How Fortunes Are Made. It would be impossible for a man working by the day or engaged in an ordinary occupation which produced only a moderate income to become a millionaire.

How Fortunes Are Made. The business which has made the most rich men in this country is the oil industry. Thousands have made comfortable fortunes in this business, which has produced hundreds of millionaires.

How Fortunes Are Made. Here are the names of some of the men who have made their millions out of the oil business, also their estimated wealth: John D. Rockefeller, worth $500,000,000.

How Fortunes Are Made. The average man is so capable of amassing a fortune as these men. The secret of their success was investments in the oil business of Pennsylvania in its infancy.

How Fortunes Are Made. Had anyone prophesied in 1859 that five men would amass a fortune of $700,000,000 from the oil business he would have been laughed at.

How Fortunes Are Made. The oil fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and elsewhere in the United States pale into insignificance in comparison with the recent discoveries at Beaumont, Tex.

How Fortunes Are Made. Such comparisons with other oil fields simply stagger the most experienced oil men, while the general public are totally unable to grasp the significance of the production of the Beaumont oil wells.

How Fortunes Are Made. Those early in the field, and among them was the Omaha-Texas Oil Co., who had the good fortune to secure such lands, have the prospect of immense fortunes before them.

How Fortunes Are Made. The Omaha-Texas Oil Co. need money to fully develop their oil land holdings and offer a limited amount of their treasury stock at 25 cents for 41 shares.
