CAMP DODGE IS BROKEN UP

DISMANTLING IS RAPIDLY ACCOMPLISHED

Soldiers Get into a Row with Lake Manawau Amusements at the Close, but the Week's Record is Good.

Except for the brigade headquarters tent, situated on the left bank of the river, the remainder of the camp equipment, Camp Dodge, near Lake Manawau, was a thing of the past last evening. Early yesterday morning the soldiers began to break camp and by noon but two companies were left on the grounds where several hundred tents and over 1,000 National Guardsmen had proved such an attraction for a week to the citizens of Council Bluffs.

Remaining with Adjutant General Byers at the camp last were Captain Kanis, Lieutenant R. E. Byers of the adjutant general's office, captain Kane, quartermaster of the Fifty-first regiment, Lieutenant Brown, acting quartermaster and commissary of the Fifty-second regiment; Quartermaster Sergeant Blomgren of the Fifty-second, and Quartermaster Sergeant Palmer of the Fifty-first. Adjutant General Byers, the adjutant general, and his staff and cooks quarters and the commissary's quarters were the only buildings left standing on the camp grounds by last evening. The tents had all been taken down and stowed in the commissary building, the sutler's frame structure near the main entrance was dismantled and the electric light poles were taken out. The camp, which for a week had presented such an animated scene, was a picture of desolation.

By noon today nothing will be left to remind the passerby of the camp. Adjutant General Byers and the few remaining officers will move to the Grand hotel and the camp equipment will be shipped to Des Moines, where it will be stored until called for to do duty next year. The adjutant general and the quartermasters will stay in town until the end of the week, closing up accounts and settling the bills for the supplies furnished the camp.

Colonel Lincoln and Parker before leaving the city yesterday expressed themselves as most pleased with the encampment and the courteous treatment they had received from the people of Council Bluffs. Both were of the opinion that the location of Camp Dodge would be almost an ideal site for the United States army. Colonel Lincoln is of the opinion that if the location of the camp were in Des Moines, where it will be stored until called for to do duty next year. The adjutant general and the quartermasters will stay in town until the end of the week, closing up accounts and settling the bills for the supplies furnished the camp.

WHAT IRELAND DOES.

"Ireland has the largest brewing and shipbuilding concerns in the world. Ireland supplies half the British empire with handkerchiefs, collars, table cloths and shirts, and puts on British tables the choicest breakfast bacon and butter. The English usually conceal the identity of the two last named articles, but Guinness produces one out of every twenty barrels of beer exported annually to Great Britain. It is a funny thing and a bad thing for America as well as Ireland that many native merchants sell the poorer grades of American butter as 'Irish' and pure Irish butter is sold as 'Dorset' or 'Danish.' Scotland for years has been on a long list of the best places in the world so far as tonnage launched is concerned. The yards employ 3,000 men and support a good-sized town. The works cover eighty acres and the Teutonic and Majestic, two of the most famous ocean gunboats, were built there. It's a byword in the British navy that no breakdown of machinery, a thing so frequent, has ever occurred in any British naval vessel built in the Belfast yards.

IMPALED ON A SPLINTER

Piece of Molding Driven Through Breast of Engineer on Illinois Central.

FORT DODGE, Ia., Aug. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—Frank Bender, engineer on the Illinois Central railroad, was impaled this morning on a flying timber and mortally injured. Bender was switching in the yards when the cab of the engine failed to clear a boxcar on the sidetrack. A fragment of the molding of the boxcar four feet long and two inches in diameter, jagged with nails, was driven through the top of the cab and through the heart of the engineer just above the left breast. Two feet of splinter stood out behind his back. For years the iron rod and the engine ran down the yards and crashed into a freight train, doing considerable damage. In the collision Bender was burned about the arms. The splinter has been extracted and there is no possibility of recovery. Bender lives in Waterloo, where he has a family.

DERANGED OR ECCENTRIC

Anna L. Nelson's Mental Condition is a Puzzle to the Commissioners.

Anna L. Nelson of 710 Washington avenue, charged with being insane, was committed by the commissioners yesterday to St. Bernard's hospital for observation. The board was unable to determine whether the woman was mentally deranged or only eccentric. The hearing lasted the entire day and the hearing showed considerable ability in defending herself against the charge of being insane. A number of the woman's neighbors testified as to her peculiar behavior. As one instance of the woman's alleged mental derangement her neighbors testified that she drove away with a broom some children who were playing on the parkway in front of her house and driving on a stone carriage step. After sitting the children away she hauled the stone, which weighed at least 200 pounds, into her yard, and then breaking a glass fruit jar into small pieces scattered it over the parkway. The neighbors claimed was proof of the woman's insanity. The temporary commitment of the woman to the hospital was ordered by the board in the hope that some of her relatives would assume the responsibility of caring for her.

A force of 200 men was placed at work yesterday at the Union Pacific transfer depot clearing up the debris from Tuesday's disastrous fire. As the wreckage of the burned cars was removed it was found that the rails were in many places badly twisted from the heat and hundreds of ties almost burned to cinders. Much of the trackage will have
