Asks for Writ of Mandamus Compelling Railway Company to Carry Him. His Wife and Offspring Without Giving Up Nickels.

A street car pass, good for fifty years, jury. on which he, his wife and two children may ride free on any of the lines operated by the Omaha, Council Bluffs & Suburban Railway company, is what Charles R. Hannan, president of the First National bank of this city, asserts he is legally and lawfully entitled to. In order to compel the company to issue such a pass, President Hannan yesterday began action in the superior court in the nature of an applicaion for a writ of mandamus.

President Hannan recites that he, jointly with Emmet Tinley, was on or about June 26, 1900, and had been for time prior, the owner of a certain franchise granted by the city of Council Bluffs to the Council Bluffs, Lake Manawa & East Omaha Construction company. This franchise was assigned to the Omaha, Council Bluffs & Suburban White's Corners, N. Y., and had been rectly north through the country and to Ratiway company. One of the considerations, he alleges, for the assignment of the franchise, among other things, was the him. The funeral, which will be private, agreement on the part of the street railway company to furnish Mr. Hannan and the members of his family with tickets entitling him and each member of his family to ride at will on all cars operated by the Suburban company upon any of the streets This agreement, President Hannan contends, was partly in writing and partly oral, and was made part of the minutes of survive her. The funeral will be this afterthe session of the board of directors of the defendant company.

He says he has repeatedly demanded that the company fulfill its agreement, but that it has persistently refused to do so, and that instead of enjoying the distinction of riding on a pass he and the members of his family are compelled to pay their fare.

President Hannan asks the court to isdetendant company to issue him a pass he and Emmet Tinley assigned to the Omaha, Council Bluffs & Suburban Railway company.
