The increase in wages was not due to the existing differences with the machinists and it is possible that it will not have the effect of settling that difficuly. Long before the machinists asked the company for more pay and a nine-hour day the general manager and his assistants were busy making out a list of the shop employes and arranging for the increased scale. peculiar case of the machinists the new scale will practically amount to establish ing a minimum wage of 29 cents an hour. The machinists have asked for a minimum of 30 cents. The present average minimum is about 27% cents and the new scale will give many of the men 30 cents per hour and some of them more.

0000 0000 0000 0000 0000 0000 A movement is on foot to secure the per mission of the property owners of South Omaha to an issue of bonds, the proceeds to be devoted to the purchase of one or more parks within the city limits. It is reported that Syndicate park can now be purchased for about $25,000, but owing to the condition of the city's finances it will be necessary to vote bonds for the purpose. In speaking of this matter yesterday one of the members of the park commission said that while he favored the purchase of Syndicate park, he was also of the opinion that one or two other parks should be bought in order to even up matters. A park is needed in the Third ward, where the laboring people and the children can enjoy fresh breezes, green grass and trees. If the Third ward gets a park then the old Second ward will want one and something may be done along this line, too.

In both the Second and Third wards, old boundary lines being considered parks, the size of Highland park can be secured for a comparatively small sum. A bond issue of $50,000 would more than pay the purchase bills for the proposed parks and leave something for maintenance. In case this question is seriously considered it will be brought up at a special election in order that every voter may have the privilege of expressing an opinion. At general elections the ticket is usually so long that the voter gets tired before he gets to the bond proposition and consequently a very small vote is cast. By holding a special election it is thought that the sentiment of the people can be secured with very little expense. The proposition may be submitted this Opposition Increases Interest.

The opposition of some business men to the proposed street fair seems to have only increased the interest in the affair and now it is a sure go. Several new members joined the association yesterday and there has been paid in over $2,000 on the first assessment. Every business man in the city is eligible to membership, all that is required is that he pay $125 at the time of joining and agree to pay an assessment of the same amount if called upon. At the meeting of the Board of Control yesterday everything passed off smoothly and it now looks as if the fair was an assured success A few moments reflection

Of course just now the principal interest centers in the concession committee, which is made up of Zack Cuddington, W. L. Helland, C. E. Scarr and P. A. Wells. Yesterday Mogy Bernstein submitted an offer for the confetti privilege, which was promptly accepted. Others are anxious for concessions and it is predicted that the fair will bring a great many people to South Omaha during the first half of July.

Settlement Rumored.

It was reported about the city building yesterday that on Monday night Councilman Fred Martin would introduce an ordinance repealing the present saloon occupation tax ordinance. This ordinance as it now stands calls for an occupation tax of $200 in addition to the $1,000 license fee. which goes to the school district. Up to the present time ninety-two saloonkeepers have advertised for licenses and if the occupation tax is allowed to remain it will bring to the city a revenue of $18,400. As there is a dearth of funds just now some of the members of the council are in favor of allowing the tax to stand in order to enable the city to pay off a few pressing debts. Even if Martin does introduce his ordinance there is no sure thing that it will pass. In the meantime the liquor dealers are holding back payment to the treasurer with the expectation that there will be something doing Monday night.

SOUTHAMPTON, May 4.—The trial of the Shamrock H today had a rather unforashere on a bank close to the Warner lightship. The trial was practically over and the Shamrock came sharp around the lightship to return to its moorings when she grounded on the sand. The wind was very light at the time and it slid upon the bank with a scarcely perceptible shock. There was not wind enough to pull it off and the There will be no 11 o'clock services at St. | Erin was signalled to send a launch, but Martin's Episcopal church today, but in- half an hour elapsed before the launch stead the rector, Rev. There is no intention of docking it, and there will be no interruption of its trials.

The start this morning was under excellent conditions. The sun shone bright and warm and a steady northeasterly breeze was blowing.

An immense amount of preparatory work has been satisfactorily carried out during the last week and everything essential was ready when Shamrock II left its berth. Sir Thomas Lipton and Charles Russell arrived last evening and saw the last touches put to the preparation. V. G. Jameson and Designer Watson followed this morning. Keen interest is shown in the trial and large number of yachts and steamers crowded with passengers accompanied Erin and Shamwork II. The challenger hoisted its mainsail at 11:40 a. m. and shortly afterward slipped its moorings and lying over till its leerail was almost awash went racing down South ampton water at a pace that made Erin drive along at full speed to keep it in view. Old Shamrock Not in It. The Shamrock I started shortly afterward with sheets well off and sailing fast. This is its best point of sailing, but so soon as the two got together and fairly started the cup challenger commenced to pull out in fine style and had a good lead as they came abreast of Calshot castle. The manner in which the new boat sailed suggested that the Shamrock I has little chance of proving a serious opponent in the trial races. The older boat set its topsail soon after, but by then the yachts had reached the open water of the Solent and parted company, the challenger going toward Cowes, while the Shamrock I started for the Hampshire side. The challenger proved distinctly fast and handy in turning, and, as well as could be judged from a yacht sailing alone, it seemed to point well into the wind. After spending a couple of hours slipping about in light winds off Cowes, the challenger made a long board toward Ryde. There a fresher wind was met, and going along with all canvas drawing well, the Shamrock II footed ahead in a way little short of marvelous.
