This season May Irwin will revive her three principal plays. "The Widow Jones."

Sister Mary" and "Madge Smith."

Jerome K. Jerome's "Miss Hobbe" has been translated into German and will soon be produced at Dresden.

Sir Thomas Lipton, the owner of Shamrock, says that he has not sat out a play more than tweive times in his life.

William H. Crane has almost fully recovered from a badly sprained leg, and he will open Monday night in "David Harum."

Stephen Pillips' new play for Willard Stephen Monday night in "David Harum," Stephen Pillips' new play for Willard deals with David, while his play for Julia.
Mariowe is now said to treat of Mary Magdaien rather than Joan of Arc.
Mrs. James A. Herne is directing the rehearsals of "Sag Harber." She was once an actress and thoroughly understands her husband's ideas as to how the piece should be presented.

Hele Redead. be presented.

Helen Redmond has replaced Bertha Walzinger as the leading soprane in the New York production of "Florodora." Miss Walzinger joins a road company playing the same piece.

"Don Caesar's Return" will not be Hackett's only play this season. In the spring he and his wife, Mary Mannering, will unite in a special production of "The Taming of the Shrew."

Barria's new comedy for Maude Adams.

Barrie's new comedy for Maude Adams, 'Quality Street." tells of the lives of two naiden ladies who dwell in a small country own. The period is the early part of the ineteenth century.
