

LUTHERANS ELECT OFFICERS

Lively Contest Over Nomination of Billheimer of Gettysburg.

NEW YORK MAN'S NAME SUBSTITUTED

After Exciting Controversy the Pennsylvania Man Wins Report of the Board of Publication.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, June 4.—(Special.)—Within a half hour after the delegates to the Evangelical Lutheran synod came to order this morning they were in a lively set-to, which, though not equal in point of excitement to the controversy over the tea machine or the row over the report of the condition of the Lutheran church submitted by Prof. Wolfe of Gettysburg, Pa., nevertheless was of sufficient importance to cause the conservative element fans of a repetition of the scene of yesterday. The controversy arose over the report of the committee appointed to nominate officers for the Lutheran Publication society. The old board was re-nominated, except the president, Dr. Rev. T. C. Billheimer of Gettysburg, Pa., the name of Dr. R. B. Remondy of New York was substituted and for Mr. T. B. Patton the name of W. C. Steaver was suggested.

No sooner had the chairman, Dr. Hauslin, read the report than the floor of the convention was dotted with delegates striving wildly to get the attention of the chairman, Dr. S. F. Breckinridge. The champions of Remondy and of Billheimer lined up and while Remondy supporters approved the report of the nominating committee, the Billheimer advocates proceeded to cast aspersions at the members of that body and to suggest that state-making, partisanship, vituperation and logrolling and other things were a part of the movement to depose the Gettysburg man.

The officers of the Lutheran Publication society were declared elected as follows: President, Dr. Francis, Rev. W. M. H. Fisher, Board of Publication: Clerical—Rev. L. E. Albert, Rev. W. M. Baum, Rev. S. A. Holman, Rev. J. J. Young, Rev. T. C. Billheimer, Rev. W. H. Dunbar, Rev. A. H. Stuebner, Rev. F. P. Munbar, Rev. Charles E. Hay, Laymen—William M. Fisher, J. H. Smith, Prof. O. O. Poole, J. B. Downing, Frank Pearson, E. P. Elbert, W. C. Steaver, T. B. Stecker, Arthur King and James Fellows. The officers of the board will be elected at a later day.

Board of Publication Report.

Before the officers were elected for the ensuing year Rev. S. A. Holman, corresponding secretary, read the report of the board of publication, which included the reports of the superintendent, treasurer and auditing committee, together with a few miscellaneous items of information. The Lutheran Publication society owns and publishes nine periodicals and church papers, having a total subscription of 206,000. The report shows that since March 21, 1899, the net assets of the society have increased from $77,208.64 to $83,772.80, which includes real estate, printing plant, stereotype plates, store fixtures, book accounts and cash on hand. During the last year the amount of sales, ending March 29, 1901, were $77,306.92, an increase over two years ago of $7,772.80. During the last year the superintendent of the publication house has turned over to the board and society $7,000, which is $3,000 more than the amount the society could spare out of the business for the biennial period.

Two years ago the net assets of the society amounted to $93,056.06, while today they show an increase in value of $84,277.75. The following is the tabulated statement showing the net assets of the society: Real estate $6,757.57 Securities held by the society $1,471.01 Cash on deposit by the treasurer $4,781.01 Net assets as per report of superintendent $83,772.80 Total $93,762.39

Permanent Board of Arbitration.

Theodore H. Schmauck, the fraternal delegate from the general council of the Evangelical church, appeared before the synod this afternoon and before the course of his address made overtures looking to the establishment of a permanent board of arbitration to settle all differences and arrange for co-operation between the two churches. He is authorized to make certain suggestions tending to this end and to bind his church to a certain extent. He asked that a committee be appointed to meet with him and hear what he had to say. This was complied with by the synod. Dr. Schmauck said that he and the church he represented were opposed to anything like amalgamation, but were heartily in favor of co-operation.

When he meets with the committee Mr. Schmauck hopes to see the well recognized fact that at present two boards of foreign missions are operating in substantially the same territory and using translations of similar words, such as the Apostles' Creed, which differ in many particulars. He will ask the adoption of a single standard so that the people among whom the missionaries are working may not be able to say that the two bodies of Christians do not agree. The same situation exists with relation to home missions, with the exception that a board of arbitration already exists, but has never held a meeting. The publication houses of the two churches are within a block of each other and might co-operate in many ways if they had authority.

This evening was given over to the anniversary of the Lutheran Publication society.

TO LEAD THE SUFFRAGISTS

Convention at Minneapolis Selects the Association Officers.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 4.—The election of officers, which occupied four hours and crowded out the afternoon program of the National American Woman Suffrage association, resulted in the selection of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt as president, Mrs. Andrew H. Shaw, vice president-at-large, Miss Kate Gordon, corresponding secretary, Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, recording secretary, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, treasurer, Miss Laura Clay, first auditor, Dr. Cora Smith Eaton, second auditor.

Miss Gordon, who is the first representative among the national officers from the extreme south New Orleans, takes the place of Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery, while Dr. Eaton, a Minneapolis woman, replaces Mrs. Catherine W. McCulloch of Chicago. The resolutions reported by the committee were forthright and reaffirmed the arguments for equal suffrage and recited the progress made by the cause; paid a tribute to Rachel Foster Avery, the retiring corresponding secretary, and to the leading members who have died within the year. More state reports followed. Mrs. Emily S. Richards reported the loyalty of Utah to the cause. Mrs. Henry Waldo Coe said that work had gone steadily on in Oregon in spite of the defeat of the suffrage amendment.

Discusses Evil on the Isles.

State regulation of vice was one of the leading topics at this morning's session. The telegram to Secretary Phillips, W. commission, to Secretary Root on January 17, 1901, reciting that the military authorities in Manila had for two years subjected women of bad character to "certified examination," and the course of General MacArthur in defending such policy was the occasion for the introduction of a set of resolutions earnestly protesting against "the introduction of the European system of state regulated vice in the new possessions of the United States."

The reasons urged against such a course were: To furnish bad women with official status as a contrary to good morals and would impress both soldiers and natives as officially sanctioning vice; it was unjust to subject vicious women to compulsory medical examination not applied to vicious men; official regulation of vice, while in the hands of American commissioners, is quite ineffective in protecting public health, as shown by experience in Paris, where the system originated, by its abandonment in England, Switzerland and other countries and its failure everywhere it has been tried. The resolutions proposed in the name of the American commission against introducing in our foreign dependencies a system that would not be tolerated at home.

A program of great interest was presented tonight at the Woman's Suffrage convention. The principal address of the evening was that of Miss Gail Laughlin of New York, on the servant question. Other addresses were given by Dr. Francis Woods, Mrs. Ekils Meredith Deuver, and Miss Laura Gregg, Omaha.

CALLS THE ARMY TO ACCOUNT

Reformed Presbyterians Adopt Resolutions on Social Evil in Insular Possessions.

PITTSBURG, June 4.—There was a full attendance of delegates when Moderator Martin H. Smith, of the six-day session of the Reformed Presbyterian synod of North America, after devotional exercises Rev. R. C. Allen of Grove City, Pa., presented the report of the special committee appointed by the synod to inquire into evils of the insular-denominational societies, many of whose views on organized labor and secret societies are against those of the members of this synod.

The committee appointed to consider the resignation of Elder Walter Miller as treasurer of the literary fund reported in favor of accepting it and transferring the effects and publications of the church to Elder J. S. Tibbey of Pittsburg, who was recommended. The report was adopted unanimously and Mr. Tibbey was declared elected. He will also act as librarian of all the official church literature both in this country and Europe, and it will be placed in his care in the near future.

The report of the committee on work in the foreign mission field recommended that J. J. McKeown be appointed to the board in place of Thomas E. Green and that the following be added to the board: Rev. William George of Brooklyn, Rev. L. A. Blackwell of New York and Robert McNeil of New York. The report was adopted.

The committee on the repeal of the Chinese exclusion act had been placed recommended that a petition be presented to congress urging the repeal of the act and urged all pastors to transcribe it and have it signed throughout their congregations. The report of the committee was adopted. Instructions will be given to the ministers for the circulation of the petition.

It was decided to hold the next synod at Syracuse, N. Y., on May 28, 1902.

CONSULTS ABOUT CAILLES

Guerra Interviews Aguinaldo to Convince Deubting Insurgent General.

IS GIVEN UNTIL MONDAY TO DECIDE

If He Wants to Surrender and Take His Chances as a Prisoner He Must Do This Week.

MANILA, June 4.—Guerra, adjutant to General Cailles, had a three hours' interview with Aguinaldo today. He said that Cailles did not believe Aguinaldo had been captured and issued a proclamation capturing Aguinaldo's address to the Filipino people as an American traitor.

Aguinaldo, through Guerra, advised Cailles to surrender immediately. After his interview General Wado and General Sumner informed Guerra that Cailles must notify them at Pagsanjan not later than next Monday of his decision in the matter. The American generals declined to guarantee that Cailles would not be prosecuted. General Trias, in company with Senator Luchan, brother of the insurgent leader still operating in Samar, has gone to Samar island and will attempt to induce Luchan to surrender.

Some of the leaders of the federal party have prepared a resolution in which it is declared that the party will stand unmoved in the United States until commissioners several Filipino judges who have been recently removed from office. Upon the advice of the more rational members of the party, as well as certain American authorities, the resolution was not presented. The wisest of the federal party are convinced of the lack of wisdom in forcing disarmament, especially at a time when the administration at Washington is about to confer general civil government in the archipelago.

The commission tomorrow will resume the organization of civil government in the provinces. A bill has been prepared creating fourteen judicial circuits. The salaries of the circuit judges range from $3,500 to $5,500 a year. Judge Bates and Judge Ladd will probably be assigned to the circuits of Iloilo and Cebu, respectively.

GET FULL CIVIL GOVERNMENT

Philippine Islands Are to Have New System Installed Early in July.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—About the first of next month full civil government will be set up in the Philippine islands, exactly as projected by the Philippine commission. As soon after that date as the administrative machinery can be made ready for it the new Philippine tariff will be proclaimed, also following out the original plan of the Philippine commission. The decisions of the supreme court last week. It was also decided that there was no reason for an extra session of congress.

These determinations followed a careful study of the jurisdiction of the courts by Attorney General Knox and Secretary Root, the results of which were made known at the cabinet meeting today. After two hours' discussion the cabinet was unanimous in the opinion that the recent supreme court decision called for no change in the government's program. Secretary Root has had little doubt at any time since the court's action of the feasibility of continuing the execution of the Philippine program without violating any of the restrictions of the court, and his study of the court's opinion was mainly to make sure that he had not overlooked anything in the decisions that might qualify that belief on his part. He has not found anything in the decisions delivered to him that would qualify his original idea and has so advised the cabinet.

Attorney General Knox, after an independent consideration of the opinions, was of the same mind, so the original program will be carried out. The attorney general submitted to the cabinet an elaborate review of the supreme court decisions, with his conclusions thereon.

Legal Status of the Islands.

As to the legal status of the islands the officials have nothing to say, but while reserving full liberty to meet any legal attacks as may be thought best, the general statement is made that the exercise of authority in the Philippines is to be by virtue of the supreme power imposed in the territory. It may be either as commander-in-chief of the United States military department, or by special designation in the Spooner law; perhaps either, it is said, will be sufficient.

The civil government to be set up is to be established under the military government, and will be a civil government exercised through the military powers of the president. The collector at San Francisco will continue collecting duties on imports from the Philippines, as the collector has assured itself that the practice is legal, or at any rate that they are not bound to declare otherwise in the absence of a controlling decision by the highest judicial authority. The are of the court to announce a decision, in the court the diamond rings case—the one involving the legality of the imposition of the Dingley duties on goods coming from the Philippines—is regarded as warranting the belief that the court will not find in this case a parallel to the Dingley case.

The report of the Philippine commission, setting out in detail the complete scheme of civil government devised by them, is now in Washington and the legal difficulty being passed consideration will now be given to it.

It would not be feasible to notify Judge Taft by mail of his appointment as the first civil governor of the Philippines in time for him to assume office July 1, so this must be done by cable.

CORNELL SCORES HIGHEST

Leads with Twenty-Eight Points in the Athletic Contests at Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 4.—Clear skies, breeze, made an ideal day for the first athletic contests to be held in the Stadium at Buffalo, N. Y., today. Cornell, with 28 points, led the contest. Representatives of sixteen of the leading colleges and universities in the east and west participated today in the intercollegiate track and field events which marked the real opening of the stadium in sports. The quarter-mile cinder track and the 16-yard straightaway, located inside the oval, were the main features.

Duffy of Georgetown won the 100-yard dash in easy style, with Devera of Westchester second. The Madison brothers of Chicago were in fine form and won all of the events in which they started, with the exception of the 880-yard run, which went to J. M. Perry of Princeton. The finish in the 440-yard run was one of the most exciting of the day, with A. Maloney of Hamilton of Georgetown by a magnificent burst of speed at the tape. S. S. Jones of New York outclassed his field in the 220-yard run. The showing in points made by the different colleges and universities are: Cornell, 28; Georgetown, 27; Westchester, 19; Hamilton, 17; Princeton, 16; Purdue and New York, 5 each; Amherst, 2.

NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Omaha Woman Publishes a Little Volume of Essays.

INSECTS OF EVERY KIND AND SIZE

Morgan Robertson's Story of the Sea—Stories of the Northland—Portrait Collection of Short Stories—Abraham Lincoln.

A finely printed and uniquely bound volume has made its appearance this week under the very taking title, "People and perplexities." The general appearance of the volume is so pleasing and cover design would be sufficient to attract the attention of anyone glancing over the attractions to be found on the shelves of the booksellers. The little volume, however, will have an additional interest to the readers of this city from the fact that the author, Miss Mary Fairbrother, is a resident of Omaha, the editor of the Woman's Weekly and a hard worker in all matters pertaining to woman's club affairs. Rose E. Strawn contributes the preface, in which she pays a high compliment to the author's work, which, however, must be read to be fully appreciated. The little volume is made up of five essays: "Robinson Crusoe," "Omar Khayyam and His Rubaiyat," "Two Shakespeare Women," "A Mother's Symphony" and "Living at School." All of the essays are most pleasing in character and well worth reading, and being the work of an Omaha woman, are deserving of careful attention on the part of the Omaha reading public. Published by the Omaha Engraving company.

"Masters of Men," by Morgan Robertson, is a lively story of life and adventure at sea on board of a modern man-of-war. The hero of the story leaves his home in a city of the United States navy. Many adventures are gone through with, culminating in the sea fight of Santiago, in all of which the hero rises above the difficulties surrounding him. A love story runs through the narrative, adding to the general interest felt in the welfare of the hero. Doubleday, Page & Co., New York. Price, $1.50.

No gold prospecting miner in Alaska has unearthed a greater treasure than has Jack London in that same rugged country, to which he has been "banished at the railroad's end." Mr. London has found among the hardy miners and trappers a life full of daring, unfeigned action and intense humanity. In "The God of His Fathers," which is just at hand fresh from the press, he tells the story of a mixed people, gathered from no one knows where, with a history no one ever asks. He has lived with them and knows their trials, their perils and their ambitions in their terrible struggle for fortune. Mr. London has a vigorous manner of narration, telling the thing as he knows it, with a force that goes home. A man of many-sided experience, a deep-water sailor, sealer and longshoreman, he passed one year in the north, in which the Klondike fever called him and from which the surveyor drove him. McClure, Phillips & Co., New York.

Messrs. Harper & Bros. have begun the publication once a month of a "Portrait Collection" of short stories, thus called because the dainty cover design will be signalized by a portrait of the author whose work lies beneath the covers. The first volume in the series is "A Pair of Patient Lovers" and is gathered from the work of William Dean Howells. The second volume of short stories will be from the pen of Lillian Bell, with the title "Sir John and the American Girl." Lillian Bell has been said, knows the American girl from the inside and has had exceptional opportunities of observing the genus abroad. We are given to understand that the American girl in Europe is a different species from Henry James' early conception; it is certainly a far cry from Daisy Miller to Edith Jovee, the American girl who captures the elderly Sir John and innocently engages his wife.

"Montano, Or the Slavers of Old New York," by William O. Stoddard, has the groundwork of a good story. The center and inspiration of its activities is New York City at the close of the war of independence, and while black slaves are still held to some extent in bondage there, and in some other of the northern colonies. Among several of the characters there are characters in Dr. Montano, who for some years has been secretly engaged through confederates in the business of slave trading and piracy. The capture of one of his slave-laden vessels by an American privateer, exposing his crime, and his subsequent outlaw of the sea, and his sudden death leaves his only daughter the unexpected possessor of a world of piratical wealth, which she turns over to the Continental army. The descriptions of some of the sea experiences are amusingly absurd. Henry Altemus Company, Philadelphia.

C. H. Bromley and R. M. Outhwaite have written a strong story of the early days of Australia in "The Wisdom of Exams." It differs from the average story of Australian life in the absence of a sensational theme, the authors having preferred to deal with the abuses of the system of porting out land to settlers in the early days. On this theme they have worked up a strong story of sharp practice and rugged independence and honesty that is refreshing reading. It is evidently written with a full understanding of conditions in Australia during the period covered by the story. The characterization is good and the style pleasing. Cassell & Co., New York.

Another one of those delightful nature books which are rapidly taking the place of fiction in the homes of our people, is "The Lives of Two Robins," by Effie Binnett. It is the story of the lives of two robins. How they came by accident into the care of the writer and how she cared for them until they became the most wonderful pets that can be imagined. Bird lovers will be greatly entertained by this simple, hearty and children's instruction in the pages of the little volume. Baker & Taylor Co., New York.

DANDRUFF WON'T WASH OUT.

The germ that causes it has to be destroyed to cure Dandruff. Many a woman spends an hour twice a week scouring her scalp, thinking scrubbing off the scurf will cure the dandruff. Two hours a week, at the age of 40 years, she has spent 250 days of twelve hours each, or two-thirds of a year of her life, in that vain hope; vain, because you can't cure dandruff without killing the dandruff germ, and the only hair preparation on earth that will do that is Newbro's "Herpicide," also a delightful hair dressing and thoroughly antiseptic against all contagion from use of other hair brushes. It is also a delightful hair dressing.

Tim Ormsby's Ruse

How He Jollied a Downhearted Cadet.

Tim Ormsby crimped the fire end of his cigarette so the tobacco wouldn't roll out, then hitching his chair into the deeper shade and elevating his feet to the railing of the jail porch, felt in his vest pocket for a match. "Yes, sir," said he, "I never passes up a chance to jolly a kid that's in hard luck. We was all kids once and know how it is when things comes rocky. I remember once a big slob thumps me for soakin' his sister's hair in the inkwell, and while I'm standin' on the street leakin' and blubb'n' a cent comes out and gives me 10 cents, and tells me I'm a nice, pretty lad, and then I goes and gets a dime's worth of fneest, an' it's all right. Well, sir, that gent was a straight fusk with me from that time. You can't make me believe he was what he never held a meeting, calls one o' nature's noblemen. Have you got a match?" There was no match forthcoming, and Tim began a canvass of his pockets for the seventh time. "Now, there's my landlady's little Tommie. He's that blue ever since he gets back from the 'campment down to Ashland that he don't know whether to turn on the gas an' go to bed or jump off the cabin-edge of the Henrietta. It's somewhat unusual to see symptoms of melancholia in one so young."

How He Jollied a Downhearted Cadet.

"Symptoms of what? Don't make no jump for 'em, friend. 'Em? He's over the place. No? It ain't that bad. He jist sets around an' moons; that's all—feels that he's on the military tobagan, an' nothin' can stop him. All the other kids has cut him, he says, an' Benedict Arnold ain't in it with him for disgraces. It's a shame, that's all. A private ain't got no show against them shoulder straps, but you don't ketch me lettin' on to him. I says, 'Tommie, cheer up.' I says, 'Everybody in town don't know that you was done my duty.' he says, 'I never douses my gilm at taps. I can't see a first lieutenant, and I assens the corporal of the guard, but it's no good. They never run me in.' "Then I says, 'Tommie, I says, 'It looks like you was up against the machine gun this mornin'.' He says, 'I never says. You ain't the only one that's under the ban an' sent to Devil's Island. Think of the kid that his mama calls up Commandant Pearse by long-distance an' asks him to see that the blankets is tucked around his boy's feet every night. I says, 'He brightens up a bit at that an' looks
