

Amusements

This week will see the end of local theatrical amusement until autumn, the Ferris Stock company closing its season on Sunday next, when it will give its farewell performance.

Theatrical business is the absence of faith that one manager has in another's attraction; one can always see little else than trouble and disaster for the other.

Theatrical life seems to be a constant combat between the actor and the manager. If lawsuits are not pending then a war of words often ensues.

Have Klaw & Erlanger any right to assume credit for the Shakespearean production in which Nat Goodwin recently appeared in a few favored eastern cities.

There will be, however, no difference of opinion over the case of Henrietta Crossman, the western actress who went into New York practically unknown last fall.

Hamilton offers a line of high-class vaudeville seldom seen on one bill. The great biometograph, the four Branigans, Francheska, Dugal and Temple and Prof. Williams give a full exhibition in front of Casino fireworks.

William Norris is in vaudeville. Henry E. Dixie is to appear in the Boston revival of "Evangeline".

Harry Gifford, the well known comedian and imitator who has been featured in most plays for the last five years, is to have a leading part in "The Liberty Bell".

Two men were arrested at Atlantic City last week for prostitution in improper attire. They were white duck trousers and pale blue undershirts.

An opening date has been chosen for "Mad, Mad, Mad" written by Reginald de Koven and Harry R. Smith for the Bostonians.

Bob White, with a troupe of the pastoral comedy opera, which has just been the remarkable run in Philadelphia, is to appear in "The Old Homestead" at the Casino.

Mr. Kendal, in a speech in England recently, remarked that to succeed an actress must have "the voice of a lion, the strength of a lion, the voice of a dove, the temper of an angel, the grace of a swan, the ability of an acrobat, and the wit of a rhinoceros."

"The Village Postmaster" has made a hit in Chicago. It opened in that city early in May at the Great Northern theater and its 19th performance will be celebrated and handsome souvenirs presented next Monday night, July 22.

There is a grim, though somewhat satirical humor, in the following paragraph sent out by a dramatic critic from Paris, who has not received an offer for next season.

While there I sat at one of those little round tables among the trees and drank in the sounds of music—and nothing else.

The musicians of the occasion were the men who have come together on "a band" under the name of Lorenz's band.

Which reminds me, the conditions are surely hopeful for the betterment of the orchestral resources, if there is within a radius of a few miles surrounding Omaha there are two good large bands and an orchestra running full blast.

The union musicians should arrange to give a few concerts in the winter. The Boyd theater might be used on "a few" nights, and as very little expense need be caused, the musicians should place the concerts at a fair admittance fee and pool the results.

Mr. Claude Tubbs will sing the offertory solo at the First Methodist Episcopal church this morning.

The choral of the Kountze Memorial and First Methodist churches are on vacation.

Coming, as it does, in the busiest season, when a man can least afford to lose time, a sure and quick cure for diarrhoea is very desirable.

DEMAND FOR NEBRASKA HAY

Kansas City Buyers Seek to Corner Product Before it is Too Late.

GOING AFTER IT WHILE THE SUN SHINES

Missouri and Kansas Evince Awakened Disposition to Do Business with Their Neighbor to the North.

A party of men from the fodder supply department of the Kansas City stock yards passed through Omaha yesterday morning enroute to Rock and Holt counties, in the northern part of the state.

This means that the first heavy shipments of hay from Nebraska down to the south were by no means sufficient, and much larger ones will shortly follow.

This fact is of great interest in its bearing on all three states. In the first place, it shows that the recent rains in Kansas, which were said at first to have pulled that state out of the hole, do not seem to have done so much for it after all.

Then it sounds well for Nebraska to have such a ready, and just now even fierce, market for its hay. The section of the state mostly given to hay-raising is out of the corn belt, up along the northern line.

The great difficulty just now is being experienced by the railroads, which are pressed for equipment for handling the southbound hay.

There is pressing haste for the hay and railroads are doing all in their power to accommodate stockmen.

Albert O. Swift, postoffice inspector, has returned from a trip into the state which took him to Wheeler and Greeley counties.

"I never saw better crops," said he. "The farmers were cutting out while I was there and the straw was over two feet long. The heads were well filled and correspondingly deep.

Wheeler county is a great hay country, but it will come up to its best record for acreage this year.

"In Greeley county everything looks well. The chinchbugs got into the spring wheat and corn to some extent, but as they are almost all dead now, by far the worst from this source is about past. The corn has an excellent color except in the lowlands, where it was overflooded this spring. Generally all crops are remarkably good."

PROMISE OF GOOD HARVEST

Wheeler and Greeley Counties Are Reported to Be Bringing Forth Abundant Crops.

CONTEMPLATES NEW OFFICE

Inspector of Painters' Ropes, Hooks and Scaffolding Proposed in Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., is contemplating a new municipal officer, an inspector of painters' ropes, scaffolding and hooks. Charles A. Tooker, the city building inspector of Cincinnati, wrote to Omaha's building inspector, R. B. Carter, asking if such an office exists in Omaha.

Seasonable Fashions

His lace, a narrow front of lawn is turquoise blue and belt of soft ribbon in the same shade.

The blouse is made over a fitted lining of white batiste on which the front, the blouse proper and the fancy collar are arranged. The collar, which is a feature, is held by tiny frogs with buttons of turquoise matrix, but, when preferred, the lining can be omitted and the collar can be attached to the narrow front at the right side and hooked invisibly into place at the left.

OUR HEARTS the stout and brave, Still, like muffled drums, are beating Funeral marches to the grave.

The human heart, scarcely larger than a man's fist, is the most wonderful of engines. In each twenty-four hours the dual heart moves approximately six tons of blood, which is equivalent to about two barrels of blood every hour.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a medicine especially designed to cure diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and to purify and enrich the blood.

"In the fall of 1897, I was taken with smothering spells, palpitation of the heart and a distressed feeling in my stomach," writes Mr. H. W. Kinney, of Knight, Dooling Co., W. Va.

After consulting two doctors and taking various medicines without any lasting benefit, Mr. Kinney wrote to Dr. Pierce and was cured by taking his advice and using his medicines.

"Have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it did me more good than anything I could get," writes Mrs. Julia A. Wilcox, of Caynet, Wood Co., Ohio.

The stomach may be called the nutritive center of the whole physical organism. Every organ depends upon the stomach for its nourishment.
