It was purely a business meeting held by the city council last night, and while considerable business was transacted there was nothing of special note. board is anxious to see what contractors think of the work before deciding. In connection with these plans the committee on buildings and grounds, composed of National Registry Association to Meet Here | Ficence, Bulla and Miller, will see what the Robb property, adjoining the Hoctor property on the north, can be purchased for. It is stated that by securing this lot there will be ample room for the High school building without the purchase of the corner lot at Twenty-third and J Streets.

> There was some talk of submitting a bond proposition, but no action was taken, as the board desires to wait and see how much money will be derived from saloon licenses before going ahead with the plans for buildings.

WOMEN HAVE THEIR INNING

"Ladies' Day" at the Opening of Contest Between Omaha and Kansas City.

"White Wings" Tebeau and his bunch of Kansas City prize winners will make their initial appearance in Omaha today and will be greeted by a big crowd or fans. The Kansas City team stands at the head of the percentage column now, having won twelve of the sixteen games played, but Captain Stewart and his crew expect to put a crimp in the victorious march of the Missourians.

Such ball as the locals have been playing is likely to accompilsh the captain's expectations. It's pretty nearly a cinch that the Tebeaultes won't run away with three straight, as they did when the Rourke family visited them at Kansas City. Today will also be the first ladles' day of the season, and the fair sex will probably be present in great numbers to encourage their favorites in the contest with the champs. Reuse will pitch for Omaha. It will be his debut on the home grounds. The line-up follows:

Will Meet Canadians First.

Will Meet Canadians First.

LONDON, May 20.—According to private cable dispatches from New York the proposal of the English universities to hold an athletic meeting at Montreal before they meet the Americans in New York is opposed by Harvard and Yale, whose athletes want their meeting with the Oxford-Cambridge team to occur first. In referring to this a member of Oxford said:

"Oxford and Cambridge are not in the least likely to give way on this point. Quite apart from the probability that Toronto and McGill may prove a weaker combination than Harvard and Yale, and, therefore, that Oxford and Cambridge would naturally prefer, in their semi-trained stage, to compete with the less formidable opponents first, and leave their more formidable rivals for a later date, the Oxford and Cambridge men would be perfectly justified in protecting their own interests before anything else. We are receiving a continuous stream of advice not to court certain defeat by doing the bulk of our preparation in the vicinity of New York during the intense heat of August and most of September. Therefore, we are seeking more invigorating quarters in Canada, will complete our training there and will visit New York at the latest moment possible before the day of the sports, which may now be deferred to September 28, if the Canadian sports are fixed for September 14, as proposed."

NEW CHALLENGER FIRST IN

Shamrock II Bents Predecessor in Their Second Contest.

LIPTON FEELS MORE HOPEFUL NOW

Spirits Rise as the Youngster Improves, and Experts Promise that Still Greater Speed Will Be Developed.

RYDE, Isle of Wight, May 20 .- The two Shamrocks raced today over an open sea course, the first teg of which is a beat from Calshot castle to a mark cutside the light ship, and Shamrock II won. The wind was steady from the east and was blowing a clubtopsail breeze.

Sir Thomas Lipton's steam yacht Erin towed the yachts clear of the Isle of Wight and then both set their lower canvas. The challenger's new crosscut mainsail, though hoisted for the first time, seemed to set to perfection, better even than the Sham rock I's mainsail. When the Erin gave the signal to start the challenger, as usual, was kept a trifle in hand. It followed the Shamrock I about three lengths astern, but a length to windward. In a fine, fresh breeze the boats heeled well over to the press of their enormous sails, making great progress. The first tack was to starboard and they fetched along ten to fifteen minutes, both lying equally close to the wind and apparently footing at about the same speed. The Shamrock I tacked, and the challenger also came round under its weather quarter. The challenger then pulled up and the yachts fetched along, beam for beam, in a long, fast leg towards the island shore.

When they next went about they were still close together, but as they have about at different times there was considerable gap. As they stood off again in a northeasterly direction at this time, half an hour from the start, the boats appeared to be practically on the same footing as when they started. Neither had secured an appreciable advantage.

Challenger Takes the Lend.

Turning at the weather mark, the boats started sheets and reached along the wind for an island shore breeze. Soon after they jibbed around the Erin, still in close company, but with Shamrock II leading. The booms went over with sheets well out for a broad and easy reach for the line whence they started. The challenger held the lead on this point of sailing and was first to cross the line. The time at the finish of the triangular course of about seven miles was as follows:

Shamrock II The course gave them a fair test in beating windward and reaching free. For the purpose of testing the yachts down the wind, booms were squared away and spinnakers were set for a finishing trial before the wind from the Nab lightship to Southampton water. The Shamrock II continued to hold the lead, which it had gained over the triangular course The wind was fairly steady when they started the running trial, and the new challenger drew away in excellent fashion. On the short run from the Nab to the Warner lightship it gained move than a couple of minutes and passed the Warner leading by three minutes and four seconds. From there home the wind was soft and catchy and the gap was repeatedly closed and opened as they ran for their moorings. SOUTHAMPTON, May 20 .- (Special Cable.)-A light wind and smooth water suited the challenger, but Monday's performance is nevertheless regarded as satisfactory. But for Wringe's refusing to give way when on the wrong tack, it ought to have headed the old boat when beating to the windward. Jameson is quite sat-isfled with the great improvement that is possible. Lipton said be felt downhearted at the beginning, but his spirits rose as the challenger improved. All experts he had spoken to agree that the week's trials would disclose greater speed. BURNS SETTLES IN OMAHA Champion Middleweight Wrestler
