It was announced that for the winter months there would be no change in time between Chicago and San Francisco. Next opring the trains will probably be run through in several hours less time than at present. When the proposed Southern Pacific improvements, including the cut-off ground the south end of the Great Salt lake into Salt Lake City are completed probably twelve hours will be cut off the time.

The question of routing business over the Rio Grande lines through Colorado and Utah, instand of over the Union Pacific through Wyoming, was touched upon. The Denver gateway will soon be opened by the Harriman lines, as has already been other done by the Oregon Railroad and Naviga tion company, and easthound business from the Rio Grande lines to be turned back to the Union Pacific at Denver.

Some of the visiting officials left this fternoon, but others remained to go ou omorrow to inspect the new Aspen tunnel on the Union Pacific.

George Gould Expected.

Besides planning arrangements for the winter schedules the meeting was to cemen traffic arrangements and discuss passenge traffic, train service innovations and poseible extensions. Conference of those remaining in the city may be continued tomorrow, when George J. Gould'and General Manager Russell Harding of the Missouri Pacific are expected to arrive.

In explaining the object of the meeting General Passenger Agent Lomax said: "Instead of cutting down the time on our fast trains the intention is possibly to reduce the running time a shade for the winter schedule. Of course when the cutoffs on the Southern Pacific are completed the Wilson of New York on the Denver & Ric time will be greatly reduced, but that con-sideration is too remote for immediate ac-the board for the election of officers will

President Burt was silent upon the mat ters under discussion. He said, however, the Aspen tunnel would be thrown open to regular traffic at 12 o'clock tonight and the Bear River-Lercy cut-off would be used from today, thereby cutting down the mileage of the Wyoming division over nine miles and greatly reducing the grade and survatures.

The visit of George J. Gould and General Manager Russell Harding of the Missouri Pacific is regarded as significant by local officials and important developments regarding passenger and traffic arrangements are expected.
