grandson of a former millionaire of that city, of whose estate he is trustee.

According to the evidence in the prose cuting attorney's hands Fitzgerald went to Taylor, just as Loss went to Barton, with a story of a profitable contract which it took $100,000 to secure, and Taylor advanced the money. This is supposed to be the explanation of the worthless $100,000 check certified by Edmund Schmidt & Co., and concerning which the council committee was charitable enough to suppose that Fitzgerald "has been imposed on by others." That Taylor advanced $100,000 is believed here by the prosecution to be susceptible of clear proof, but that it was used to guarantee the bid of Fitzgerald on the contract is not.

Barton Would Have Been Ont.

The theory on which the prosecution is working is that instead of the $100,000 being used as a deposit to guarantee the fulfillment of the contract if awarded, the worthless check was sent along with the bid and the money placed where it would do the most good.

That Mr. Inmann, the engineer who was out here in the interest of the Fitzgerald contract, was sincere in his belief that there was plenty of money back of the Fitzgerald bid is granted on all sides, and the theory of the prosecution is that Mr. Taylor is simply $100,000 out, just as Mr. Barton would have been $50,000 out had he not secured the indictment of Salisbury in Chicago.

The attempt now being made by the prosecution is to have Taylor come here It has secured a partia and testify. promise from him that he will and his evidence is awaited with interest.

Question of Jurisdiction.

Another reason why the Fitzgerald in stead of the Barton case has been decide upon as the chief basis of the prosecutio is that the dealings with Barton were al outside of the state of Michigan and ther is a question as to the jurisdiction of th courts of this state in the matter. Beside that Barton has either got his money back or says he has, and he cannot be brough here as a witness without his consent. The there is no evidence at hand that if an of the Barton money did remain in Gran Rapids it got into the hands of member of the city council.

In the Fitzgerald case the situation different. The council, while not awardin the contract, showed every disposition t do so and in the minds of well informe people here would have done so had covery of the character of the certified check and then the explosion following the indictment of Salisbury in Chicago and the subsequent 'evelations. After that nothing could have been done. munity had become too thoroughly wrought

That Taylor did, however, give $100,000 into the hands of third parties, in the expectation of getting what would have proven to be a most valuable contract, is expected to be proven by the state.

GUIDE FOR HORSE FANCIERS

New Blue Book that Shows Rating of the Equine Four Hundred.

That the importance of horse shows is now widely acknowledged is best demonstrated by the tounding of the "American Horse Show Blue Book." a work that is intended to provide a national register of all horses that have been exhibited at the important exhibitions throughout the United States. The establishing of such a register has been the natural result of the steadily increasing interest in horse shows and prominent breeders and fanciers have unanimously indorsed the work and are universal in their belief that the register has now become a necessity.

universal in their belief that the register has now become a necessity.

The compilation of the blue book is being directed by the Coach and Saddle Publishing company, Marquette building, Chicago, publishers of the illustrated horse show organ, Coach and Saddle. Over thirty prominent shows will be held during this year and in the preparation of the register an immense volume of information must necessarily be collected. Each show will be compiled separately and the official awards will be shown, as well as the descriptions, breeding, etc., of all horses and ponies exhibited.

The blue book will be issued late in the year, soon after the close of the national show at Madison Square Garden, New York.

Coops Shows St. Joseph How to Pitch Magnificent Ball.

M'ANDREWS ADDS LUSTER TO THE DAY

Not so Brilliant is Manager McKibbon of the Saints, Who Manufactures Mads in Right Field.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 12 .- (Special Telegram.)-Omaha played in great form today and won handily from St. Joseph. Coons was in the box for the visitors and. while apparently he was a little unsteady at the opening, he soon settled down and pitched magnificent ball. Third Baseman McAndrews made a running catch out on the foul line in the third inning that added luster to the general good work of the visitors.

Manager McKibben of St. Joseph, in playing right field, muffed three flies, letting in two men in the first taning. He also struck out twice. In the second inning Honeyman touched Coons up for a threebagger, letting in two men and tieing the game, but that was the best the home team did to the pitcher. Score: OMAHA.

WRESTLERS READY FOR BOUT

Coleman and Burns in Prime Condition for Their Match Thursday Night.

Frank Coleman, wrestler, has returned from Belleville. Ill., where he met Sam Stockey, a middleweight wrestler, who has achieved considerable of a reputation throughout his own state. Coleman found his man "easy money" and disposed of him in short order, taking the first two falls in less than fifteen minutes.

"Farmer" Burns, middleweight champion of America, who is to meet Coleman in this city Thursday night, will arrive from his Iowa home today. Both men will devote themselves to careful training between now and the time for their bout and his Iowa home today. Both men will devote themselves to careful training between now and the time for their bout and the match promises to be a good one. Coleman expects to have a better chance in the coming bout than he had before, for the reason that the weight of his opponent will be the same as his own, and he will not be handicapped in weight as he was in his former meeting with Burns.

The local man is preparing to make the effort of his life in this match. "I realize," he said, "that if I can beat Burns and get the middleweight championship I will be in position to meet the best of them and will be able to realize financially from the wrestling game. I am in splendid condition and believe that I will be able to beat Burns."
