall Goods.

Selling Fall Goods.

At once business is rather quiet just at present with local boot and shoe jobbers. There are, of course, a few sorting-up orders coming in, but stocks are not broken up to any extent as yet and it will take several days more of good retail trade before jobbers will be doing very much immediate business. Their traveling men, however, are out after fall orders and are meeting with good success. They now have more orders on hand than they had a year ago at this time, so that they have nothing to complain of on that score.

There is, of course, practically no demand at all at the present time for rubber goods. There is nothing to make a call for summer goods are sold. The only thing left is rubber clothing for fall delivery and traveling men see now out after orders for that class of goods. They are meeting with as good success as could be expected, but still they are not sciling any very large quantities.

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., May 4 .-Never in the history of mountain railroading have the trains been so completely tied up a by rock slides as at the present time between Glenwood and Shoshone. Rio Grande passenger train No. 3, due here yesterday, was penned up for about 14ten hours by a rock slide eight miles up the canyon. The train due here last even- 78 ing is tied up in the canyon, but the passengers were transferred this morning. Last night a buge boulder came down from the mountain and crashed through the end of a Pullman car. One of the passengers suffered a broken rib, and several others were | 54 cut by broken glass. CATTLE—There were not enough cuttle one sale today to make a test of the market, though the few that did change hards did so at nominally steady prices. The supply of cattle this week has been jest about the same as for the previous week, and as the demand has been in good shape prices have not changed materially on anything at all desirable.

The bulk of the receipts all the week have been beef steers and the quality of the offerings as a whole has showed up it good shape. On some days there was a little weakness noticed and on others the market was stronger, so that taking the week as a whole the market has been just about steady. Packers seem to want all the cattle that are coming, and as a result each day's receipts were cleaned up in good season.

The supply of cow stuff has not been at each day's receipts were cleaned up in good season.

The supply of cow stuff has not been at all heavy this week, while the demand has been of very liberal proportions. The rearket has been in just about the same condition as the trade on steers, and the situation can best be described by calling it a good, steady, active market all the week. Bulls have also been ready sellers all the week, but no material change has been noticed in the prices paid. Caives and stags have also sold in just about the same notices all the week.

The stocker and feeder trade has been rather uneven the past week. The supply has been light and prices on choice stuff. The stocker and feeder trade has been rather uneven the past week. The supply has been light and prices on choice stuff reached the high point of the season. There were several bunches on the market this week that were better than anything that has been here for some time, and they sold from $5.00 up to $5.40. Choice cattle are selling from $4.75 to $5.40, and good to choice cattle from $4.25 to $4.75. The last end of the week buyers were not as anxious for supplies and the market eased off, particularly on the commoner kinds of stockers. Representative sales:

SHEEP-The supply of sheep the last week has been just about the same as for the preceding week. The demand on the part of packers, however, has been very light and the tendency of prices has been downward at all points. Chicago reports a decline for the week amounting to 25c, or 25g48; from the best time last week. The situation here is not far from the same. The greatest decline has been on the clipped sheep and they are a big 25c lower than the close of last week. Wooled sheep are at least 15g25c lower than the close of last week.

Good Cotorado lambs have been very scarce here this week and prices have held just about steady. Sales were made on Friday at 8.00g56, which is just about the same as the close of last week. Common lambs, however, are 15g25c lower if they have the wool on and a good quarter lower if clipped.
