WOMEN HAVE CONTROL OF THE PROGRAM

Relief Corps and Ladies of the Grand Army In Charge for the Day-Major Warner Makes Address Thursday.

HASTINGS, Neb Aug. 28 .- (Special Telegram.)-Today was a big day at Camp Lawton, as several thousand visitors arrived on the reunion grounds during the last twentyfour hours and every tent is occupied. Commander Wilcox took charge of camp this morning. He is well pleased with the camp and its surroundings, and says every indication shows that the reunion will be a big success. Today's program was in charge of the Woman's Relief corps and the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Music was furnished by the Giltner Concert band, the Trumbull band and the Glenville brass band. Tomorrow will be Warner day and it promises to be a big one at the reunion grounds. The various state organizations will meet at their respective headquarters at 10 o'clock for the election of officers and the transaction of business From 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. the department officers of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic will hold a reception at their headquarters, to which all their friends are cordially invited.

At 10 o'clock a band concert will be given the public from the amphitheater stand. At 3 o'clock Past National Commander Major William Warner of Missouri will address the people from the amphitheater. A 7 o'clock there will be a balloon ascension. At 8 o'clock General Warner will be present and many eminent Grand Army men will speak. Department president of the Woman's Relief corps, Mrs. Anna E. Askwith of Omaha, reports 135 corps in the department, with a membership of 4,040. The amount expended in relief during the last year in Nebraska alone was $3,275.35. The disbursements through the National Woman's Relief corps last year were $38,033.35, with a balance on hand of $23,365 99, which indicates the extent of the charitable work done by the GEOLOGIST NEWELL SPEAKS Explains Benefits of Water Supply on Perest Reserve at Denver Meeting.

DENVER. Aug. 28 .- At today's occasions of the American Forestry association a number of papers were road and discussed. "The Hydrography of Celorade" was the subject of a paper by A. L. Fellows of Denver. They said that the work of the division had demonstrated that the flow of the streams of the arid regions, taking the year through, would furnish more than enough water for practical use.

A paper by F. H. Newell, hydrographer of the geological survey, explained the benefits to the water supply of the forest reserves. He said:

Strong resolutions were passed endorsing President McKinley and his administration in its every phase, with expression of implicit confidence in the state officials. It closed with a resolution of congratulation to the republican members of the last legislature on their choice of Hon. Charles H. Dietrich and Joseph H. Millard as United States senators.

Puneral of George Ulrich.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special)—George Ulrich, who shot and killed himself on the train Monday evening just before arriving in this city, was buried this afternoon by Germania longe No. 81, Ancient Order of United Workmes, of this city, of which he was a member. The verdict of consideration legislation tending to promote tion of the forests upon the headwater streams of the west and congress has under consideration legislation tending to promote the construction of large reservoirs within or adjacent to the forest reserves. There are to be found upon the headwaters of the streams many valleys whose outlets can be closed by a dam of moderate height, holding back the water from melting snow or from occasional streams. These natural reservoir sites are being surveyed and their capacity and cost ascertained. The amount of water available by storage is also being measured and facts recorded so as to make it possible to know definitely the benefits to be derived from the construction of these hydraulic works.

to be derived from the construction of these hydraulic works.

One of the sources of anxiety and uncertainty in regard to these reservoirs is the matter of silt or sediment. The flood waters roll along sand, gravel and even boulders, depositing them wherever the current is checked. These floods, entering the artificial reservoirs, are brought to a hait and quickly lay down their load, forming a coating or layer of mud in the reservoir, tending to diminish the storage capacity. If the water comes from forest slopes, where the soil is protected and held by roots, the amount of sediment may be negligible, but if, on the other hand, these forests are cut away, the underbrush and humus burned, the driving storms soon attack and move the loose earth and disintegrated rock, starting it on its journey down the slopes to be finally caught in the reservoir below. Thus it happens that it is inf first importance for the prolonged life of the reservoir that every care should be taken to perpetuate the forest cover upon the catchment area, wherever this can assist in holding the soil.

In picturing graphically the results of deforestation in the east, Mr. Maxwell said: "Famine stalks through India, because of deforestation, floods devastate China for the same reason. Look at Northern Africa, Persia, at Mesopotamia, at Transcaspia and heed their warning; once fertile and fruitful, now arid, uninhabitable wastes; they stand as a warning which we should heed. Will we do so, or will we go on wasting millions while we watch our forest areas gradually destroyed."

appropriation of adequate moneys to establish a thoroughly competent patrol for the protection of the forests against fires. Concluding his remarks, he said: asked to speak on 'Irrigation and the Forest.' I have done so, although I have not mentioned the word 'Irrigation.' The forests are the source of all irrigation. We cannot irrigate without water. We cannot have water without forests. If we do not preserve them we will have no irrigation.

NEW YORK POLICE COMMISSIONER RILED

Murphy Tells Hatchet Woman to Ge Back to Kansas and Makes Unsparing Allesion to her Domestie Infelicity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 .- Mrs. Car le Nation arrived in this city today. She had an inserview with Police Commissioner Murphy, during which he told her that she would be arrested if she violated the law in this city. Mrs. Nation also called at John L. Sullivan's aloon to see the ex-pugilist in reference to statement he was alleged to have made to the effect that he would "throw her in the sewer." Sullivan sent down word that he was ill, but made an appointment to meet her next Monday. She then went to see Archbishop Corrigan, but he was out of own.

When Mrs. Nation entered police headquarters she was shown at once to Commissioner Murphy's room. In opening her inerview with the commissioner she said she had called on him for an account of his stewardship and asked if he did not think New York was an awful wicked place. The commissioner replied in the negative, and Mrs. Nation repeated the question as an assertion, whereupon Mr. Murphy requested the superior and inferior maxillary bon a her to go, stating that he would not discuss the matter with her. She continued to ply the commissioner with questions, all of which he refused to answer. Mrs. Nation said she had come here to do the city some

AK-SAR-BEN WORK

Military Encampment Will Add to Etrength of Daylight Parade.

REGULAR SOLDIERS MAY TAKE PART

Board of Governors in Consultation with General Bates Relative to Appearance of Federal Troops and Regimental Band.

The parade committee of the Knights of k-Sar-Ben is moving to the front this week and will occupy the center of the stage as soon as the initiations end Monday night. The prospects for one of the largest and most brilliant displays in the daylight parade of Wednesday, September 18, are exceedingly bright, a change brought about by the action of the military board in fixing the place of the encampment at Fort Omaha. It is an open secret that had the state troops not been ordered to this city during the festivities there would have been no attempt made to hold a day parade and the efforts of the committee would have been centered upon the night pageant, but now that has been almost completed and the committee will begin active preparations for the day parade.

This work is still in its inception, but there remains sufficient time to have all societies taking part make the necessary preparation. It has been suggested that the committee offer a number of prizes for the best drilled degree teams of fraternal societies taking part in the parade and this and cleanses the blood of its imsuggestion will probably be adopted. There are a number of lodges in the city whose teams have taken high places in the contests held within the order at state and national reunions and a competition between them would be of considerable interest.

Regulars May Take Part.

Yesterday an application was made to General Bates for permission to have the federal troops at Fort Crook take part in the day parade, in which undoubtedly the state troops, including infantry, cavalry and one battery, will take part. The general did not give a final answer, but seemed to favor the plan if certain details can be arranged. It is believed that the board of governors will have no trouble in meeting the requirements and the presence of the federal troops with the regimental band of the Tenth infantry is looked upon as as-

Monday night at the den will be distictly an Omaha night. The efforts of the hustfing committee has been centered upon those who are desirable members and it is expected that a larger number of Omaha men will be initiated than at any time since the establishment of the order. This will be the last night for initiations and those who fail to get in at that time will forever lose the opportunity of enjoying the experience felt by a knight of Ak-Sar-Ben VII.

Work on the floats is moving rapidly and it is said that there never was a better display conceived for such an occasion. The theme is said to be original and of a kind which can be adequately illustrated in a street pageant, with variety enough in the floats to maintain the interest from start to finish

Cutshall Took Corrosive

Poison.

William E. Cutshall, the young Omaha man found Tuesday evening in an unconscious and dying state under a bridge at Grable, Ia., on the Illinois Ceneral railroad, took his own life. The post-mortem exam-Thomas, an architect of New York, died ination held yesterday morning at Lunkley's morgue, Council Bluffs, on the remains of the young man by Coroner Treynor and City Physician Jennings of Council Bluffs, showed evidence that young Cutshall's death was the result of suicide. The stomach and oesophagus presented unmistakable evidence of some corrosive poison, and the physicians concluded that death had resulted from this cause. The evidence of the polson was so apparent that Dr. Treynor did not deem > determine the exact nature of the poison taken. The only relative present at the postmortem was a brother-in-law. He sa d that young Cutshall had always been of a peculiar temperament and had been a source of considerable worry to his mother. He was retiring and diffident and this, with his lack of self-assertiveness, made it difficult for him to obtain employment and thus assist his mother, who possesses but moderate means. This is believed to have preyed upon his mind and may have possi bly been the incentive that caused him to take his life.

Youth of Good Habits.

Young Cutshall was a youth of good habits and had attended Bellevue college for a year. He was anxious to re-enter the college this fall and to help pay his way had expected to secure employment in Hayden Bros.' store. When he left home Monday morning it was with the intention of going to that store. The position had been kept open for him, but he did not appear to take it.

The watch which he pawned was a gift from his mother, and this is believed by his family to indicate that he was not in his right mind. But a short time ago the subject of pawning property was brought up at his home and it is recalled that he told his mother he never would do anything like that, much less pawn the watch which she had given him.

Young Cutshall was of a studious turn of mind and a voracious reader of historical novels, which worked on his imagination to such a degree that he believed he would one day write such a work.

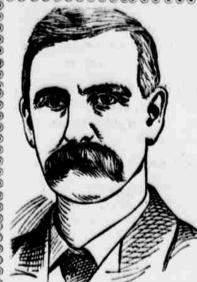

The funeral will be this morning at 9:30 o'clock from the First Methodist church. Omaha, and burial will be in Forest Lawn cemetery. In order that the body may be brought across the river before the inquest, which will be this morning, Coroner Treynor impaneled the jury last evening so that the members might view the remains LENDING A HAND TO WOMEN Miss Howe Describes the Methods of Jane Club in Giving Assistance to Working Girls.

The parlors of the Young Women's Christian association were well filled at noon yesterday by a gathering of Omaha business romen, who had assembled to hear Miss Gertrude Howe of Hull House, Chicago speak on the Jane club, that well known organization of Chicago, which provides a home for women who are making their own way in the world. Miss Howe explained the methods and management of the club. It is composed of twenty-five members, each of whom pays but $2 per week for all of the privileges. These include single sleeping rooms, comfortable, attractive living rooms good library and good board. The women dictate the management of the home, which is carried on by different sets of member: elected for three months. In this way each woman has her share of the responsibility and the benefits and at no time in the his tory of the organization have any of the privileges been abused. At the close of her address Miss Howe answered many questions asked by her interested audi-

'I deem it my duty to inform you that I have been troubled with catarrh for four years and could not work at my trade. I have tried almost every cure on the face of the earth, and had doctors attend me at their office and in the hospital but could not get relief until I tried your wonderful Peruna. I was very doubtful whether it would help me, but at a good friend's advice. I tried your Peruna which is a Godsend to all catarrh sufferers. After taking but four bottles, I am very much pleased indeed. I can safely say that one more bottle will be enough. After taking the second bottle I could go to work at my trade (sawyer) and the dust has no effect on my throat now. I shall recommend Peruna to everybody who suffers with ca-
