The first and each by an easy margin.

The first event was a five-eighths-mile dash, with a purse of $150. In this Balk Line, a favorite at 2 to 3, won, the time being 1:04%, Archie McKay, a 4-to-1, shot, took the lead at the flag and pulled a pretty pace for a ways, but in the back stretch Balk Line and Raggs went around the brown gelding and raced it closely to the wire. Billy Van, a horse which won a similar event on Tuesday, was fift in, being at not time in the race for percentage.

Maid Stone had been the favorite on the race of the same distance the day before, Horne, Title and Maid Stone, who had finished first, second and fourth. The while the stranger went at 3 to 1. Two were known, Robert Bonner having won Tuesday's mile race at even money, and Prairie King, another favorite that time, having finished badly to such the best of the betting argument at the Fair grounds this afternoon, three favorites and two well played second choices passing the post in front. Varro-won the feature the back end. So Bonner was one favorite yesterday at even money for a starter, with Numa quoted at the same and Prairie King and George F. Todd both at 6 to 2. There was a rush at the book and shortly Bonner was pushed to 3 to 5 and later to the prohibitive mark of 3 to 10. Numa meanwhile went to 3 to 2 and then to 2 to 1. Prairie King and George F. Bonner Shows His Mettle.

Numa went at the pole with a dash and made a good jump at the start, with Prairie King close up and Bonner sticking. Just as soon as there was any need for it, however. Bonner went around the two ahead and won practically in a canter. Numa was second and George F. Todd beat Prairie King out of third money. Time, 1:31%.

The fourth race brought out the hottest betting of the day. It was a duplicate of the four and one-half-furlong dash of the day before, in which Jim Hicks was disqualified for underweight after coming in first. This decision had given the race to Joe Foster and interest was intense to see what the second contest between the two would bring out. Many held that the only reason Jim Hicks had been sbie to finish first was because of his fine start. But money opened with the two equally at 2 to 3. Charles Curtis was even, with William Riley and Lily M 6 to 12. Soon Foster was pushed to 2 to 5 and there he reliam Riley and Lily M 6 to 12. Soon Fos-ter was pushed to 2 to 5 and there he re-lear Riley and Lily M 6 to 12. Soon Foster was pushed to 2 to 5 and there he remained. Jim Hicks was pulled down to even meney and Charles Curtis went to 3 to 2. William Riley and Lily M both rose to 8 to 2 and 10 to 2 and landed at 12 to 2. These odds drew considerable money.

infielders Pall to Co-Operate with Man in Box and Day is Lost-Omaha Players Batter Center Field Fence.

Ten to one, it was simply to prevent Gordon from getting conceited that St. Joseph administered to the little Omaha pitcher his first drubbing yesterday down on Vinton street, and evened up partially on their defeat of the previous day. But it was not all Gordon's fault by any means. It is true that the record shows eleven hits against him, but the facts are that there were several of them which would never have been hits, but for very rummy judgment at intervals, in the infielding. And while the Missourans were touching up Gordon, the latter's associates made it so unpleasant for McFadden that he was supplanted by Maupin in the midst of an inning, in which the center field fence appeared to be in imminent danger of having several of its slats loosened. It was an exciting contest from the fifth inning to the finish. Omaha started the excitment slightly in the fourth, when Mc-Andrews was given a base on balls and stole second. Immediately afterwards Dooin let a ball get away from him be-hind the plate. He recovered it quickly and endeavored to head off McAndrews at third. In his haste be overthrew and Mc-Andrews skated home.

Of course Omaha felt prétty good over a lead of one, and the bleachers were in cackling humor, but in the first half of the fifth the cackle vacated in favor of a few hearty groans. Gordon started the lamenta Dooin shot a grounder down to second an it went through Genins, while Flood saile around to third. This was the first failur of a possible double play, Another Opportunity Lost. Then McFadden poked a hot one to To man, who fumbled it and double play No 2 was missed, while Flood crossed th plate. Honeyman sent a little pop-up mid way between the pitcher and first, and who Calhoun nabbed it he juggled it so long perplexity as to where to send it that Doo scored and Honeyman landed safe. Hal thereupon poked one out to the middle field fence for three bases, scoring McFadden and Honeyman. He scored himself on Schrall's long fly to center, making the fifth tally.

In the next inning St. Joseph captured two more. Davis started off with a twobagger. Flood's single to left allowed him to score. Dooin sent a long single to center, and when Reid's mit came in contact with it on the bound it veered off and scooted for the fence, which allowed Flood to score.

In Omaha's half of the sixth it looked for a time as if the lead of the Missourians would be overcome. In fact, Dad Rourke declared emphatically that his boys would pound out a victory while the excitement was going on. Only a miracle prevented it. It came in the way of an embarrassing accident to Honeyman's trousers. Gonding hit to center for a base, but Honeyman let it get through him and it reached the fence, while Gonding galloped to second, Gordon took first on balls and Genius advanced both by a short single into right field. After Payne had died on a foul fly, McAndrews planted a two-baser in middle field and scored three men in a bunch! Then Letcher reached for the same spot on the fence, scoring Mc-Andrews and touching second himself.

self among his fellows. Some of his confederates who could handle a needle repaired the damage, but it he took ten minutes and when the game was resumed the spell of enthusiasm was broken. It was also noticed that Maupin had supplanted McFadden in the box. When Calhoun selected a nice single and scored Letcher with it there were some who thought that the interruption had been ineffective, but that was the last of it. In the seventh inning a base on balls two singles and a double netted St. Joseph Boston three more scores. Although the game was lost Omaha gave the victors a parting shot in the ninth. After two men were out Graham was sent to the bat instead of
