One thousand militiamen, comprising the Fifty-first and Fifty-second regiments, lowa National guard, are under canvas at Camp G. M. (From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Aug. 14 .- (Special.)-Two gangs of workmen indulged in a small riot in the streets of Des Moines this morning. The trouble arose over a question as to the ownership of a street. When Sixth street was closed by the tracks of the Des Moines Union railroad in order to permit of the building of the Union depot an agreement was entered into by which a street south of the tracks was to be kept open between Sixth and Fifth streets to accommodate the business on the south part of Sixth street. Securing Tax for Railroad.

J. E. Cherry of this city and B. F. Clayton of Indianola recently incorporated a railroad company known as the Des Moines & Southern Iowa. Nothing was known as to the backing the company has or for what purpose the incorporation had been made, but the incorporators have insisted Mr. Schilling, it is said, will go into the that they mean business and will build a railroad southwest from Des Moines. This week they have secured the signatures of a majority of the freeholders at Winterset to a petition asking for a special election are determined to force the nomination to vote a tax in aid of the construction of the railroad in that city. The election will soon be called. The promoters say they will ask for taxes at other points along Hough of Crescent and O. B. McBride of the line and are assured they will get it. When the franchise was voted for an electric road from Creston to Winterset it was asserted by the opponents of the franchise that it had been settled that the Burlington would build from Creston to Winterset and on to Des Moines, but whether this movement at Winterset is in the interest of the Burlington or some other company is not Reform in the Diocese.

It is announced that Archbishop Keane of the diocese of Dubuque, who is now in Europe, will be home again August 28 and that soon thereafter he will take charge of the retreat at St. Joseph's college. Onc feature of this meeting of the priests will be that it will be the occasion for starting a number of long-needed reforms in the diocese. The priests will hold a synod and carefully go over the rules and regugestions to the archbishop of changes, this preparatory to having the rules codified and printed in book form for the use of the priests. This has never been done in this diocese, as Archbishop Hennessey was always averse to this. One matter which will receive much attention is that of the salaries of the priests. A move-A. W. Moore sells Bush & Gerts and ment is on foot to classify the parishes and make the salaries uniform in the different classes and to insist on rigid adherence to the rule. This does not meet with the approval of all the priests and is opposed by those in the larger parishes. Another proposal is that there shall be appointed in every parish a board of trustees with power to supervise the expenditure of all parish funds and to give the priests assistance. This is an innovation in this diocese. The lectures to the priests during the meeting in September will be delivered by Bishop O'Gorman of Sioux Falls,
