DROWNED IN LAKE MANAWA

Young Man of 25 Whose Identity Remains to Be Established.

SUPPOSED TO BE FROM WAHOO, NEBRASKA

Probably C. Roy Turner or Stoner—Parents Live in Lincoln—Theodore Ringwalt of Omaha Finds the Body.

A young man about 25 years of age whose identity has not been fully established was drowned while bathing Saturday evening at Lake Manawa. The body was discovered Saturday evening about 2 1/2 o'clock by Theodore Ringwalt of Omaha, who with a party of friends was in bathing. The finding of the man's clothes in one of the dressing rooms of the bathhouse Saturday night after the place had been closed and the fact that a package marked "Roy Turner" had not been called for led the attendants to believe that someone had been drowned.

At daybreak yesterday Manager Odell, with a force of men, commenced the search for the body. No trace of it could be found and toward evening the search for the time being was abandoned with the intention of renewing it at night, when Mr. Ringwalt, who was swimming some distance from the life line, felt something in the water under his feet. With the assistance of a friend he raised the body and took it to the shore, where they commenced to try to revive the man, supposing that he had been in the water but a short time.

Either Turner or Stoner.

As far as is known at present the name of the young man is either C. Roy Turner or Stoner. He was in bathing about 10 o'clock Saturday evening and after putting on his bathing suit handed the attendant a package to care for him on which he wrote the name "Roy Turner." George Ringwalt, the attendant, remembered the young man, as the first bathing suit he gave him did not fit and he had to supply him with another.

No one saw him drown, the first intimation that the attendants had that something was being done when they found the man in the dressing room. They waited until 1 o'clock on the chance of his returning and when he did not they notified Manager Odell, who took charge of the clothes and the package.

In the package was found a Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad check from Wahoo to Omaha calling for a trunk and numbered 132,823, also a parcel check issued at the Webster street depot in Omaha and numbered 1,419. Besides these there was a footman's book of bridge tickets issued by the motor company to C. R. Turner for the month of August. None of the tickets had been used. One dollar and 8 cents was the only cash in the package. The suit of gray tweed check was such a working man might wear. A steamer ticket with one such in it showed that he had crossed the lake in one of the company's launches.

Parents Live in Lincoln.

From the marshal at Wahoo Superintendent Tarkington learned last evening that the young man's name was supposed to be Stoner and that his parents lived in Lincoln, Neb. The marshal said that young Stoner was with him after some trouble with his parents and he had been notified to look out for him on his arrival in Wahoo. The marshal said nothing about the young man leaving Wahoo for Omaha, but stated that he had notified his parents in Lincoln. In the package was found a Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley railroad check from Wahoo to Omaha calling for a trunk and numbered 132,823, also a parcel check issued at the Webster street depot in Omaha and numbered 1,419. Besides these there was a footman's book of bridge tickets issued by the motor company to C. R. Turner for the month of August. None of the tickets had been used. One dollar and 8 cents was the only cash in the package. The suit of gray tweed check was such a working man might wear. A steamer ticket with one such in it showed that he had crossed the lake in one of the company's launches.

The police last night also received a message from the chief of police at Lincoln saying he had been notified by the marshal at Wahoo of the drowning at Lake Manawa of young Stoner. The chief of the Lincoln police said young Stoner had gone to Wahoo and that was all he knew of the matter.

DEATH RECORD.

General G. Moxley Sorrell.

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 11.—General G. Moxley Sorrell, aged 71, died at the home of his brother, near Roanoke, at midnight. General Sorrell entered the confederate army at Savannah as volunteer aid on Longstreet's staff at the outbreak of the civil war. He was promoted several times for gallantry and in the third year of the war was made a brigadier general on Longstreet's staff. He was shot through the lungs at the battle of Sharpsburg. After the war he was made superintendent of the Central Railroad of Georgia. He relinquished his position seven years ago to accept the general management of the steamboat line plying between Savannah, New York and Liverpool, which office he held at the time of his death.

Central Whist Victors

Topeka Team Takes Progressive Pairs, and Sioux City Free-for-All.

The progressive pairs contest of the Central Whist association resulted in a victory for the Topeka team, Messrs. West and Wolf winning out on a total score of the three sittings of plus 17-13. Rogers and Burgess of Omaha were second, with a score of plus 13-13. Before adjourning the association passed a resolution thanking the Council Bluffs Rowing association for the use of its clubhouse at the lake. The total score of the three sittings follows:

IOWA REPUBLICAN OUTLOOK

Revolution in Party Management Means Clearing Up of the Party.

OLD LEADERSHIP SEES TURNING OF THE WAY

New Machine Will Control in the Future and Effect Reforms that Are Needed—Fight Will Be Continued Next Year.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Aug. 11.—(Special).—Now that the republican state convention is over, the tickets nominated and platform pronounced, the delegates have had time to compose themselves at their homes and the editors have taken a general survey of the new situation. It seems to be recognized that what has just happened in Iowa is a peaceful revolution within the republican party not unlike other similar crises, save in the sharpness of the turn and its completeness.

CAMP TO BEGIN WEDNESDAY

Work of Preparing for Reception of the Soldiers is Pushed Rapidly.

Work on Camp G. M. Dodge was pushed right along yesterday and by evening the temporary frame structure for the commissary and quartermaster stores was erected, as was the frame building which will be occupied by the sutler and where the soldiers will be able to purchase food and temperance drinks. A large tent which will do duty as brigade headquarters was raised and will be occupied today by Adjutant General Byers. The company which has been built up around his standard represents a reaction from the tendencies which have marked the party in Iowa for a number of years. The party had grown weary of the control of a few old leaders. They had become impatient with the slow progress of the rank and file of the party. It was this sentiment which caused a mild revolt some years ago and put Larrabee into the executive chair against the protest of what was then known as "the reform." Discontent with the old leadership, the party's number of years. It broke forth a year ago and resulted in the turning down of the old leaders. From that time on there has been a fierce contest between factions in the party. The culmination came at Cedar Rapids last week, as the party was turned over to new men with candidates representing the new order of things. The situation was expressed in the cry of the victors: "Well, well, well! Beat the old machine! Beat the old machine!"

Endorse Bryan in Plymouth.

LEMARS, Ia., Aug. 11.—(Special).—The county of Plymouth county held their county convention yesterday afternoon and selected the following delegates to the state convention at Des Moines: A. P. Cramer, C. Hise, J. T. Keenan, G. P. Hoeh, J. C. Cottrell, Ferd Reichmann, J. P. Beck, W. A. Julian, N. Moore, F. J. Hannan, John Starzel, John J. Keenan, Fred Krueger, Leonard Koehn and Peter Moran. The following resolution was adopted by the convention, but not until after a red-hot fight between the Bryanites and anti-Bryanites: "Resolved by the democrats of Plymouth county in convention assembled, that we point with pride to the untiring work in the interest of the masses as against the classes of democracy's peerless leader, W. J. Bryan, and that we uphold the principles as enunciated in the Kansas City platform as the basis of a productive of the best form of government, assuring equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

General G. Moxley Sorrell.

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 11.—General G. Moxley Sorrell, aged 71, died at the home of his brother, near Roanoke, at midnight. General Sorrell entered the confederate army at Savannah as volunteer aid on Longstreet's staff at the outbreak of the civil war. He was promoted several times for gallantry and in the third year of the war was made a brigadier general on Longstreet's staff. He was shot through the lungs at the battle of Sharpsburg. After the war he was made superintendent of the Central Railroad of Georgia. He relinquished his position seven years ago to accept the general management of the steamboat line plying between Savannah, New York and Liverpool, which office he held at the time of his death.

State Committee Influence.

The state committee will be reorganized in a few days, but a majority of the committee in its old composition, which has never of influence the state committee may have will be thrown against the new organization of the party. There is sure to be some conflict between the committee and the candidates this year, but nothing can be done to prevent the success of the ticket. But the state committee organization will be looking forward to next year at all times. Attention will be given to the legislative and legislative candidates. It is well known that the old machine was a disgrace to the counties that a democratic closer hence it is likely that the next legislature will be strongly inclined toward Cummins. But the state committee will do all in its power to secure the election of legislators favorable to the old machine and especially to the present congressional delegation.

Redistricting the State.

The legislature elected this year will redistrict the state in its old composition. The legislature is controlled by the friends of Cummins and the fight this year is carried further, the state may be so redistricted as to endanger the chances of the present congressional delegation. This can be done without giving any rational excuse for criticism. It will thus be seen that while a revolution has taken place within the party and men may question the permanency of the movement, it is possible that the new organization can so entrench itself in the next two or three years that it will be impossible for the old crowd to regain control. The men who have just come to the front in party management are mostly young men and active. The defeated ones are of the older crowd and many of them have practically ended their days of political activity. The resolution means much for the future of the party.
