

NEBRASKA SENATORS CONFER

Will Meet in Omaha Tomorrow and Discuss Problems.

FOUR CITIES WANT WORKMEN'S QUARTERS

Brilliant Speakers Engaged for University Commencement—Chancellor Andrews to Deliver the Baccalaureate.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, May 12.—(Special Telegram)—Senator Dietrich, who arrived today from Washington, S. D., will go to Omaha Tuesday to confer with his North Platte colleagues relative to senatorial matters. From the metropolis he will go to Chicago, but will return to Hastings early next week. He received numerous callers here tonight, but a reporter he said that his visit in the city had no political significance.

Headquarters of United Workmen. H. W. Laffin of Wyoming and several other members of the committee appointed to recommend a permanent location for the state headquarters of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, were in Lincoln tonight. Tomorrow they will go to Nebraska City, where a meeting of all the committees will be held for the purpose of taking final action. It is understood that the choice is among Omaha, Lincoln, Fremont and Grand Island. The results of their deliberations will be made public in a report that will be submitted to the grand lodge, which meets in Nebraska City this week.

Commencement at University. Non-resident speakers engaged by the authorities of the University of Nebraska for the forthcoming annual commencement will be Governor S. S. Thomas of Colorado, Gov. H. L. Marsh of Burlington, Ia., and Hon. Brooks Adams of Boston. Mr. Adams is a lineal descendant of John Quincy Adams. In recent years he has traveled and lectured in foreign countries. Chancellor Andrews will deliver the baccalaureate sermon and the address before the Phi Beta Kappa Scholarship society.

The official program for commencement week announces that a fee of 50 cents will be charged for admission to the commencement concert, which is one of the most popular events of the closing days of the school year. The regents authorized the departure from the old-established custom of having all exercises free to the public as a means of defraying the necessary expenses of the concert.

The senior class will undergo its final examination during the three days beginning June 4 and on June 8 (Saturday) the faculty will prepare their recommendations for degrees. Sunday, the following day, Chancellor Andrews will deliver the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating students in the new university auditorium. This is practically the first event of the extensive commencement. Monday morning the commencement will be in full blast and special exercises are scheduled for every morning, afternoon and evening for the remainder of the week, with the exception of Saturday.

Governor Thomas will speak before the college of law in the Oliver theater Monday evening. His subject will be "The Modern Lawyers." The address will be directed to the seniors in particular and to all other law students in general.

Annual Class Play. Tuesday morning the seniors of all colleges will present their annual class play in the Oliver theater and at noon on the same day there will be a reunion of the class of '98. In the afternoon there will be meetings of the Nebraska branch of the National Association of Collegiate Alumnae and the State Board of Regents. The program for the day will close with the commencement concert in the evening.

For Wednesday the program includes class reunions and dinners. The annual banquet of the university alumni, a meeting of the Board of Regents, the publication of the chancellor's annual report and the Phi Beta Kappa oration will be delivered by Chancellor Andrews at 2 o'clock in the afternoon in the Oliver theater. The subject will be "Greek Nationalism and Home Rule in the Fourth Century, B. C." In the evening Rev. Marsh of Burlington, Ia., will address the alumni on "The Ground of Fellowship."

Thursday morning the faculty and other university authorities and the graduating students will form in marching order at the university and proceed to the auditorium, where the degrees will be conferred.

TWO EPISCOPALIAN EVENTS

Convention of Women's Auxiliary and Council of the Diocese.

TRINITY CATHEDRAL THE MEETING PLACE

One of the Features Will Be a Public Reception for Miss Crummer, Who Has Just Returned from China.

Two Episcopal conventions of considerable importance will be held this week in Omaha. The first is that of the local and Episcopal clergymen and representatives from the entire eastern half of the state will be in attendance.

The first will be the annual convention of the Women's Auxiliary of the churches of Nebraska. This meeting will convene at Trinity cathedral Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, and will be presided over by Coadjutor-Bishop A. L. Williams. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock Miss Crummer, who has just returned from China, will give a missionary address, and at 4:30 Miss Crummer will speak to the children of the city.

In the evening from 8 to 10 o'clock a public reception will be tendered. Miss Crummer's residence will be in Trinity cathedral. This reception will be under the auspices of the Women's auxiliary, but will be participated in by representatives of all the missionary societies connected with the various denominational churches in the city.

Wednesday morning at Trinity cathedral the first session of the annual diocesan council of Nebraska will be held. It will be presided over by Right Rev. A. L. Williams. The agenda will include all of the Episcopal ministers in the Nebraska diocese and lay delegates representing all of the churches in the diocese. It is expected that there will be present about forty clergymen and nearly 100 lay delegates.

At the opening session Bishop Worthington's address will be given and Bishop Williams will give a minute description of his work. The afternoon meeting will be devoted to business matters.

Wednesday evening a banquet will be tendered the visiting Episcopalian by the churchmen of Omaha. This will be held at the Millard hotel and plates will be laid for 100 guests. An interesting program of toasts is now in course of preparation, and Dean Campbell Fair, who is one of the local committee having charge of the banquet, expresses the belief that it will be a most enjoyable and successful affair.

The entire day's attendance will be devoted to the transaction of such matters of business as may come before the council. It is expected that an adjournment will be reached Thursday afternoon.

DEAN FAIR AND THE RED MEN

Special Services at Trinity Cathedral in Honor of Anniversary. The several tribes and councils of the Improved Order of Red Men stationed in the reservation of Omaha celebrated the anniversary of their order yesterday by attending a special service held in Trinity cathedral Sunday afternoon. Dean Campbell Fair, himself a Red Man, delivered the address. The service was largely attended.

"It is the anniversary," he said, "of the birth of St. Tammany, a noted Indian who lived prior to the revolution. His name and virtues were adopted by the secret societies at that time in existence, furthering the then incipient independence from the authority of England. These societies were known as the Sons of Liberty, Children of the Forest and St. Tammany. Upon the success of the revolution and the independence of this country these societies became at first military and patriotic bodies and afterward political and social, as the great society of Tammany, which still exists in New York.

"The most noted change was that into the fraternal and beneficial organization now known as the Improved Order of Red Men, standing out, as it does today, in direct continuation of the past, perpetuating the Indian life, manner and customs and making itself a bond of union and helpful assistance for its members in all national and patriotic where its various tribes are located.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, looses something in the hair. It is covered with hair, and hair is the crown of woman's beauty. It is known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. It causes the hair to fall out, and when it falls out, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Hairdye, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the germ, dandruff and cures baldness. When you kill the germ you can't have the dandruff or thin hair. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Municipal Problems

P. Teumseh Sherman, son of the famous general of the civil war, and member of the municipal council of Greater New York, discusses in Leslie's Weekly the many problems of city government which press for solution. He says: "The problems involved in the government of our larger cities are too many and so complicated as to admit of any simple solution, but so complete has been our failure that we naturally look for some one radical error as its cause. In the prevailing reaction against the principles of democracy there are those who ascribe to that system the evils of our municipal governments, and support their conclusion by comparisons with model European municipalities. We may partly answer their argument by pointing out that, because of our large foreign vote, universal suffrage is being tested in our cities under very unfavorable conditions.

"But the true answer is broader, and is that we have not applied to the government of our cities the true principles of American democracy. The fundamental idea of our system of government is that all governmental functions should be ultimately controlled by the will of those affected by their exercise. Thus the majority of the people of the United States decide all matters affecting the nation as a whole. In the same way the citizens of each state control its affairs, and between it and the general government there is a line strongly marked which limits the latter's jurisdiction.

MRS. FREMONT COMES TO FAME

Wife of the Famous Pathfinder Gets a Belated but Merited Recognition. When President McKinley called on Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont, wife of the famous Pathfinder, he brought to public notice a woman whose life has been closely interwoven with the history of the west. Suddenly the discovery has been made that she is not only an historical character, but a writer of some note and ability. All of which recalls a story.

During the preliminary arrangements for the Transmississippi exposition Edward Rosewater, whose position a manager of the department of publicity and promotion gave him charge of the issue of commemorative stamps by the government, wrote to Mrs. Fremont asking her for a portrait of her husband to be used on one of the stamps. She had no portrait of the 5-cent denomination. During the correspondence with Mrs. Fremont it was suggested that she write an article on the growth of the west, as she remembered it, from the authority of an eye-witness. She wrote the article, and it was sent to one of another of the leading magazines and rejected by each in turn, until finally it was sent to the Chicago Times-Herald, and then the manuscript was lost. And now the newspapers here and elsewhere, who read astute magazine editors could not—that Jessie Benton Fremont is a writer of note.

Mrs. Fremont is fairly well acquainted among Omaha's older residents, having visited here some eighteen or nineteen years ago, when she was a guest of Judge Savage and family. Judge Savage was in command of a regiment at one time under General Fremont. The general had many friends here, and it is therefore not surprising that the late Benjamin Harrison was nominated in 1888.

How to Save Our Great Cities.

Improvement has sprung from within the cities themselves. And so long as this power of legislation over the cities' minutest affairs remains in the state governments there are too many influences demanding its use for us to hope that they will cease to exercise it. They may, therefore, be counted upon to continue to enact the cities' laws and to appropriate their moneys, leaving to the local governments only their present ill-defined powers of administration and disbursement. Under such conditions the chances of city government are doubled, and the municipal government is practically a mere puppet, and all responsibility is belated and lost. It is only natural, therefore, that city politics should have degenerated into a game between local and state parties, with the cities' moneys for the stakes. This condition of affairs can only be changed by uniting all the responsibility for local government in officials responsible to the people of the city, and securing it from state interference by constitutional protection.

HEROISM COSTS HIS LIFE

Boiler Washer Gives Married Friend First Chance to Escape.

STEAM COOKS HIS LIMBS AS HE WAITS

Trapped in Upright Boiler He Resigns Himself to Death that Another's Family May Not Be Bereft.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 12.—While William Phelps of Richmond, Ky., and James Stansbury of this city were cleaning the inside of an eight-foot upright boiler at the erecting works this afternoon, an employe turned on the steam, thinking the cock was tight. It leaked and the scalding steam poured in on the two men. The only exit was up a ladder. Both jumped for the ladder, but Phelps, who was first, took one step and stopped. He jumped aside and shouted, "You go first, Jim, you are married."

Stansbury sprang up the ladder and escaped with slight burns. Though Phelps followed at his heels, his act of heroism cost him his life. Both men were being cooked when Phelps jumped aside. By the time he had followed Stansbury up the ladder the flesh was dropping from his limbs. He lived for two hours in great agony.

"It was Jim's right to go first," said he, quietly. "He is married." Phelps had been boarding at Stansbury's house. Both men are colored.

ST. LOUIS, May 12.—The 600 and more employes who have been out on a strike for an advance in wages, will return to work today, it is believed, if some party will be accorded to the common laborers will be paid $5.00 instead of $4.00. Formerly a skilled laborer had been advanced 10 per cent over their former pay.

Fashions for the Season

Hint by Harry Lamb.

Woman's Princess Petticoat or Slip No. 2816, to Be Made With High or Low Neck, Long or Short Sleeves—Transparent, diaphanous stuffs make the favorites of the season and appear in bewildering variety. Every woman knows the comfort of a well-fitting slip, over which they can be worn and which can be made interchangeable at need. The advantages of the princess style are apparent at a glance. Corset cover and petticoat being combined, all folds and clumminess at the waist are avoided and the desired slender effect is obtained, in addition to which the foundation, being separate from the gown, can be made to serve for more than a single under skirt and bodice.

RIDE IS FOR HUMAN LIFE

Cowboy's Lightning Gallop Saves Both Dakota Woman.

SEVENTY MILES FOR A PHYSICIAN

Average of Fourteen Miles an Hour on Horseback Shows What High-hearted Westerner Can Do in Emergency.

RAPID CITY, S. D., May 12.—(Special.)—Charlie Howard, president of the Western South Dakota Stock Growers' association, sent a cowboy from his ranch at Smithville, seventy miles east of this city, to Rapid City for a physician to attend his wife, who was dangerously ill with pneumonia. The cowboy was to ride for his life. The seventy miles were covered without a stop in four hours and fifteen minutes. The doctor was found and by changing horses four times on the return the distance was covered in a little over five hours. The 140 miles were made in less than ten hours. This breaks the record for fast riding in this part of the west. Mrs. Howard is out of danger.

NEW SETTLERS NUMEROUS

Homesteaders' Excursions Bring Many People Looking for South Dakota Farms.

HURON, S. D., May 12.—(Special.)—The semi-monthly excursion over the Chicago & Northwestern railway brought a large number of homesteaders to this city and neighboring towns. Some have decided to buy lands. The busiest class of people in the community are real estate dealers. Land office officials report a lively business and indications point to an unusually heavy business during the present month. Those securing land are doing so with a view to becoming actual settlers. Among the new arrivals are many from Illinois and Ohio. Wisconsin also makes a contribution to the new population.

FUNERAL OF THOMAS MURPHY

Body is Shipped Here from Montana and Funeral is Announced.

The body of the late Thomas A. Murphy, who died at Anaconda, Mont., last Thursday, reached this city Sunday afternoon, and was taken to the family residence, 1511 California street. Funeral services will take place this morning at 9 o'clock at Holy Family church, followed by interment in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. The death of Mr. Murphy was a great shock to his family and friends. While his health was not robust it was not known that he was ill. In the last letter written to his sisters a few days before his fatal illness he spoke of his happiness in having obtained a position at Anaconda. The tone was cheerful throughout. The announcement of his fatal illness came in a dispatch from D. J. O'Donoghue, formerly of Omaha, followed by another dispatch conveying intelligence of his death.

Nero in The Circus—

Showing the haughty emperor surrounded by his senators, warriors, patriarchs and women, pausing for a moment to view the victims of the arena—These are in the form of a large bull now dead from the torture of the gladiators—Tied to the back and horns of the bull, companion in all the agony and torments, is the half nude figure of a beautiful woman, evidently a Christian martyr, freed at last by death from the awful atrocities. The above is a reproduction, beautifully hand-colored, from the original painting by Siemiradski, and is but one of the many subjects we carry in stock at all times—For the newest, most artistic in pictures and framing see our Art department.

AMUSEMENTS.

Misco's Tropicadero. A crowded house at the Tropicadero greeted Fred Rider's New Night Owls Sunday afternoon and evening, and if the initial performance can be accepted as a criterion, there is a big week's business ahead. The Night Owls are a strong cast and every turn seemed to make a hit. The Sobles and their pickaninies do an especially catching turn in the song and dance line, their turn being full of surprises and happy touches of humor and melody.

The Beer with the flavor of Hops. The pure hop-flavor—the true taste of rich, fragrant hops—is a distinguishing feature in Saint Louis A.B.C. BOHEMIAN. "King of all Bottled Beers." It is the beer of absolute purity. See it sparkling in bottle or glass. Note its bright golden color and fine effervescence—matchless in flavor, color and tonic qualities. It is especially the family beer—a perfect article for table use. Accept no substitute for St. Louis A. B. C. Bohemian Beer. Order From Our dainty book of menus—"Some German Suppers" free on request. The American Brewing Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Ask Your Physician. When a good physician prescribes beer for a patient it is Schlitz beer. A physician knows the value of purity. Ask him how germs affect beer and he will tell you that few stomachs can digest them. He will say at once that impure beer is unhealthful. You will know then why we brew Schlitz. under such rigid precautions—why we even filter the air that touches it; why we filter the beer, then sterilize every bottle. If you knew what we know and what your physician knows about beer, you, too, would insist on Schlitz. THE BEER THAT MADE MILWAUKEE FAMOUS. Try a case of Schlitz Beer, Tel. 191.
