TROUBLE IS NOT SERIOUS

Friction Between Cattlemen and Sheepmen Proves Not as Bad as Reported.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 14 .- (Special.)-A correspondent has returned from a trip over the state, where he investigated the troubles between the sheepmen and cattlemen over the range matters. He found that the trouble is desultory in character and there is no organized movement among the cattlemen of the state against the sheepmen. All of the disturbances that have occurred have been confined to certain localities where the two interests failed to live up to agreements entered into or where sheepmen came in and were unacquainted with conditions. In the Sweetwater country, where it was feared there would be serious trouble on account of the reported arming of the sheepmen and the enlistment of the services of mounted rangers to protect their flocks, everything has quieted down. The cattlemen and flockmasters have divided the range satisfactory to both factions and no further trouble is feared. In the Big Horn country, also in southwest Wyoming, where there have been numerous disturbances, the same conditions prevail.
