advance. Forty girls are employed in this department and if they go out the mill will be very badly crippled. Altogether the outlook for closing the mill is stronger than at any former time. Men are growing disaffected at having to work overtime.

President T. J. Shaffer said today that no overtures have been made by the United States Steel corporation looking to a settlement of the strike. He said he had not had any communication whatever, either with President C. M. Schwab or J. Pierpont Morgan, since the strike was declared. He said he was waiting for something to transpire, and that he would not be the first to make the overtures.

When asked as to what course he thought the manufacturers would adopt in fighting the workers, Mr. Shaffer said that he thought the Wellsville situation was a sufficient answer to this question. It is seen by this that the strike leader expects a hard fight and that he thinks the manufacturers will make an effort to run their mills with non-union men before they ask for a conference.

Shaffer Makes No Move.

President Shaffer has not yet made a move toward extending the strike to other plants of the great steel combine. Extreme measures will not likely be taken unless it is seen to be absolutely necessary in order to win. The contributions of the men at work are needed to carry on the strike. If a general strike was ordered, the association of the great steel combine, would lose the substantial one of $44,000 a month from the Federal Steel company employees alone. The men employed in other plants owned by the steel corporation who would be affected by a general strike order are expected to make liberal contributions to the strike fund.

A long strike is now expected in some quarters. A consumer of sheets, who had placed some large orders with the American Sheet company for delivery during the next three months, has written to steel brokers and jobbers in this city to aid him in securing the sheets needed to meet his requirements. He added in one of his letters that the combine informed him that his order could not receive attention for at least three months. On this he bases the prediction that the strike will continue for two months.

A telegram from Detroit stated that W. D. Mahon, president of the Street Railway Employees' association, had left that city for Pittsburgh by request of President Shaffer and that a conference would be held in an endeavor to perfect a general federation of all labor unions. Mr. Shaffer denied that he has asked Mr. Mahon to come to Pittsburgh and said there was no truth in the matter at all. He said that it was his ambition, however, to federate the men employed by the United States Steel corporation into one organization. It matters not their trade. By this means alone, says Mr. Shaffer, can labor hope to successfully cope with capital.

FIREMEN CALLED TO MEET

Sunday Afternoon Conference is to Result from Meeting with Iron Workers' Officials.

HAZELTON, Pa., July 19.—The conference between the officials of the three anthracite districts of the United Iron Workers and the secretary of the Stationary Firemen's union adjourned tonight after calling a convention of firemen to meet in Wilkesbarre Sunday afternoon for the purpose of considering the status of the strike and adjusting the position of the United Mine Workers thereto. It was agreed that all firemen who are now at work shall remain at their posts until after that meeting. It is the belief here that the Mine Workers will make an effort to have the firemen's strike declared off.

WILKESBARRE TROUBLE ENDS

Machinists' Strike There Seems About to Collapse—Railroad Men Confer.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 19.—It is reported that all firemen who are now at work shall remain at their posts until after that meeting. It is the belief here that the Mine Workers will make an effort to have the firemen's strike declared off.

ROSEBERY SURE HE IS RIGHT

Declares that Consequent Commotion Only Proves How Well He Aimed Recent Hot Shots.

LONDON, July 19.—Speaking at the City Liberal club this afternoon Lord Rosebery said that his recent manifesto, in which he declared that the liberal party could not exist under the present conditions, had been followed by such an extraordinary hullabaloo that he felt convinced he had expressed in this manifesto the clear and exact truth in respect to the situation and not one of his allegations had been disproved or challenged.

Lord Rosebery said he wrote the manifesto because, after the meetings in Queen's hall and at the Reform club, unless some clear repudiation of the statement regarding the war was made it was impossible for the liberal party to continue to exist as a sound force, appealing to the highest sympathies of the country.

On the questions of the war his lordship said his starting point was that in spite of the Jameson raid and in spite of the South African committee the Boers had invaded the dominions of the late queen, and from that moment, although he had criticized the methods of the government, yet on the main issue, to carry the war to a triumphant close, it would have his warmest support.

POWDER MARKS IN EVIDENCE

State Wins Decided Victory in Fosburgh Murder Trial.

DEAD GIRL'S SISTER SEES NO BURGLAR

Neither Do Other Members of Household, Though Defendant's Claim is that Thieves Fired the Fatal Shot.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 19.—The Fosburgh manslaughter trial dragged along slowly today. The state won a decided victory over the defense when Judge Stevens announced that he would permit the offering of evidence in regard to the tests made by experts to show the distance at which marks of powder from a revolver would be deposited on cloth, provided it was clearly proved by the state that the revolver and cartridges used in the case were identical in every respect to the one which it was argued the shot was fired with.

The first bit of testimony of a sensational nature was that of Dr. Paddock, the medical examiner, who testified that little Beatrice Fosburgh, who would be a state witness, had told him that she had seen no burglars at all, although she was behind her sister May when the latter fell. Another feature was the emphatic statement of Dr. Draper, gun expert, to the effect that the shot which ended the life of May Fosburgh had not more than eight inches from her breast. There were several witnesses for the state who testified today, and the case was expected to be closed by those not connected with the case was Chief of Police John Nicholson, who said but a few words and those were in explanation of the testimony of a previous witness. He will be called again.

Detective Disappoints.

John P. Connors, a detective, proved a disappointment, because he acknowledged that he had seen no burglars, and from the point of view that the crime was committed by burglars and he did not connect the defendant with it in any way.

Testimony was given by a local hardware dealer with reference to the revolver which was sold to the defendant and by a Boston gun salesman in regard to the carrying power of various revolvers.

The court adjourned over Saturday until Monday morning, and District Attorney Hammond stated afterward that he expected to rest his case Monday night. Dr. Paddock described in detail the manner in which the members of the Fosburgh family were dressed. Then he said that young James Fosburgh met the doctor downstairs and later came to the upper rooms. Dr. Paddock asked him if he had seen any burglars. James said that he had not.

Dr. Paddock said it was dark in the house and around it. Beatrice Fosburgh told him she had seen no burglars. She told him that she was standing behind May when the shot was fired and that she immediately went to the farther end of the room to turn on the electric light.

Tells of the Injuries.

Dr. Paddock told of the injuries alleged to have been sustained at the hands of burglars by the Fosburghs, father and son. He said that Mr. Fosburgh, the elder, was injured on the knee, had a rib cracked and was much disfigured about the head. The younger man had a contusion on the neck.

The doctor then told of a second visit to the Fosburgh house made at 8:30 o'clock in the forenoon. The family, he said, was in breakfast. The doctor announced that he had come to hold an autopsy. Robert Fosburgh, the defendant, arose from the table and objected to this proceeding. His father interrupted, saying: "Don't interfere; let the law take its course."

At this point the report of Dr. Paddock as medical examiner of the autopsy on the body of Miss Fosburgh was offered as evidence. The evidence was not admitted, the judge holding that it was not competent.

E. P. Pierson, a dealer in hardware, testified that in June, 1900, he sold Robert Fosburgh a 22-caliber centerfire revolver and cartridges to it.

When the court took a recess at noon Mrs. Sloane, mother of young Mrs. Fosburgh and who occupied a seat in a distant part of the courtroom, made her way through the crowd to the place where the defendant sat and kissed him. Fosburgh also kissed the other female members of the family who sat near him.

At the close of the recess Judge Stevens announced that the case would be returned from a 1 o'clock this afternoon until Monday morning.

GEORGE KLEFFNER PRESIDENT

Central Labor Union Elects Officers and Discusses Plans for Labor Day Celebration.

The Central Labor union elected officers last night and George Kleffner was chosen by acclamation for president. The informal ballot brought out the names of George Kleffner, E. A. Willis, Harry McVea, H. E. Easton and C. E. Schmidt. Beginning with the last name each man in order declined the office. The name of Willis who moved that the election of Kleffner be made by acclamation, which was done.

For vice president these names were presented: Harry McVea, W. H. Shrum, E. A. Willis, C. E. Schmidt, C. Ryan, J. J. Keitz, W. H. B. Mearns, Edward Augustus, L. V. Gye, J. A. Robinson, M. Kavanaugh, Harry Sage and Gus Hall. All declined but Shrum and Willis. The formal ballot resulted in the election of W. H. Shrum by vote of 22 to 26.

The office of corresponding secretary went to Ben Mayland, he receiving 30 votes, against 14 each for E. E. Philbrick and J. E. Ryan.

John Pullan was decided to have been elected to fill the office of secretary-treasurer for a year and there was no election held for this office.

For trustees there were chosen J. E. Ryan, J. Saunders and E. A. Willis out of a field of twenty, all of whom declined but those elected.

J. McDonald was elected sergeant-at-arms by acclamation.

Then came the warmest contest of the evening—the election of three delegates to the meeting of the State Labor and Industrial League of Nebraska, which will be held in Omaha the first Monday in September. There was considerable lobbying, despite the constitutional provision that self-seeking candidates are barred from office. The informal ballot brought out eighteen names, from which after a formal ballot, E. A. Willis, Gus Hall and C. E. Schmidt were chosen. The election took place during the session of the league.

At the close of the election the new officers were installed and assumed their positions.

President Kleffner announced as the order of business for the evening: Edward Easton and George Smith, as members of the law committee, L. V. Gye, Frank Fogarty, A. Gayer, J. P. Duggald and John W. Lessentine, which appointments were approved. The other committee will be announced at the next meeting.

A delegate from the Machinists' union complained that engineers did machinists' work during the strike at the packing-houses in South Omaha and that they retained when called upon, that the Electricals' union refused to call their men out in an Omaha machine shop where a strike was in progress and that the members of the Moulders' union did work for another machine shop where a strike is in progress.

The Electricals' union refused to call their men out in an Omaha machine shop where a strike was in progress and that the members of the Moulders' union did work for another machine shop where a strike is in progress.

New delegates were reported as follows: Leather workers, W. G. Meuser; sheet metal workers, Sanford Wright; coopers, Albert Milleg, C. G. Edwards, Charles Lathrop; electrotypers and stereotypers, Ed. Holweg; Thomas Grenville, Matt. Reiner; car builders, Charles Johnson; meat cutters, J. A. Bradford, John Barth; stationary engineers, Edward Augustus, Theodore E. C. Vesper, H. E. Easton; barbers, Neil Ryan.

W. F. Ford, an accredited representative of the Central Labor Council of St. Joseph, Mo., was present and requested the union to arrange for an excursion to St. Joseph on Labor day, saying that the union workmen of St. Joseph were preparing to entertain visitors from Topeka, Kansas, and Lincoln and desired Omaha to join.

A communication from the hodcarriers, protesting against the action of union bricklayers in South Omaha working with non-union workers on packing house work, was referred to a committee with instructions to co-operate with the unions affected. It was stated that the plumbers and bricklayers would insist upon the employment of union hodcarriers on all work of any kind, but would not do so where the men were employed by the day.

The Labor day committee reported that with the South Omaha committee an agreement had been reached to hold a joint celebration at Sympathic park, provided the Omaha and Lincoln committees consent to an equal share of the receipts of the day. With this understanding a delegation from South Omaha asked that a committee be appointed to take charge of the celebration with a like committee from South Omaha. This was suggested by the president that the committee be increased to ten, and this was done by the addition of the names of George Smith, Frank Moore, Albert Miller, J. A. Bradford, H. A. Groves, Harry Sage and Charles Johnson.

The board of trustees reported that an examination of the books of the treasurer showed total receipts for the last six months, including balance on hand at the beginning of the term, $458.90; expenditures during the same time, $373.89; balance, $85.01.

C. E. Smith and L. V. Gye were appointed to fill vacancies on the board of control of the Workers' Gazette. On suggestion of a member the appointments were E. A. Willis, C. Ryan, L. V. Gye, Harry Sage and C. E. Schmidt were elected in nomination. The vote resulted in the election of Schmidt and Gye by votes of twenty-one and twenty-four respectively over Willis and Sage, who received fourteen and three votes respectively.

Agricultural Strikers Resume.

PEORIA, Ill., July 19.—The machinists who have been on a strike at three agricultural implement factories declared the strike off.

HARD TO BREAK

But the Coffee Habit can be Put Off.

"I was a coffee user from early childhood but it finally made me so nervous that I spent a great many sleepless nights, starting at every sound I heard and suffering with a continual dull headache. My hands trembled and I was also troubled with shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. The whole system showed a certain condition and I was told to leave off coffee, for that was the cause of it. I was unable to break myself of the habit until some one induced me to try Postum Food Coffee.

The first trial of the Food Coffee was fat and tasteless and I thought it was hard stuff, but my friend urged me to try again and let it boil longer. This time I had a very delightful beverage and have been enjoying it ever since, and am now in a very greatly improved condition. My nervous system is now in a perfect condition of health." Grace C. M., Cayuga Falls, Ohio.

SHOOTS TWO LINCOLN WOMEN

Frank Marshall Kills His Niece and Wounds His Sister.

HER INJURIES SEEM TO BE MORTAL

Colored Dictator Insists Upon Obedience and Emphasizes His Code of Morals by Administering Bullets.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
LINCOLN, July 19.—(Special Telegram)—Frank Marshall, a colored cook employed at the Lincoln hotel, tonight killed Verma Lee, his niece, and mortally wounded Lizzie Marshall, his sister, at his home, 312 South Twentieth street. He confessed to the crime and gave himself up to the police without resistance. As a safeguard against violence Marshall was taken to the county jail, where he is held under double guard.

Marshall has for many years occupied the position of dictator in the colored community in which he lived. He objected to the associates of the two women and repeatedly warned them that trouble would ensue if they persisted in disregarding his commands.

Tonight he went home about 11 o'clock and found that a meeting had been arranged between Verma Lee and a man. He drew a revolver and fired two shots at the woman, both taking effect. His sister interfered and he turned upon her and fired three shots. These, too, took effect.

The Lee woman died instantly, but the other woman was taken to a hospital in a semi-conscious condition. It is not believed that she can recover.

There was no loss of life and no passengers injured. The wreck is now being cleared by a wrecking crew. Both parties claim the right-of-way. The Illinois Central freight only lacked four cars of being safely across when struck and had whistled first for the crossing.

The wreck here today proves more serious than supposed at first. The Sioux City & Pacific engine is a mogul weighing over fifty-five tons and has in such shape the crew cannot do much with it. The coinage is correct to the dollar and has now been checked up three times by as many different sets of men, so that there is no possibility of error.
