City Officials Wonder What They Will De with the Overlap.

BULL FIGHTER GETS AN UGLY TOSS

Miss Zella Kenworthy is Crowned Queen of the Carnival-City Counell Omits Its Expected Special Session.

Just now, while the city officials are worrying over the annual levy, they are also wondering what to do with the overlap of $42,000. This much of an overlap is now outstanding and can be paid by the issuing of general indebtedness bonds, providing the people can be induced to vote in the affirmative. City Attorney Lambert holds the same as he has in years gone by, that the city is not compelled to pay an overlap, inasmuch as the charter provides how much money can be appropriated each year. In other words, Mr. Lambert says that the city can. If it chooses, repudiate its overlap and staft the fiscal year number of claims will be placed on the per- aggravated by intensely torrid weather.

Bull Catches Garcia.

Only a few hundred people witnessed the bull fight at the amphitheater, Twenty-fifth and O streets, last evening. The exhibition was the same as given heretofore with the exception that Rafael Garcia, one of the participants in the fight, lost his footing in making a run for a stile and fell to the ground. Before Garcia could regain bis feet the bull was upon him and tossed him into the air a few feet. In coming down Garcia landed all right and in the meantime the attention of the bull was directed to other parts of the arena by the frantic waving of vari-colored mantillias.

The scene created considerable excitement among those who witnessed the performance. Garcia was carried from the arena on a stretcher and every attention was given to him. As soon as it was found that he was not injured beyond a slight bruise or two Manager Mattox announced the fact to the audience,

After he had recovered from his surprise and the shock incident to his sudden as cent into the air Garcia remarked to Mattox that he would not have cared if he had been injured in a sure enough fight. but he disliked the idea of failing to make a safe getaway in a Sunday school play. The contract under consideration provides that not more than $15,000 is to be spent. President Karr submitted the contract to the committee and a ballot on its adoption resulted in a vote of 4 to 4. Councilmen Trestier, Zimman, Burkley and Heye voted in the negative. Affirmative votes were cast by Councilmen Karr, Haseall, Whitehorn and Lobeck, Councilman

Mount was not present. It was suggested that Mayor Moores asked to tell the committee whether he would veto the contract in case it was approved by the council. The mayor was called into the meeting and refused to state what his action would be. He said that the repairs called for an expenditure in excess of the amount now in the repair fund and that he is opposed to making expenditures which will result in an overian to be cared for in next year's levy. Councilman Trostler finally consented to cast his vote in the affirmative. This insures the approval of the contract at the council meeting this evening. Mayor Moores, Councilmen Zimman and the other members of the council who voted against the repairs maintained that the Sixteenth street paving is beyond repair and should be entirely resurfaced. Councilman Zimman suggested that the holes on Sixteenth street be filled with gravel and that the street be closed until the property owners see fit to put the pay

The city treasurer's van is to make its appearance upon the streets of Omaha works. Fire from an unknown origin, supof collecting personal taxes which proved so successful last year will be put into operation again.

Persons who have not paid their personal taxes for 1901 may expect to see the treasurer's van at their front door any day. Taxes became delinquent July 1 and Mr Hennings will spare no effort in gathering in the taxes from people who are not inclined to toe the mark. He has not outlined any particular territory for his collectors, but will start them on a freelancing tour of the city.

"The van system of collecting taxes was USELESS a great success last year," remarked the B. & M. loses the best part of a car, also city treasurer. "After we had levied upon office furniture and household goods in a few places people found that we meant business and paid their taxes without much opposition. We did not begin work with the van soon enough. Many people moved before we got to them.

"This year we will begin operations early and the work will continue until everything has been collected. We do not propose to have people escape their taxes. By getting things lined up so early in the season I hope to make the personal tax collections much larger than they were in 1900. Every cent of personal tax will be collected where the persons assessed have property that we can find."

Mr. Hennings has issued a call for $550. 000 worth of city warrants which will cease to draw interest July 10. This call include: all the outstanding city warrants. On July 13 $140,000 worth of school warrants will be retired. This call will wipe out all the outstanding school warrants.

Omaha banks are now lending money or Wall street, a conservative estimate of the amount now in that place being $1,250,-

It has not been many years since Nebraska was a borrower, but the prosperous onditions of the last few years have placed the state in a position where its capitalists must seek other fields for investment in the form of loans. For several years the cattle raisers borrowed money from Omaha banks and speculated in feeders, buying them in the spring and selling them in the fall after a season on the grass. This year the price of cattle and the apparent tendency of the market has caused a marked decrease in this form of business. with a consequent falling off in loans. This has driven Omaha bankers into eastern money markets and Wall street has furnished the chief outlet for the cash.

Money on Call. Most of the Nebraska money is placed made by Nebraska banks except on paper which can be easily disposed of at its face, and a correspondingly low rate of interest is secured. One bank is credited with having kept about $250,000 on the street for nearly a year and others having amounts ranging from this sum down to

realized, for then the farmers will begin to borrow money, with which to buy cattle to be fed this winter. The amount of money invested in this business varies with the size of the corn crop, and bankers who keep in touch with agricultural conditions say that from present indications more money will be invested in cattle feed

J. of Chicago, who has been selected for that purpose by the provincial of the province of St. Louis, in which Omaha is located. At this retreat ways and means for the construction of the proposed cathedral for the diocese will be considered and it is probable that after the close of the retreat Bishop Scannell will outline his plan for the work.

PLACE WITH THE ENGINE TRUST J. H. McConnell Said to Have Accepted a Position with the Loco-

Word has been received in Omaha that . H. McConnell, who for many years was superintendent of motive power of the Union Pacific railroad, has become connected with the so-called "locomotive trust," the organization which has combined all of the locomotive manufacturing companies in the United States except the Baldwin company.

motive Combine.

When resigning from his position in Omaha Mr. McConnell announced that he would go to Europe, where he would remain until September. When he arrived in London he received a cablegram from the United States requesting him to go to Paris and await the arrival of a letter which had been dispatched on the first steamship. In due time the letter arrived. In it he was offered a position with the locomotive combination at a salary greatly in excess of what he received from the through New York correspondents in the Union Pacific. Mr. McConnell started to 4 per cent, as it is said no loan is being Paul, June 29, due to arrive in New York
