was ordered committed to the state asylum for the insane. The information charging rant for the premises occupied by Balduff Short with mental derangement was filed at Manawa. H. P. Collins appears as comby Chief of Police Albro, at the solicitation of a number of business men on Broa .way, who have been annoyed by his open preaching." Short is 71 years of age and is one of the old residents of the city. Several years ago Short became imbued with the idea that his mission in life was Omaha. to preach to the people. With his long white hair and beard he was a familiar sight on the streets. His usual custom was to secure a dry goods box, which be used as a platform and from it he would speak for hours at a time until he became exhausted. His utterances were incoherent and although his peculiar actions generally attracted an audience, no one was ever able to understand what he was talking about. He lived alone in a two-story large brick building at 808 West Broadway, which he owns, and in which he in the years gone by conducted a grocery store. He believed await the action of the grand jury. His it was wrong to pay taxes and refused to rent any portion of the building, with the result that his property will shortly be foreclosed. His wife died about a year ago and he has no relatives here. T. G. Turner, vice president of the First National bank, was appointed his guardian recently by the district court. Short is a

The class promoted this year from the eighth-second to the High school is the smallest in years. Last year ninety-five were promoted, but the smallness of the 100 class this summer will be offset by the class next February, when Superintendent Clifford expects that least 120 pupils will be promoted to the High school, being the largest class ever entered. There were several pupils in this year's class who failed in one study and it is expected that some 8,000 of these, at least, will make this up during the vacation and be able to successfully pass the examination before the opening of school in September, when they will be permitted to take their places in the High school. The enrollment at the High school this year has been 455, with an average attendance of 380. Thirty graduated only, so it is anticipated that the enrollment next September will be larger than for the year just closed.
