NOBODY MAKES A SUGGESTION OF ERROR

Cleanest Sort of Play, and in the Matter of Scattered Base Hits Omaba is Away in the Lend.

Not a blomish marred the base ball game at the Vinton Street park yesterday, and the only pity was that the men from St. Paul got one run, while the Omahans secured none. It was one of those paradoxical things, the victory seemingly going to the team which didn't do the work. Just one man won it for the Saints, and that was Parker, the right fielder, who by a home run, which cleared the fence, earned the right in the fifth inning to trot around the

In almost every other way Omaha ex-celled, although the play was absolutely St. Joseph . errorless on both sides. Pitcher Herman did the work of his life, allowing but three hits, while the locals pounded seven off McGill Again, Herman struck out six men to McGill's five, and, although he allowed three bases on balls to McGill's one, none of the trio made any difference, as they were all in innings that were blank as to score.

So it seemed a shame that the Saints should win over what was probably superfor playing on the part of their opponents, but there was no getting around that home run, and it proved the insurmountable obstacle in the way of a tie or a victory in the ninth inning.

Full of Remarkable Plays.

The game was not only clean; it abounded in remarkable plays as well. Each side made two double plays, one of which for each team constituted the chief features of the game, for these two were accomplished in each instance by just two players. Probably the most sensational of all was the one the visitors made in the last half of the ninth inning. It was Omaha's last inning, and the score was only 1 to 0 in St. Paul's favor. Everyone was sure that this could be overcome, and the boys went in to do all that was expected. Letcher was thrown out at first, but Calhoun made a beautiful two-bagger, the only one of the game. Then Reid came to bat. He knocked the hottest kind of a grounder down to third base, and it looked like a hit. But Brain deceived the crowd by lapping up the ball and putting it upon Calhoun, who was running down from second. Then the third baseman cast the sphere across the diamond in plenty of time to catch Reid there, and the game was ended.

The other double play which took but two men to accomplish, was perpetrated by Gonding and Stewart in the seventh. Ryan made a hit and posted himself at first Werden fouled out to Gonding. Then Brain repeated this, putting up a high foul which took the catcher clear back by the grandstand. Gonding ate it up, however and then Ryan tried to make second base on the catch out. The ball beat him there, and Stewart did the rest. The side was

People Still Wonder.

People are still wondering how Omaha lost that game, and they intend to have revenge today, when Eddle Gordon and the famous Brietenstein will hold down the box by turns. However, it is unlikely that the collegian can do any better than Herman did, for the tall man made a fine record. So it would appear that if Mr. Breitenstein can keep the Omaha hits as weil separated as did McGill today the Rourke men will have to look to their laurels. McGill certainly deserves great praise, for he gave only one base on balls and managed the distribution of those seven hits so effectively that they counted for naught except a batting average.

Third Baseman McAndrews was the star for the locals. He was the only man to steal a base, and the only man to sacrifice. Then he made a beautiful safe drive over second base besides, and made a phenomenal record of one in his position of six clean assists out of six chances. Two of these were almost impossible. Score:

Event is for Two-Year-Olds at Five Furlongs and Is Run in 1:02 4-5-The Parader Wins Broadway Stakes.

NEW YORK, June 8 .- The Great American track today. John E. Madden's Blue Girl, rather slow track with the next four horses heads apart, Nasturtium, the favorite, getting the place from Major Danger field. The Great American was for twoyear-olds at five furlongs. Nasturtium was held at even money, while Saturday, Blue Girl and the Gold Finder were about equal second choices at 5 and 6 to 1. Eight horses started. Blue Girl and Major Dangerfield rushed out to make the running, but the others, with the exception of Saturday, were close up and racing in a bunch. On the far turn Nasturtium was sharply cut off. Blue Girl, Major Dangerfield and Whisky King was the order coming into the stretch and when they were straightened out for home Blue Girl drew away and won eleverly by two lengths. Garrigan, on the favorite, claimed a foul against the winner, but the stewards would not allow the claim. The Parader won the Broadway stakes rather easily from AM Green and Vitellius, the other entries refusing. The Parader was an odds-on favorite and led all the way. Results:

Mishaps and Bad Riding Mar the Running.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Mishaps and bad riding were the features of today's sport at Hawthorne. After nearly everybody had fallen in the steeplechase and Saliust had won by about a quarter of a mile. Herodiade, the favorite in the Juvenile stakes, was the subject of a wretched ride by Coburn and came in fourth, the winner turning up in J. V. Kirby. Pronta, who finished third, swerved and interfered with Herodiade, for which Pronta was disqualified, the favorite getting third money. After all of these mishaps Lady Schorr, the even money favorite in the overnight handicap at a mile and an eighth, was beaten by Wild Pirate, who was 10 to 1 in the betting. The steeplechase was the spectacular feature, with its numerous tumbles. Isen, one of the horses that fell, was the subject of a plange in the betting ring. His rider remounted him and got second money. Weather clear and track good. Results:
