Colonel Sutton Says That is What Pingree Was Doing Abroad.

THREE GREAT PLANS IN HIS MIND

Reclamation of Pine Wastes, Rotation of Crops and Importation of Boers to Settle as Citizens.

STROIT, June 19.—In an interview in New York this afternoon with a staff correspondent of the Detroit Journal, Colonel E. H. Sutton of this city, who was the traveling companion of ex-Governor Pingree during his trip through South Africa and Europe, said:

"Hazen S. Pingree went to South Africa largely for the purpose of putting into practical effect three gigantic schemes for the benefit of the people of Michigan.

"First, the reclamation of the immense pine wastes in Michigan by planting trees. He went to the Bavarian black forest to expand this idea and overworked so much that he hastened his death.

"Second, the rotation of crops in Michigan. In pursuit of this scheme he went to Egypt, where such a system is enforced by the government.

"Third, the transportation of every patriot Boer and his family who desired to come to the United States. He quizzed British officials on this subject, gained their approval of it and had an appointment to consult with Kruger about it, which was only prevented by the governor's illness.

"It was his idea to interest some Michigan capitalists in the plan and provide lands for the Boers along the railroad systems. He thought that these capitalists could secure very low transportation rates from the seaboard to the farms and be prepared to get the British government in some roundabout way to provide ships for the Boers' transportation from Africa to this country. A number of English officers now in South Africa and some eminent public men in England took this plan seriously and thought well of it, provided it could be carried out without the British government's aid in the matter becoming known.

"While studying the Black forest in the interest of his reforestation idea Governor Pingree even secured the names of a number of keepers who would be willing to emigrate to Michigan and assume care of the forests he proposed to plant."

"Knights of Honor Get Through. MILWAUKEE, June 19.—The supreme lodge, Knights of Honor, concluded its session this forenoon by adopting the report of the committee on organization and installing the new corps of officers.

Salt Rheum

You may call it eczema, tetter or skin crust. But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, owes its existence to the presence of humors in the system.

It will continue to exist, annoy, and perhaps agonize, as long as these humors remain. It is always radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla which dispels all humors, and is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions.

MOLINEUX PLEADING ENDS

Appeal for New Trial Submitted to Seven Judges.

DECISION RESERVED FOR SOME MONTHS

Convicted Poisoner of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams Won't Know Until Fall Whether He Gets Another Chance for Life.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 19.—The fate of Roland B. Molineux, convicted of murder as the poisoner of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams at New York in December, 1899, is in the keeping of the seven judges of the court of appeals, who for three days past have been listening to the arguments for and against a new trial. The appeal was finally submitted this afternoon to the seven and the decision will not be announced until some months hence, when the court sits at Albany for the fall term.

The strange crime, with its complicated plot and manifold mystery, retains a strong hold upon popular interest. The crowd that sought admission to the court room this morning was larger and more determined than ever and the bailiffs had to resort to force to restrain them. The principal speaker was former United States Senator David B. Hill, who in the course of the case, who had three hours and fifteen minutes of his allotted time left when court opened at 10 o'clock. He spoke until 1:15, and John G. Milburn, attorney for Molineux, was heard for twenty minutes in concluding reply.

Mr. Hill was again forceful and eloquent. He declared that the question of guilt was the main issue in the case and warned the court not to heed a plea that dealt in technicality and urged objections to some of the rulings that had not substantially affected the rights of the accused. If the courts were to be thus swerved from the pathway of duty he suggested that murderers might organize a trust and all enjoy freedom. In dissertation on the "last best of the court" down a long line of authorities and decisions, all aimed at sustaining the use of the Barnett evidence and the policy of the lower court toward the exhibits of handwriting at the trial. In this admirably told story he made frequent reference to the famous "Thorn case in England, tracing similarity of admission of certain writings to prove perjury on the part of the luckless claimant and in the policy of objection and obstruction on the part of the defense.

Insists Case is Proven. In finally summing up, Mr. Hill reviewed the points made by him yesterday, step by step traced out the main features of the theory of the people. He insisted that it had been proved by overwhelming evidence that Molineux had written the letters and been present at the poisoning. He said the gull was clearly established. He said it was not material who bought the bottle, and drew attention to the fact that Seeler, Molineux's friend and assistant, had never left New York after the arrest.

Mr. Hill also dealt with the contradiction of testimony for the state that he was accompanied by a Mr. Buckley, a neighbor. The witness started to tell what a sleepless night he had spent before the shooting and about his nervous and excited condition. He said that he had seen two men, the prosecutor and the objection was sustained. Barker's testimony showed the passing of words with Keller before the shooting and contradicted the statements of the latter yesterday when on the witness stand. Barker contended his counsel had been examining by his counsel and contrived to make several allusions to the wrong which Keller is alleged to have committed. In several instances objections by the prosecuting attorney were overruled. A witness denied a quarrel he had with Keller because the latter had borrowed $3 from Barker in April, 1899, the last of which was paid in March, 1900. Previous to that incident the relations of Keller with witness and his wife had been friendly. They frequently bicycled together and witness presented Keller with a bicycle. Witness said he did not know until January that his wife had left Mr. Keller's church.

Barker then described what took place at the house where Mrs. Keller was lying when the witness was taken there from Kearney. He said that he asked Keller in a low voice if he knew him. Mr. Keller was unable to recognize him. Barker went on to say that he had seen Keller on the morning of the shooting. He saw Keller coming up Beech street. "I waited for him," said Barker, "because I wanted to speak to him. He was coming toward me."

Barker said he knew the time Keller usually went to church Sunday mornings, but he had no intention of meeting him when he left his house that morning. The revolver which he bought a month before the shooting was in his pocket. He fired four shots at Keller, standing in front of him all the time. He did not shoot while Keller was lying on the ground. The second and third shots were fired while Keller was turning around and saying, "Don't, don't."

Both Mr. Hill and Mr. Milburn were professed enthusiastic congratulations for their noble efforts.

MORRISON DEFENSE IS NEXT

State Rests After Closing Testimony with Recital of the Killing of Mrs. Castle.

ELDORADO, Kan., June 19.—After only two days of testimony in the trial of Miss Morrison took the stand in December last to tell in her own defense of the fatal quarrel with her rival, she testified that Mrs. Castle had called her to the house and started the trouble. At that time an affidavit of A. J. Morgan, a peddler, who swore that he heard Mrs. Castle say that she intended to kill Morrison, was presented. Morgan could not be found, but it is now said the defense has located him and will put him on the stand. Other new witnesses may be introduced by the defense on the plea of self-defense.

The evidence today consisted of the deathbed statement of Mrs. Castle, in which she accuses Miss Morrison of calling upon her unbidden, beginning a quarrel and then slaying her with a razor, and the introduction of witnesses who described the scene at the Castle house on the morning of the fight.

The state today began its presentation to the jury of evidence bearing directly on the killing of Mrs. Castle. The recitation of the death struggle in the Castle home on the morning of June 22, a year ago, between the two women caused the crowd of spectators in the court room to look on in breathless silence. It also had an effect on the jury. First the dying declaration of Mrs. Castle, which

BOER MEETING IN LONDON

Queen's Hall Won't Hold the Thousands Who Attend.

JINGOES GATHER AND MAKE TROUBLE

Some of Them Wave Union Jacks and Propose Counter Resolutions While the Meeting is On and Trouble ensues.

LONDON, June 19.—Thousands of people began collecting outside of Queen's hall two hours before the advertised time of the Boer meeting held there tonight. When the doors were finally opened the pressure of the surging mob was so great that many people fainted. There was considerable disturbance and windows were broken in during the attempts made by persons without tickets to gain admission. Some of these were expelled. In spite of the vigilance of the promoters of the meeting, many jingoes gained an entrance to the hall, which was crammed from floor to ceiling. Much shouting, mingled with cheers, greeted the delegates on their arrival, and during the evening the delivery of speeches was attended by some difficulty.

Henry Labouchere presided at the meeting and besides J. W. Sauer, commissioner of public works, Cape Colony, John Dillon, leader of the nationalist party, David Lloyd George, Welsh nationalist; James Kier-Hardie, socialist, and Sir Wilfrid Lawson were present.

Rival Demonstration. During the meeting fully 10,000 jingoes gathered outside the Queen's hall on Regent street, blocked traffic and necessitated relays of policemen to keep a semblance of order in the crowd. Several men mounted the parapet of the Langham hotel and waving union jacks, proposed resolutions against the Boer agitation, which they declared to have been carried when the meeting in Queen's hall terminated.

The usual speeches were made and the usual resolutions were carried amid much commotion and excitement. The resolutions included an amendment for the complete independence of the Boer republic, proposed by Baron Batterssee, for the radicals, which did not meet with the approval of the Labouchere party. The meeting closed with the singing of "The Marseillaise."

J. X. Merriman, former treasurer of Cape Colony and now a representative of the Afrikaner bond in England, wrote a letter to the promoters of the meeting apologizing for his absence.

Several collisions occurred between the crowd outside the hall and the police, and the latter had difficulty in handling the assemblage. No casualties were reported. The Daily Mail asserts that the promoters of the Queen's hall meeting secured the services of 200 or 300 "stalwarts" as foot soldiers.

"This gang of foreign ruffians were found inside the hall," says the Daily Mail, "to keep order and eject the malcontents. The stalwarts were drawn from the low class clubs in Soho. Many of them were armed with sticks, broomhandles and knuckledusters, and they acted with unrelenting violence in excluding royalists and throwing out undesirable persons."

CONDEMN SITE FOR THE DAM

Engineers of Canal Commission Discover Another One Which is Suitable.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 4.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The engineers of the Inman Canal Commission, after borings, have condemned two of the proposed sites for the dam across the San Juan river, in the event of an inter-oceanic canal being constructed, but have discovered another proper and convenient site. The stratum of the rock extends across the river a few feet below the bed and extends into the banks on each side.

There are over 8,000 acres of cotton planted this year in Nicaragua. The planters now estimate that they will be able to sell the product at 4 1/2 cents per pound, Nicaragua currency, or about 1 1/2 cents gold at the present rate of exchange. The planters are inexperienced in regard to the cultivation of cotton and it is pointed out that they will find the all-year cultivation and working of the plant to be in direct opposition to their usual agricultural custom of working during only one-fourth of each year. The laborers, it is added, will not submit to constant daily labor and they are not numerous enough to be relied by relay.

Edinburgh Students Reject Proposition Politely to Disapprove His Plans.

LONDON, June 19.—The first expression of the opinion of Scottish university students concerning Andrew Carnegie's plans for education in Scotland was given tonight, when the Edinburgh university debated the subject. As a result a motion was offered to the effect that while the unforgotten benefactor of the world's great gift no scheme was considered adequate which did not provide for the complete abolition of fees. This motion was rejected, 544 to 25, and an amendment was carried expressing the fullest confidence of the University Union in Mr. Carnegie's method of dealing with the problem and characterizing it as right in principle and a direct step toward a higher standard of education.

TRANSIT BILLS ARE PASSED Get Through Pennsylvania Legislature After Striving Up Exciting Scene.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 19.—The house of representatives of Pennsylvania today passed two bills supplemental to the rapid transit act signed by the governor recently. These bills were introduced and passed in the senate last week and they now go to the governor for his action. The one constituting the governor, secretary of state and attorney general a board to pass upon applications for rapid transit franchises was attacked by several anti-administration republicans and democrats. In the course of a speech Mr. Coray of Luzerne, a republican leader of what is known as the "insurgent" element, said:

"Two weeks ago the office of secretary of the commonwealth presented a scene which will go down in history. There were a lot of hungry parasites and a lot of millionaires present in obedience to the orders they had received to raid the treasury. They carried away valuable franchises and now it is proposed to prevent others from getting similar favors by placing the power to grant them in the hands of a board."

Mr. Coray said the people were opposed to the rapidity with which these bills were passed by the legislature. "The time will sweep your internal machine off the face of the earth."

Mr. Hall, a republican of Allegheny, said this legislation is a very poor climax to what has already been enacted.

Mr. Mayne, democrat, of Lehigh, characterized the legislation as infamous and protested against its passage. He said this legislature had become a stench and by word to the public and that its only chance to redeem itself was by defeating these bills.

Mr. McClain, republican of Lancaster, said in defense of the measure that many applications were made for charters that were to be used for purely speculative purposes and this bill is to prevent such speculation in charters.

The bill passed by a vote of 105 to 65, receiving in its favor only two more than the requisite number of votes. The counting of a member not present as voting "aye" was challenged, but the speaker said the vote did not affect the result and no further action was taken.

The plaintiffs claimed a half interest in the independent Ilex of the Archer consolidation. The court awarded approximately five per cent of the ore extracted and sold from the area in controversy.
