She says, "I had considerable hesitancy making the change, one reason being that a friend of mine tried Postum and did not like it. ing in Others." Importance of Good Influence

Dr. Thompson emphasized the importance of exerting a good influence in the world. He called the attention of the graduates to the insignificance of a life as considered in the abstract and the great importance of a life when it is woven into the woof of society and affects other lives. Stress was laid upon the power for good that great families have been and the general young men and young women just entering upon their life work were urged to perpetuate all that was good in their ancestors and leave a noble record for posterity. Dr. Thompson spoke in part as follows Life is large. Its opportunities are large, secause the individual is lost and becomes because the individual is lost and becomes a part of a great force that is influencing the world. Through the union of all individuals into a common brotherhood great results are brought about.

Families are destined to leave their imprint upon the world. If a great and noble family is a power for good bow much more can be accomplished by the combined efforts of all men who are seeking a common end. South Omaha News

Corporation assessments are being talked about on the streets every day and comparisons are being made with the valuations placed on packing plants in other cities. In order to make comparisons The Bee has secured from R. M. Nash, county clerk of St. Joseph, Mo., a statement showing this year's valuation of the packing houses and the stock yards at St. Joseph. The figures to follow are surprising for the reason that the St. Joseph stock yards have only been established a little over three years, and the industry there may be said to be in its infancy. The stock yards here were opened in 1884 and have been growing ever since, that is with the exception of the valuation as returned by the assessor. The total valuation of the packing houses and stock yards as returned by Tax Commissioner Fitzgerald for 1901 is $501,100, while the returns at St. Joseph show a total of $458,530. This is an increase of only $42,570 for South Omaha.

Here the stock yards, with a capital of $6,000,000, are valued by Fitzgerald at $133,000. At St. Joseph, a comparatively new market, the valuation is $106,900. An increase of only $26,100 is thus shown. Swift's plant at St. Joseph is given a at South Omaha is protesting on a valuation of $77,000. The difference in valuation on these plants is $29,060. Hammond's plants at St. Joseph is valued here makes it $53,000, a difference of $29,850. When the foregoing figures were shown to one of the heaviest taxpayers in the city he said: "It is a shame that South Omaha cannot by some means secure a valuation large enough to reduce the levy and one here. St. Joseph only started stock yards a few years ago, and it is not more than three years and a half ago that business there commenced in carnest. The totals go to show that the assesor at St. Joseph is doing his duty by placing a fair valuation on the stock yards and packing plants. If that was done here the valuation would be greatly increased and the levy reduced. When investors see that South Omaha, with five packing houses and a big stock yards company, only shows a valuation of $2,490,-000 and a levy of 60 mills, it looks as if there was something doing. In my opinion the valuation should be raised by the Board of Review to not less than $5,000,000,"

Before the Board.

General Manager W. J. C. Kenyon and W. S. King represented the stock yards company yesterday before the Board of Review in answer to a summons to show cause why the stock yards assessment should not be raised. Mr. Kenyon reviewed the various lots and lands owned by the stock yards company and suggested that several pieces of property might be raised. Eleven acres near the mouth of the sewer was valued at $160' by the tax commisioner. Mr. Kenyon thought that $$00 would be about the proper valuation and the board coincided with his houses and the stock yards under the valuation turned in by Fitzgerald would be compelled to pay $30,000 in taxes, in return for which they received no benefits, as they were compelled to maintain their own fire and police departments, as well as to maintain their own fire hydrants. The board did not take any definite action in the matter. At the suggestion of A. L. Sutton the hearing of Cudahy, Swift, Omaha and Hammond was set for 2 o'clock Monday after-The Thomson-Houston Electric Light company will be heard at 10 o'clock Monday. Postponement was asked because of the absence of Mr. Nash. Secretary Claybaugh of the Omaha Gas company was present and protested against any raise.

Mr. Fitzgerald values the property of the gas company at $5,000, a raise of $800 over last year. Mr. Claybaugh stated that the gross receipts last year were a little over $16,000 and that the company had paid the city a royalty amounting to $681. The assessment was permitted to remain as it is but it was agreed that the company would receive notice if the board finally decided to raise the valuation.

Delinquent Taxes.

In looking over the property roll in the reasurer's office yesterday a discovery was made which rather startled Treasurer Koutsky. He found a lot on Twenty-fifth street near P street on which taxes to the amount CENTRAL LABOR UNION MEETS of $616.97 have accumulated. This city tax has been running since 1893 and includes special taxes levied and assessed. What the county tax on this piece of property is was not ascertained yesterday, but will be looked up today. The city tax alone amounts to just about the value of the lot at this time, as lots near by were recently sold for $600. The city will have considerable discussion of the Western Laborer and its property of this kind on its hands when the editor. A "gabfest" was precipitated on books are checked after the Board of Re- a motion by the Printing Pressmen's union view concludes its labors and the treasurer to have the word "unfair" stricken from starts in to find out where he stands.

Complaints Still Come.

Over one hundred written complaints have been filed with the Board of Review valuation of $106,060, while the same firm and it is expected that many more will be filed before the board closes its session on June 25. One instance is on record where a certain block in the business portion of the city is assessed at $25,000, when the at $82,850, while the Fitzgerald valuation owner has been trying for some time to sell the property for $18,000. The heaviest burden seems to fall on the small property owners, although some glaring discrepancies have been noted in the business district Councilman Johnston has secured over 200 Items where the tax is considered too high. proportionate to the business transacted and these he will present to the court when the impeachment proceedings against Fitzgerald come up.

Teachers' Examinations.

Teachers' examinations for positions in the public schools have terminated and the examining board, composed of Dr. Tische, Attorney Winters and Elizabeth Hayes, is now looking over the papers. Dr. Tische said yesterday that sixty-three applicants took the examination for primary teachers and seven for grade positions. So far the papers are way below standard and it does not look as if more than five or six of those who entered the lists for examination would
