Rescue Work is Difficult.

We got out every patient, but only by individual instances of bravery on the part of | could be made so that 100 to 150 patients Many of the patients resisted removal, and of the loss had involved a total loss on had to be forced out. Then there was much the walls, but by his revision of the figures difficulty in getting at some. In many he estimated that from $100,000 to $125,000 difficulty in getting at some. In many he estimated that from $100,000 to $125,000 cases we had to batter down the stone casings of the windows, wrench out the iron in their former condition.

trouble in taking care of the unfortunates. "All books and records were saved, so that the business of the institution will be straight. The state's loss will be about $150,000. My personal loss is slight, only some cash burned up."

Death of Rescued Patient.

The patient who was rescued through his cell window this morning has since came from Cheyenne county. One other all members of the Board of Public Lands tion to sell stock to any Nebraska drugpatient, Victor Kasper of Colfax county, and Buildings then in the city were sumalso perished in the flames. He was taken out with the others, but was determined dating the 300 homeless patients. It was their proprietary medicines—medicines use during the stay in Buffalo to return to his cell and did return, but decided to bring 200 of them to that are put up like patent medicines, was brought back a second time, only to the state hospital near this city though advertised only to physicians and return as soon as he found opportunity to and to send the others to the hospital prescribed by them-from eastern manuished in the flames.

In all, there were 300 patients confined in the hospital, 203 men and ninety-seven women. When their mental condition is considered, it is a marvel that no more lives were lost. Compared with the loss of life at the Yankton asylum, where they had electric lights to work under from the start, the loss of life is indeed small. Here the lights had been shut off and fires banked at 10 o'clock, so that it was some time before a fire could be raked up and the dynamos started. Then, before they had worked long, the wires burned off in the west wing and left that part of the building in darkness until lanterns could be procured. A great deal of the furniture in the wing was saved and when it was found that the entire building was doomed many of the doors and windows were removed, together with the brass fixtures of the water service, the radiators in the heating service, and many other things that can be made use of in rebuilding.

Temporary Quarters Provided. The work of fitting up the chapel, the laundry and barn for the temporary housing of the patients here has been completed and all patients will be housed under roof, and where heat can be supplied when necessary.

At a meeting of the citizens in the city hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock, Chief Hartford of the fire department was authorized to place such men on guard to assist the hospital officers in guarding the state's property as might be deemed necessary, and for such time as they were needed. Tents were also loaned for the temporary housing of the attendants and as the kitchen and store departments are intact no suffering is anticipated. Architect Stitt was called out by Dr. Teal, superintendent, this afternoon, to make an examination of the walls and he pronounced them intact and perfectly safe for rebuilding, excepting those of the central portion, where the officers had their quarters, and they were weak from the first. One of the towers having fallen in before.

It is regarded a little singular that durthe fourteen years since the building was first occupied, and a report from the superintendent had gone to the legislature emphasizing the need of a good system of fire protection, at last when a legislature did finally concede something of that kind due and make appropriation for fur-

Be it resolved by the Second Ward Republican club of the city of Omaha that we desire the nomination on the county republican ficket of our friend and neighbor. Hon Fred H. Hoye, for the position of sheriff of Douglas county.

We urge this nomination because we are convinced that Mr. Hoye will be triumphantly elected and that his name will add strength to the ticket. We urge it because he is essentially a Douglas county man, having been born and raised in the city of Omaha.
