C. S. MONTGOMERY ON GENERAL COUNCIL

DENVER, Aug. 21.-The American Bar association opened its twenty-fourth annual meeting at the Tabor Grand opera house today with a very large attendance members and spectators. General Charles F. Manderson of Omaha, president President Wetmore of New York. Welcoming addresses were then made by Platt Rogers for the Colorado Bar association and Hugh Butler for the Denver Bar assoclation. A brief response was made by President Wetmore, after which he delivered his annual address.

Corporations and Trusts.

Corporations and trusts, he said, continue to occupy much legislative attention. He

The incorporation of a company in one state solely for the purpose of doing business elsewhere is not generally looked upon with favor in the states where they are intended to operate and there is a tendency to exact, as far as possible, the same guaranties and extend the same control over foreign corporations as over those chartered by the state where they do business and even to hold the foreign corporations to a stricter accountability.

and even to hold the foreign corporations to a stricter accountability.

The subject of trusts has entered into the political issues that divide parties in the country. Time and experience will doubtless show the expediency of modifying much of the legislation that has been had upon this difficult subject. It is a striking fact, however, that while thirty states of the union have adopted stringent anti-trust laws within the past eleven years, yet during the same period the amount of capital and labor employed in the form of consolidated incorporation, to which that name is usually given, has in those very states steadily and even enormously increased, which would seem to show that without trenching upon rights guaranteed by the constitutions of the states the abolition of that form of temperament of canitalists is beyond the reach of legislative power. yond the reach of legislative power, Secretary John Hinkley announced that the executive council had approved the applications of 164 new members, representing twenty-one states and territories. Of these sixty-four are from Colorado. They were declared members of the association.

A memorial from the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company was read, inviting the association to meet in St. Louis in 1903 and also to appoint a committee of 100 lawyers from the various states of the union and, if thought advisable, from foreign countries, to formulate a plan for a universal law congress to be held as a feature of the exposition. The memorial was referred to a special committee. Several members spoke briefly, endorsing the suggestion contained in the memorial. Recess was taken to 8 o'clock this even Limitation of Legislation.

Mr. Dale said in part

"The right and power of the judiciary to declare and enforce express constitutional limitations upon legislative action is recognized by lawyers of all schools of political thought, but we who follow proceedings in the courts must be impressed with frequent appeals to the judiciary to declare statutes void and of no force upon the ground that their provisions are contrary to principles of common right, either natural or political."

Mr. Dale cited exhaustively from Lord Coke and other eminent writers on the subject to appeal to courts and the validity of statutes. He added:

"If it could be conceived that a legislature should enact a statute within the general powers of legislation not violating any express provision of the constitution, but abhorrent to the common sense of all rightminded men-there is no immediate relief against such a statute within the consti-Anglo-Saxon does not rashly permit himself across a chute at the corner of the house even to contemplate. Happily the express limitations of our constitution would seem to be an effectual bar against any legislation so abhorrent common right to incite the last mode

"The assumption of authority beyond that of applying the terms of the written constitution to each case as it arises would be to place into the hands of the judiciary power too great and too undefined either for its own security and permanency or the protection of private rights. The conclusion would seem to be the law making power has been entrusted solely to the legislature and it is not responsible to any other tribunal for the exercise of its discretion. Through this body the people express and make effective their desires for a change in the law, and when this is done n clear and unmistakable language the judiciary has no duty to pass upon the wisdom or expendiency of the statute. To assume such authority is a usurpation of power and an attack upon the integrity of constitutional government.

A Phoenix (Ariz.) special to the Chicago Tribune says. The great demand for the almond, together with the shortage of the crop in California, will put that nut among the list of luxuries this winter, inasmuch as the supply will depend almost altogether

Fortunately the Arizona crop will be extraordinarily heavy; larger, in fact, than ever before known. Early and heavy frosts, with last year's drouth, played havoc with California almond orchards and as most of the supply has heretofore been dependent on California, and as Arizona's almond acreage is comparatively small, almond prices are likely to double. A total of less than 1,000 acres of almonds are in bearing in Arizona. Most of the crop has now been gathered. An average result has been from 500 to 1,000 pounds per acre, in some places over 1,500 pounds being gathered. Arizona growers are holding their product at 15 cents per pound, a price which will give returns of $75 to

ASKSKNOX TO OFFER REWARD DRUGGIST IS BADLY BEATEN LAST CHANCE FOR SULTAN

Anti-Trust League Leader Tackles Attorney General Another Way.

Replies to the Official's Emphatic Denial of Alliance with Steel Trust by Demanding a Grandstand Play.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.-H. P. Martin, chairman of the joint committee of the American Anti-trust league, has replied to the letter of Attorney General Knox, sent the committee yesterday. He says in

"We were not aware that there was any impropriety in a citizen or body of citizens publicly addressing the chief prosecuting officer of the United States in regard to grave violations of law that were being ommitted to the great injury of the people of the United States.

Attorney General Knox says: 'Neither at the time of the formation of the United States Steel corporation, nor at any other time was I officially connected with the Carnegie Steel company.' This looks like very sweeping denial on the part of the attorney general as to the many charges that have been made in the public press to the effect that he was formerly connected with the Carnegie company or the Steel trust. But the force and effect of this denial are entirely destroyed by the remarkable admission which the attorney general makes in the next sentence, when he says: 'I was formerly one of its legal advisers in the conduct of its manufacturing business."

Says It Seems Evasive.

"This language of the attorney general certainly looks evasive, in view of the fact | badly disfigured and he has several painful that it is currently believed that the members of the steel combine selected one of their former attorneys for attorney general in order that they might have a friend at court in time of popular clamor for the enforcement of the law against trusts.

"We will give him an opportunity now to reassure the people as to his desire and intention to enforce the law against the rusts. Will Attorney General Knox offer a reward for the production of the incriminating evidence against the trusts for which we asked and which he says he does not possess? Will be announce tomorrow that the Department of Justice of the United States will pay a substantial reward to any person or persons who will produce evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of any person or corporation guilty of violating the federal statute against trusts? Let him do this and institute vigorous proceedings against trust lawbreakers and the people will no longer have doubts as to his faithfulness to his oath of office, and he will no longer be the target for criticism, innuendo and invective on the part of the press."

FIGHT IN A DINING ROOM Henderson Hotel is the Scene of Lively Scramble in Which

Police Take Part.

There is no orchestral music in the diningroom at the Henderson house, Ninth and Farnam streets, but a little incident occurred there during the lunch hour Wednesday that was as thrilling as any opera Verdi ever wrote. The diningroom was well filled with guests, waiters were hurrying hither and thither with trays, when suddenly the clatter of dishes was augmented by the sound of angry words and the breaking of furniture in the office. An instant later the ing by the score to see him. theater of war was transferred from the office to the diningroom.

Detective Drummy the office of the quartermaster of the De- drawn revolver, immediately followed by the partment of the Missouri, has received from owner, John Henderson, who was also armed with a pistol. Drummy wanted to arrest W. L. Lynch, one of the diners, and Henderson was determined he shouldn't do it. Drummy seized Lynch, whereupon Hender son thrust his revolver in the officer's face and threatened to shoot For an instant each had the other covered with his weapon, and it looked as though there might be a double tragedy. The head waitress was so nervous she punched five holes out of a boarder's meal ticket when she should have punched but

Then Drummy disarmed Henderson and dragged Lynch out into the street, when it was noticed that Lynch had no hat. "Lovett!" shouted the prisoner, addressing Walter Lovett, his former roommate, go into the office and get my hat."

Lovett tried to obey, but when he undertook to recover the headgear Henderson sprang upon him and gave him a sound thrashing, saying that Lovett was the cause of the disturbance.

So Drummy had to go back and arrest Henderson for assault, and now both Henderson and Lynch are in jail, and Lovett is the complaining witness against both of The original charge, and the cause of all the trouble was that Lovett accused
