Aucestors Show the Way. When the modern world entered upon the marvellous era of expansion which began it these are of expansion and the twise of the Vikings: a record of endless feats of arms, of victory after victory in the cease-less strife waged against wild man and wild nature. The winning of the west was seed the colonists treated as clustens of dequal rights in a common country. Our an-cestors, who were at once the strongest and the most liberty-loving among all the peo-ples who had been thrust out into new con-timents, were the first to revolt against this system, and the lesson taught by their suc-cess has been thoroughly learned. In applying the new principles to our con-intion a nearly perfect instrument. The system of a closely knit and indestructible union of free commonwealths has enabled us to do what neither Greek nor Roman in their greatest days could do. We have pre-served the complete unity of an expanding race without impairing in the slightest de-true the liberity of the individual When in a given locality the settlers became suff-with what has been already done. BOULDER, Colo., Aug. 2.-This was Miners' day at the quarto-centennial celebration and was devoted almost entirely to athletic contests, rock-drilling and the like. Scores of miners from various portions of the state of Colorado took part in the events.

Iron Question of Moment.

We need, then, the iron qualities that must go with true manhood. BOSTON BOAT HAS A CHANCE

If Independence Behaves Well Today it May Yet Meet Constitution and Others.

NEWPORT, R. I. Aug. 2.-Columbia and Independence will race again tomotrow over a triangular course in the second con-test of this series of the Newport Yacht Racing association. On the result the fu-ture of the Boston boat largely depends. If it is beaten decisively it is uncertain what disposition will be made of the yacht. If it wins it is understood that it will be invited to compare against Constitution and compete in several faces that are likely to be arranged soon by some of the leading
