American Shipping Enjoys Notable Growth During Year. No Boast, However, is So Far Justified.

Fleet of Ocean Vessels in Foreign Trade Still Too Small to Be Compared with Showing of Other Nations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The report of Mr. Chamberlain, the United States commissioner of navigation, says that the last fiscal year has been the third successive year of notable prosperity and growth in American shipping.

American tonnage now has attained practically the former maximum of 1861. The figures of 1901, compared with 1900, show an increase in coasting trade vessels from 2,761,844 tons to 4,582,562 tons.

Of our total tonnage 2,623,293 tons are wooden vessels and only 1,959,269 tons are iron or steel. The Great Britain carried 1,410,000 tons of steel vessels.

Porto Rico appears in the returns with twenty-five vessels of 5,257 tons and Hawaii with sixty-four vessels of 37,149 tons.

The tonnage built and documented in the United States during the last fiscal year comprise 1,540 vessels of 482,469 gross tons.

The steel vessels under construction under contract during the current fiscal year will much exceed similar tonnage built in any previous year.

The difference in wages on American and foreign vessels is considered in detail. In illustration the pay roll excluding masters of 300 men on the steamship St. Louis is $11,200.

The report contains a detailed statement of the foreign voyages of American vessels last year, showing that the American flag was seen most often in the North Atlantic during President Jefferson's embargo (1808).

The purchase of the Leyland line is spoken of in the report as evidence that American capital is willing to invest in ocean steamships.

Including the Leyland purchase, American capital is willing to invest in ocean steamships at a rate that there is an advantage to American exporters in control of steamships under the American flag.

MANKIND IS A PARLIAMENT

Mexican Delegation Presents Project of International Treaty. PECUNIARY DAMAGE IS THE ONLY ISSUE.

Court of Claims Would Establish Whether Actual Loss Had Been Suffered at Hands of Any Foreign State.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 8.—The Pan-American congress at its session this morning decided, at the suggestion of President Ruiz, to adjourn for a fortnight, in order to consider the projects submitted to it.

Senator Matis of Chile moved that the president be authorized during the recess to refer the projects presented to the proper committees. With this amendment a celebration of felicitation was ordered sent to M. Santos-Dumont and a cablegram of thanks for good wishes sent to the Spanish Parliament.

The project of the treaty for an international court of claims was presented by the Mexican delegation. It is a project of speech, Francisco L. De La Barra, delegate of Mexico and author of the project, said that it was largely based on the Olney-Pauncefote treaty of January 12, 1897, with modifications suggested by the objections which were made to the same treaty in the United States senate and which caused that body to reject it.

The proposed convention provides that the parties thereto will bind themselves to submit to an international court all claims proceeding from pecuniary losses and damages occasioned to any state or its citizens on account of acts or omissions of another state or any of its citizens, provided that such claims cannot be arranged diplomatically.

Composition of the Court. The obligation to submit claims commences as soon as it is demanded by any of the contracting governments. The court of claims will be constituted as follows: Each contracting government shall appoint one arbitrator, who must be a jurist of repute, not a native of the state appointing him, and the two arbitrators together shall elect a third one, who will preside. If the two arbitrators cannot agree to the appointment of a third they will ask the chief justice of the supreme court of any of the American republics to designate a third arbitrator, who must not be a native of the state of the states interested in the controversy.

Should the states requesting the arbitration be more than two, each shall appoint an arbitrator, and the arbitrator thus appointed will then secure the appointment of the presiding arbitrator in the same manner as above indicated. The presiding arbitrator will have the casting of a vote in case of a tie.

Three Months the Limit. Sentence must be rendered within three months, counting from the date on which the case is closed. Sentence will be decided by the majority of votes and must be signed by all members of the court, including the dissenters, who may, however, express their private views in an independent form.

If the sentence is unanimous it will be final, save that within two months its revision by the same court may be demanded in case its publication gives rise to doubts of various interpretations; or in case it fails to decide any of the points at issue, the court will be reconstituted and must definitely within one month from the date of application for a revision.

If the original sentence was rendered by a majority of the voters only the losing party may appeal to an international court composed of five members, of whom two will be selected by the host of the contracting states, four of those thus elected appointing a fifth or proceeding as above indicated in case of failure to come to an agreement as to the fifth.

But, if in case of a non-unanimous sentence no appeal is taken within three months, the sentence shall become irrevocable. In case an appeal is taken the case shall be considered and decided irrevocably by the court of appeals, constituted as may fit.

Fixing of Charges. Both the court of claims and the court of appeals may order the payment of court expenses by either of the contending parties, otherwise the parties must share the court expenses equally. Each of the contending parties shall pay its private expenses. The high contracting parties in the treaty obligate themselves in good faith to comply with the stipulations of this treaty, but if any state fails to do so, the other states may subscribe to a collective note of censure, which shall become public and official provided it is subscribed to by at least three of the contracting states.

The treaty is to remain in force five years, counted from the date on which the exchange of ratifications has taken place. The treaty shall take place. Any state may withdraw from the convention one year after giving notice to that effect.

The Mexican delegation at this morning's session presented a project on international sanitary regulations. The project reviews the recent scientific discoveries and concludes with resolutions looking toward the suppression of epidemics.

HYMENEAL. Childs-Tate. DENVER, Nov. 8.—(Special.)—The marriage of Miss Evelyn Marguerite Tate to R. W. Childs was solemnized by Rev. Frost Craft at Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, with a few friends and relatives present. After the wedding the young couple took the train for Colorado Springs, where they expect to remain during the week. Later they will go south for the winter. They expect to return next spring and make Denver their home. The bride is of a southern girl and of a dark southern type of beauty. The groom is a native of this state for a New York firm and has two years. He is a graduate of the Nebraska Wesleyan university and is a former student of the law department of the University of Nebraska.

EGGART-WENDEL. TALMAGE, Mrs. Nov. 8.—(Special.)—Fred Eggart and Mrs. Herman Wendell, the latter of Talmage, were married at the groom's home in Dunbar yesterday. Mr. Eggart is a wealthy farmer, more than 40 years old.

TRAINMEN DO NOT OFFER AID

Brotherhood Does Not Feel Bound to Take Any Hand in Strike of Rio Grande Switchmen.

DENVER, Nov. 8.—Manager Herbert of the Denver & Rio Grande system reports that notwithstanding the strike of the switchmen the company's trains have been moving today with very little delay. He says that 80 per cent of the places made vacant by the strikers have already been filled. The strikers, on the other hand, assert that the switching has been done today by yardmasters and other officials of the road and that the service has been very seriously crippled.

W. A. Grand master of the Brotherhood of Trainmen has issued an order to the members of the brotherhood to carry out the agreement existing between the organization and the Rio Grande company regardless of the strike of the switchmen's union officials. This agreement, he declares, covers yard service. Meetings were held tonight by the Switchmen's union and the brotherhood.

HUMAN BONES IN A MOUND

Fragments of Five Bodies Found in Excavation on Site of St. Louis Exposition.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—Two of the Indian mounds on the world's fair site in Forest park were opened today under the direction of Prof. D. I. Bushnell, the well known archaeologist. In one mound were found the skulls and fragments of five human beings in a very bad state of preservation. Mixed with the bones were pieces of pottery. Nothing was discovered in the other mound.

Palmer L. Bowen, who has been appointed resident representative of the Louisiana Purchase exposition in France, left for Paris today. The representative of Brazil, John K. Lewis, also left for the scene of his labors today.

HARPER PUBLISHERS' FINANCE

Referee Continues Report Approving Accounts of Morgan Trust Company, the Receiver.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Francis C. Cantine, as referee, has filed his report in the supreme court, approving the accounts of the Morgan Trust company, receiver of Harper & Bros., publishers. The business of the company was bought by the firm of the same name in September, 1900. The receiver collected $1,683,341. Claims were presented by forty-seven creditors, aggregating $2,061,293, and these were allowed. The net property was $1,424,027. The balance in the hands of the receiver, which is available for distribution, is $9,677.

SHORTER TIME TO DENVER

Burlington Will Cut Three Hours from Schedule of Its Nebraska-Colorado Express.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 8.—Beginning November 12 the Burlington will be shortened by three hours the time of its Nebraska-Colorado express from St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph to Denver. Under the new schedule the train will leave St. Louis daily at 2:15 p. m., Kansas City at 9:15 p. m. and St. Joseph at 11:30 p. m., arriving in Denver at 3:15 p. m. the next day, instead of 6:15 p. m. It will connect with afternoon trains for Colorado Springs and Pueblo. The eastbound schedule from Denver will also be materially shortened.

STRONG'S SLAYER ACQUITTED

Jury Acquits Grant Crumley, Who Killed Colorado Millionaire Mine Owner.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Nov. 8.—The jury in the case of Grant Crumley, who was tried for killing Sam Strong, a millionaire mine owner here, recently, has returned a verdict of acquittal. They were out four hours.

Alleged Stock Swindler Caught. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Alexander Seaman is in prison here charged with a series of alleged swindling stock operations under the name of "The Chicago Trust." The name of the swindler was advertised in a number of out-of-town accounts. A turn was ever made and several of the customers were to the detective bureau complaining. The man was caught when he called at a branch postoffice for mail, since it was a post office in New York in King's county penitentiary for passing worthless checks in Brooklyn in 1888.

A GIRL'S TALE

With a Reason for Misleading the Father.

"We have tried for a long time to persuade papa that perhaps his diet had something to do with his ill feelings; he used to laugh good naturedly and say, 'Why, girls, I've been used to eating and drinking ever since I was a boy; I was trained that way; no, I fear some change has taken place in my body and I shall never be well again.'"

"We often suggested that he leave off coffee and tobacco, but he urged that they did not hurt him and was a comfort; so we acquiesced until one day sister insisted on making coffee one-half Postum Food Coffee, and it was made that way for about ten days, until papa seemed brighter and complained less of his head."

CALLAHAN AGAIN ACQUITTED

Jury Finds Him Not Guilty of Forgery After Being Out Two Days.

ONE MAN STANDS LONG FOR CONVICTION. Freed Prisoner Says Eight Months in Jail Have Not Worked for Him.

James Callahan walked out of the courtroom last night a free man. After thirty-three hours of deliberation the jury impaled to try him on a charge of forgery brought in a verdict of not guilty.

The inability of the jury to agree after considering the case for nearly a day and a half led Judge Keyser to believe that it was in need of further instructions. In the hope of assisting the jurors he called them into the criminal courtroom at 9 o'clock last night and asked the foreman, F. E. Gates, how the jury stood.

"Eleven to one," was the reply of the foreman. "Is the failure of the jury to agree due to any misunderstanding of the instructions?" the judge asked.

The foreman replied it was not. "Do you believe that the jury can reach a verdict?" Judge Keyser asked.

The answer was an emphatic "No." Gates then remarked that the disagreement was due entirely to testimony which Callahan offered concerning his mouthpiece.

Colten Suggests Agreement. All of the jurors, with the exception of James Colten, said they believed the jury would never agree. Colten said in his opinion the twelve men would reach a verdict if given another opportunity.

The jurors had scarcely reached their room in the basement of the courthouse when the great gong sounded and the announcement was brought to Judge Keyser that a verdict had been reached. In a few minutes the members of the jury filed into the courtroom. As soon as the roll was called the verdict of not guilty was pronounced on the clerk and read.

The result of the trial was no surprise to the few spectators who gathered in the courtroom. It was what Callahan and his attorneys anticipated.

When the jury first began to consider the case eight men stood for acquittal and two for conviction. On the next ballot the jurors stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction. At 5 o'clock Friday morning another man was won over for acquittal. From that time on until the verdict was reached last night one man stood out against the other eleven.

Callahan took his acquittal calmly. He said he had been confident he would be freed. The charge of false imprisonment filed against him was withdrawn a short time ago, so he is now free from all entanglement in the celebrated kidnaping case.

Eight Months in Jail. "I won't be able to work for awhile," Callahan remarked as he was leaving the courtroom. "The confinement has been hard on me and I've been sick all the last month. Eight months in jail will use up most any man. I couldn't have stood it much longer."

While the attorneys and judge were awaiting for the jury to finish drawing up its verdict a light-haired man walked into the courtroom and somebody started the rumor that it was Pat Crowe.

After the verdict was announced one of the attorneys remarked: "Well, I guess that fellow would be safe, even if he were Pat Crowe. The evidence against Pat Crowe is not any better than that against Callahan. It wouldn't surprise me if Pat were to show up any day now."

When Callahan left the courthouse he announced that he would go at once to the home of his sister, Mrs. Kelly, who stayed by him faithfully through both of his trials.

BREAK IN SUGAR MARKET

Latest Result of War on Beet Sugar Industry. LOCAL PRICE IS REDUCED TO FOUR CENTS. Extraordinary Low Price of Sugar Apt to Bring on Demand Beyond the Ability of Largest Jobbers to Satisfy.

The following telegram has been received from William H. Green of New York, the well known authority on the American and European sugar situation: NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Granulated, Missouri river, delivery this month, in extent (exclusive of last November), provided, recent retailers, 12c.

These prices are said to be local to the Missouri river only. Speaking of this out, a man familiar with the situation says: "The real significance of this quotation is apparent to the general public, being an effort to destroy one of our most valuable home industries. The result of this very low price for a limited time will be that every retailer will endeavor to purchase sugar in advance of his regular requirements in order to lay in a stock against the time when higher prices come later, and likewise every farmer and housewife will buy 100 pounds, where heretofore they have been buying twenty, and an unprecedented demand is looked for."

What Cut Means. "This low price is below the cost of raw sugar laid down at the Missouri river and raw sugar has reached the lowest price ever known in the history of the world. The Missouri river sugar situation has been so peculiar of late that eastern jobbers are wide awake to the fact that there is a golden opportunity to reap a large profit if it becomes possible for them to buy sugar in the Missouri river markets, which it would pay them to do at this very low price, even to the extent of paying the freight back to eastern terminals. The wholesale price on sugar today is 5c 1/2 per 100 lbs. at Omaha, the price in Chicago being 5.0c, St. Louis the same, and in Denver 5.0c.

The best sugar factories at present occupy the very unique position of being to some extent the under dog in the fight, but sufficiently aggressive to have become a warning to its more powerful competitor. The continued growth of the beet sugar business is a serious menace to the octopus, which at present seeks to overthrow the beet sugar development in America. The American Sugar Refining company, otherwise known as the sugar trust, recently added to its capital the enormous sum of $15,000,000 for the avowed purpose of stifling competition. The present fight of the trust to maintain its supremacy is one of so great importance that the jobbers are constantly on the qui vive in the anticipation of new developments. Under ordinary conditions the beet sugar factories do not operate beyond January 1, but after that time, when beet sugar competition is reduced to a minimum, a reasonable expectation that the sugar trust, having seriously injured its only American rival, will speedily restore former prices until another season, when their plucking operations may again reduce values."

Smallpox Follows the Road. JOHNSTOWN, Neb., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—Smallpox has made its appearance here and the red flag is displayed at the hotel where the brother of the hotel keeper is a very sick man. Dr. Cameron is on the alert to detect any other cases, and will immediately isolate them. The disease was bad at Wood Lake, then seized the bridge watchman. It is now here and traveling down the line. Long Pine is already afflicted.
