New and Interesting Chapter is Written in Noted Litigation.

MISSING WITNESS COMES TO THE FRONT

Long-Lost Lawyer, Writer of the See and and Disputed Instrument. Has Been Found and Previous Action is Overturned.

Falls City at the next term, the bill iu principal defendants Thursday.

The man who wrote the second will, the one refused probate by the county judge, has been found and has made affidavit bearing out practically all of the contentions of the attorneys for the plaintiffs which they were unable to prove at the trial held in the spring of 1900.

When Stephen B. Miles, the millionaire farmer of Richardson county, died in 1898. a will was offered for probate which devised and bequeathed practically all of his property to one son, Joseph H. Miles. The other descendants of the deceased millionaire contested the probating of the will and produced another which they claimed to be the last will of the decedent. At the trial in the spring of 1900, it was impossible to produce the man who wrote the will for Miles and the contention of the attorneys for Joseph Miles, that the second will was spurious was sustained.

New Testimony is Found.

In the hill for a rehearing of the case. the application is made upon the ground that new and conclusive testimony as to the validity of the second will has been secured. This showing is made primarily upon the affidavit of one, Paul T. Gadsden, an attorney of St. Louis, who testifies that he drew up the will at the suggestion of the elder Miles and that it was witnessed by T. H. Miller, the manager of the St. James hotel, and by Joseph Quinn, the clerk, at the same house, as testified to by them at the first trial.

According to John L. Webster, one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs in "the first case, the discovery of the existence of Gadsden was accidental. The story of Mr Webster, supported by affidavit of the principal actor, is as follows:

In 1897 Gadsden was boarding at the home of Thomas L. Cannon, who for many years has been secretary of the St. Louis Manufacturers' association. One day in that year he told Mr. Cannon that he had beaten at the first trial. When S. B. Miles drawn up a will for a Nebraska man which died he left the bulk of his estate, valued disposed of $1,500,000; that the maker of at $1,500,000, to his son, J. H. Miles, and the will did not look like he was worth any money at all, but that he had made the three daughters, they receiving but commost of it as a mail route contractor; that he had made a previous will in which he ately took steps to have the will set aside had left the must of his property to one upon the death of their father. When the REOPENING OF MILES WILL son, but now desired to change it. Mr. Cannon affirms that he thought no more of the matter until the reports of the trials of the Miles will case was given sensational features in the St. Louis papers; that he then attempted to communicate with Smith P. Galt, an attorney for the plaintiffs, but the lawyer was out of town and he had no opportunity to give him the facts until reently. He further said that Gadsden had left St. Louis some time afterward and was at that time residing in the City of Mexico.

Searching for Gadaden.

As soon as the attorneys for the plaintiffs received this information they started a search for Gadsden. He was not located in the City of Mexico and the search was The Miles will case is to be reopened in extended to other places in the republic the district court of Richardson county at While this was in progress Gadsden returned to St. Louis, where he was located, equity for this purpose having been filed and examined by the attorneys. His affida-June 12 and service secured upon the vit, now in the hands of Mr. Webster, bears out the assertion of the plaintiffs as to the time the will was made and the circumstances under which it was executed: that the will was made in the St. James hotel and witnessed by the manager and clerk of the house. He further, from memory, gives a general idea of the terms of the will, showing that the elder Miles desired to divide his property equitably between his heirs.

A third affidavit in support of the other two is in the hands of the attorneys. It was made by Eliza A. Wilson, who, in 1897, was a stenographer in the office of Gadsden. In this affidavit Mrs. Wilson testifica that she copied but one will while in that office and does not remember the name of the party making that, but she does remember that it was for a man from Neoffice in the Security building and asked
