

STRENUOUS LIFE SO OFTEN KILLS. Thousands Worn and Sick in Body and Mind. New Strength and Life in One Real Remedy.

Ablest of All Physicians Freely Give Advice.

It is truer today than ever before that one man is no better than another unless he does more than another. When, recently, in the most learned medical review in London, the organ of the great English college of physicians and surgeons, it was proved by exhaustive statistics that, despite the drain upon nerves and blood incident to the modern, strenuous life—despite the fact that diseases of the nervous system appear earlier and oftener among working people than formerly, nevertheless, within the past five or six years the average life of Americans was materially longer than it was a decade ago—the editors of the review pronounced it as their firm opinion that this undoubtedly resulted in no small degree from the discovery a few years ago by an eminent American physician of a positive cure for diseases of the nervous system, which had promptly been put within the reach of the public in that country, and was being used more and more generally as a family remedy. One of the physicians, a member then and now of the royal staff, in forwarding a copy of the article to the proprietors of Paine's celery compound, enclosed a long and somewhat technical letter, in which he said:

"We are thoroughly convinced that no remedy yet known affords so certain relief from that class of disorders which modern conditions of working and living now breed, as your Paine's celery compound."

"Certainly one remedy is no better than another unless it accomplishes more than another. And Paine's celery compound is pre-eminently the best remedy known to medicine for the cure of ailments that result from impaired nerves and consequent impure blood. The rheumatism, neuralgia, sleeplessness, indigestion, lack of strength that a bottle of Paine's celery compound so rapidly dispels are but temporary conditions if the relief that this remedy affords is properly given."

Mr. F. G. Crowell, a regent of the State University of Kansas, a typical example of the strenuous life of today, a college graduate with a later master's degree from Columbia, who resigned from the prosecuting attorneyship of Atchison county after four years to engage in the grain business with the famous Greenleaf-Baker Grain company, is one of the thousands of such men who owe a debt of gratitude to Paine's celery compound, and to use his own direct words, "found it all that it is represented to be."

When everything else has failed, Paine's celery compound makes the sick well. It needs but a single trial to convince!

SAMPSON-SCHLEY MESSAGES

Captain Chadwick Tells Court of Inquiry What They Were. SAYS HE DISAPPROVED OF SOME OF THEM

Considered Sampson's Congratulations to the Man on Brooklyn Incented for by the Circumstances—Other Testimony.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Captain F. E. Chadwick, who was in command of Admiral Sampson's flagship, New York, and who also was chief of the admiral's staff during the war with Spain, testified before the Schley court for a short time this afternoon. He was the last witness called when the court adjourned. He was still under cross-examination by Mr. Rayner, who stated that he had only a few more questions to ask him.

There was considerable interest in Captain Chadwick's appearance because of his close relationship to the commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic squadron. Captain Chadwick's testimony was related very largely to dispatches sent by Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley while the latter lay off Cienfuegos in May, 1898, and to the code of signals agreed upon between Captain McCalla of Marblehead and the Cuban forces operating near Cienfuegos. He said the code had been sent to Commodore Schley by dispatch because Captain McCalla had expected to join the commodore immediately and communicate the code to him. He also told of being present at an interview between Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley, in which the latter had expressed his intention to be loyal to the commander-in-chief. He related in detail the change of opinion concerning the whereabouts of Cervera's fleet by Admiral Sampson on May 21, between the sending of the two dispatches of that date by Admiral Sampson to Commodore Schley, one of which was dated at Key West and the other at Havana. Captain Chadwick said he had not approved Admiral Sampson's dispatch of May 28, commending Commodore Schley on his accomplishments to that date.

Witnesses of the Day. Five other new witnesses were heard during the day, two of them being officers of the New York. One of these was Lieutenant C. C. Marsh, the flag secretary of Admiral Sampson, who testified concerning dispatches to Commodore Schley, and the other was the ship's flag lieutenant, Lieutenant E. L. Bennett. Lieutenant Theodore C. Dewey, who served on the New York, who served on Massachusetts, and Lieutenant Francis Boughter, who served on Marblehead, were the other new witnesses of the day.

Among the witnesses called early in the day for the purpose of correcting early testimony was Admiral H. C. Taylor. While he was on the stand he was questioned as to whether he had received information that the Spaniards were coming out of the harbor at Santiago before they made their appearance on the morning of July 3. The question was asked by Captain Lemly and the answer was:

"None whatever." Mr. Rayner—You did not get a message from Vixen in reference to smoke coming out of the harbor? "None."

Part Played by Massachusetts. Lieutenant Adelbert Althouse, formerly watch and division officer on the battleship Massachusetts, was then called. He detailed the movements of that vessel in connection with the flying squadron. He said that at Cienfuegos the vessels lay six to ten miles out at night, going nearer in the daytime.

Lieutenant Althouse said that on the day of the bombardment of Cristobal Colon he was in charge of the eight-inch turret of Massachusetts. He said that the ship had not been to exceed three minutes in passing the entrance to the harbor on the first passage, and that only two shots were then fired. The instructions were to make the range 7,000 yards, but the shots fell short and the range was increased on the return trip to 8,500 and then to 10,000 yards. Asked what was developed as to the strength of the land batteries by this reconnaissance, he said that to his mind it was shown that they were very weak. In reply to a question as to whether he had made any notes concerning the engagement, he replied:

"No; we went in under instructions to sink Colon." His orders had been to direct his fire at that vessel. When Lieutenant Althouse was excused Captain Lemly introduced as evidence the reports made by Commodore Schley to the secretary of the navy of the engagement of May 31. In one of these, dated June 3, Commodore Schley said:

"The reconnaissance was intended principally to injure and destroy Colon. The fire was returned without delay by the heavy batteries to the east and to the west entrance, large caliber, long range, reconnaissance developing satisfactorily the presence of the Spanish squadron lying behind island near inner fort, as they fired over hill at

INDIAN REVOLT SUPPRESSED

Colonel Jenkins Sustains Agent Somers in His Troubles. SOUTH DAKOTA REDSKINS LOCKED UP With the Administration of Jail Sentences to the Ringleaders the Uprising is Regarded Ended.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—Colonel James E. Jenkins, special inspector of the Indian bureau, has returned to this city from the Lower Brule agency, where he was sent to investigate the recent revolt against the authority of the agent, Major R. H. Somers, upon the part of a band of the Lower Brule Indians. On October 5 an Indian named Little Crow, acting upon the misrepresentations of his friends in regard to the spirit of article 5 of the treaty of 1857, removed his sick child from the agency hospital against the order of the agent. The provision of the treaty referred to provides that an Indian child, when sick, cannot be compelled to attend the agency school. If the parents prefer to have the child treated at home by the agency physician.

In the present case the agent and the agency physician, Dr. J. R. Collard, both contend that the child was perfectly well when taken to school, but afterward became ill with pulmonary trouble and was placed in the hospital in the care of the physician and a trained nurse. Little Crow insisted upon taking the child home in spite of the declaration of the physician that the child was too ill to be moved, having suffered several severe hemorrhages, as well as the positive orders to the contrary by the agent. Major Somers thereupon ordered the police to place Little Crow under arrest. This they did, when the friends of Little Crow rallied and supported and took him from the custody of the police and accompanied him to his home.

As a result of the investigation Special Inspector Jenkins has sustained the action of the agent in every respect, commencing with the action taken and ordered Clarke Spotted Bull and Jim Thompson, Indian friends of Little Crow, to be incarcerated in the agency jail for ninety days, with the option that in case the agent feels that their conduct merits the may reduce the sentence. Pretty Head is given thirty days in jail for assaulting the chief of police and rations are ordered cut off from seven others of the principals in the revolt, while the balance of the revolters received a severe reprimand.

SOUTH DAKOTA WATER SUIT

Corporation Seeks to Restrain Sioux Falls from Cutting Aquatic Rates. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—A suit has been instituted in the United States court here by the South Dakota Water company, the corporation which furnishes Sioux Falls with water for domestic and fire protection purposes, in which the company asks that an ordinance adopted by the city council July 10 last reducing water rates, be set aside, and the agreement between the city and the company be made valid and binding. The company also asks that a temporary injunction be issued restraining the city from enforcing the ordinance and inciting consumers to refuse to pay the old water rates. A perpetual injunction restraining the city from a breach of the agreement between the city and the company is also asked for.

The company contends that by the terms of the agreement the rights of the company thereunder will continue for nearly three years from date, and that if the new water rates are permitted to go into effect the company will sustain a loss of less than $7,000. The action is instituted in the federal court on the ground that the constitution of the United States has been infringed upon in that the city has enacted a law impairing the obligation of contracts; that private property is being taken without just compensation and that the company being deprived of its property without due process of law. The instituting of the suit is the culmination of a series of several months' duration between the city and the company.

SOUTH DAKOTA FIGUREHEAD

State Historical Society Plans to Have Appropriate Model for New Cruiser.

PIERRE, S. D., Oct. 11.—(Special.)—The executive committee of the State Historical society met in this city and appointed C. E. DeLand, Dr. D. W. Robinson and Doane Robinson a committee to decide what matter should be incorporated into the first biennial report of the society. Under suggestion from the Navy department, a method of securing a fund for a figurehead for the new cruiser South Dakota was discussed. While nothing definite was done in that direction, it was suggested that a proper device would be one bearing the seal of the state, and that the easiest way to raise the necessary fund would be the same method by which the money was raised to bring the returning soldiers from San Francisco, to ask the counties to advance it, and look to the legislature for a refund. The cost of such a figurehead would be about $5,000.
