SAVE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY

Congress Can Do it by Protecting the Raw Material.

HAVEMEYER TRUST IS DANGEROUS

Henry T. Oxnard Talks of the Latest Attempt of the Oxnards to Crush Its Western Competitor.

Henry T. Oxnard, president of the American Beet Sugar Association, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon direct from an inspection tour in California and Colorado, where the company has several extensive beet sugar factories.

In response to an inquiry concerning the conflict that has broken out between the sugar trust and the beet sugar manufacturers, Mr. Oxnard said: "The principle involved in this conflict is whether the sugar trust shall demit the sugar industry of the United States and dictate the price which the citizens of this country shall pay for the sugar imported and refined by the trust in its mills. The question that is forced upon the country is whether the overwhelming sentiment in favor of the American home industry shall make itself felt in the halls of congress by legislation that will stimulate production of sugar raised on American soil, thereby developing a great and valuable agricultural industry capable of keeping at home $100,000,000, which is now exported annually to buy the raw sugars of Germany, France and Cuba."

Trust's Latest Move.

"The most recent step taken by the trust is to try to make the production of beet sugar unprofitable in the markets where it is sold by dropping the price of sugar in those markets below the actual cost of production to the raiser of beets and the sugar manufacturer, while keeping up the markets in other sections. Since October 1, the sugar trust has dropped the price of sugar in territory bordering on the Missouri river to 35 cents a pound, while maintaining the same sugar at 25 cents, leaving about 10 cent on all they sell there, which is about one-tenth of their daily sales. They are, however, making 1/2 of a cent profit on 50 per cent of their sales. And while they are still making undue profit out of their sales they have clearly proved the value of the beet sugar industry to the consumers of sugar in the United States, as with their small capital the beet sugar men have forced the sugar trust to disgorge their excessive profits on about 10 per cent of their output. No better illustration was ever shown of the methods in which a trust can be checked in its rapacious greed."

"If the beet industry is fostered by the United States up to the per cent of production of the sugar we need, in small factories scattered throughout the United States, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, we shall have found a way of curbing the rapacity and arbitrary of all the trusts which are now attempting to defeat the will of the American people in their effort to crush out what can become the most valuable of all industries."

Will Beat the Trust.

"In conclusion, I want to say that it is my belief that if the present duties on raw sugar are maintained for ten years, we will have placed the beet sugar industry on an unassailable basis. It will have become invaluable, not only to the farmers who produce the raw material, but also of incalculable advantage to the consumers of sugar throughout the United States."

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.

It hid a Luxurious Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair. The Father of his Country concealed a luxurious suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thinned hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff cannot be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ.

SOME DIFFERENCE OF IDEAS EXISTS

Restaurant Feature of the Club Continues to Be Held Up as One of the Paramount Issues—What Jobbers Say.

The appointment of a committee to investigate Commercial club affairs and report upon a plan for the reorganization of that body has created considerable interest in the jobbing district, but the majority of the jobbers have nothing to say on the subject, the sentiment of the most of them being expressed by Z. T. Lindsey, who said: "I am in no position to say anything upon the subject. I have been a member of the club for a long time and at one time I was on the executive committee, but lately I have not attended the meetings, and know so little about its work that I cannot talk intelligently upon the subject. The men in charge are responsible for the work and they will undoubtedly do what they think to be best, but, as I say, I have taken little interest in the club for some time."

Club for Business Men.

A few other spoke upon the subject as follows:

A. C. Smith—I know little about any plans for reorganization, but I have been of the opinion for some time that the promiscuous membership was making the club too unwieldy for decided and rapid action. The real estate men have an organization of their own, and if the lawyers want a club let them form one. At the same time there is another side to the question. The club needs revenues and it may be that it is necessary to have all classes represented in order to raise the necessary funds. There has been a suggestion that the dues be raised and I think that maybe it would be a good thing, as I do not believe any one who is now paying dues would drop out on that account. For some time I have been of the opinion that the restaurant should be abolished. I believe that if the meetings were set at one time between 1 and 2 o'clock in the afternoon, so that people could first go to lunch and then attend the meeting, there would be a large attendance as now and the club would not be competing with people in the hotel and restaurant business.

club would not be competing with people in the hotel and restaurant business.

T. C. Byrne—I feel that I have not been a resident of the city long enough to break into criticism of the club or of any other organization. So far as I can see the club is doing all right it is, but there is one thing I would like to say, and that is that the newspapers of the town seem to oppose everything the club suggests. I do not like to see this spirit. In fact, I don't understand it.

Ought to Be Active.

David Cole—if you desire to see my opinion of the Commercial club as at present organized I expect you can find it in a letter which should be on file there, written by me two years ago. In that letter I withdrew from the club and told them that I would never return until they abolished the restaurant. The club has degenerated from a commercial club into a haphazard. If the club desires to give a banquet, the members could secure admirable rooms at any hotel in the city and give a decent banquet at a cost as low as they can put up one in their own rooms, and they would not then be competing with legitimate caterers. As to the effectiveness of the present club, I do not believe this. I have had some experience with railroad rates in and out of Omaha myself and I would have to be convinced by evidence I have not yet seen that a single rate has been reduced by the railroads on account of the work of the Commercial club. The railroads have made changes demanded, but it has been in their own time and for reasons other than those presented by the club. As to reorganization, I would not drop a man or a class. Let all who will join and make the club representative of Omaha's business interests.

J. E. Baum—As far as the Commercial club is concerned I believe that it is all right as it at present exists. The restaurant feature is a small affair and I think it cuts little or no effect. If anything, it works for good rather than for evil, as it affords a place where business men can take their customers and eat lunch while talking business. I do not see that any change is required.

AUDITORIUM COMMITTEE WORK

Partial Report as to the Personnel of Standing Members is Prepared.

The committee appointed by the board of directors of the Auditorium company to confer with the president on the subject of the appointment of standing committees for the year held a meeting Thursday night, at which a report was partially prepared. This early date for the meeting was chosen for the reason that President Sanborn left yesterday for Chicago, where he will remain for several days, so that he will not be present at the meeting of the board Monday.

day. The selections will be made probably in accordance with the report of the committee.

As at present outlined there will be five committees, as follows: Ways and means, building and grounds, auditing, subscriptions, and miscellaneous revenue. The work of the promotion committee of last year will be given to the miscellaneous revenue committee. The membership of the committees will not be announced until the meeting Monday, but it is understood that the special committee will recommend that the chairmanship of the ways and means committee shall go to C. H. Pickens, who held that position last year; that W. S. Wright shall retain his place as chairman of the building and grounds committee and that Fred Paffrath shall continue as chairman of the committee on miscellaneous revenue. The chairmanships of the other two committees will probably go to new members.

Young Mothers

Stand in special need of help while the baby is being nursed. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only strengthens the woman for motherhood and makes the birth hour practically painless, but it increases the nutritive secretions on which the child is fed. It soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite and rapidly restores the mother to robust health. There is no alcohol in it.

"Favorite Prescription" neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic.

"I wish to let you know the great benefit my wife derived through taking your Favorite Prescription," writes Mr. Robert Hayden of Brandon, Manitoba, Box 216. "It was a case of childbirth. We had heard so much of it that my wife decided to try it. I may say my wife is thirty-three and this was her first child. She is now a healthy girl, and we believe that this was mainly owing to the 'Favorite Prescription' taken faithfully according to directions. We shall certainly recommend it whenever we can."

Inventive Ingenuity

Is a prominent factor in the construction of an up-to-date piano. Old ideas, like the square piano, have had their day, and must give way to new and better thought, based on a more correct knowledge of acoustics. That's why factories are constantly changing and improving their scales. The new scale used in the Kimball piano is probably the most scientific scale drawn at the present time. It produces a marvelously pure and sweet tone, yet powerful, and is entirely free from the breaks usually found in the upright piano scale. The Kimball company must be given credit for a great deal of advancement made in piano construction of today.
