RUNAWAY BOY IS KILLED

Sixteen-Year-Old Armin Conrad Run Down by Rock Island Train.

LIMBS BROKEN AND SKULL CRUSHED

Death is Instant and Body Escapes Observation for a Long Time—Lad Was Pupil at School for Deaf.

Armin Conrad, a 16-year-old pupil at the Iowa School for the Deaf, who ran away from the institution Friday evening...

Young Conrad and a pupil named Clyde Loughery ran away from the school Friday evening and walked down the railroad tracks to Underwood, where word was sent to Superintendent Rothert that the boys were there.

It is supposed that yesterday morning he decided to return to the school and was run down and killed by the fast mail on the Rock Island at 7:55 a. m.

Young Conrad, who was deaf and dumb, was instantly killed. The back of his head was crushed in and his left arm and leg were fractured.

Board of County Supervisors Rescinds Its Vote in Assessor's Case.

Former City Assessor W. D. Hardin realized yesterday that there is trouble in the city of Council Bluffs during the session of the Board of County Supervisors.

The law provides that at the January session of the Board of County Supervisors it shall fix the compensation of assessors for that year.

Hardin's examination, as before, was marked by a number of passages between him and Senator Patterson. His answers irritated the statesman from Colorado and the court was finally appealed to by Senator Patterson to require the witness to keep the "humor" out of his answers.

The board fixed his salary each year at the January session and the county attorney said the board had no right under the statutes to open it up again.

In accordance with this opinion from the county attorney the supervisors unanimously voted to rescind its action. Supervisors Matthews, Auld and Hansen, while voting with the rest of the board, made a statement which was ordered spread on the records, to the effect that, while voting to rescind their former action in allowing the $1,000 in accordance with the opinion of the county attorney, they still retained the belief that Mr. Hardin had not received sufficient compensation.

Sheriff Cousins submitted a written report on the condition of the cylinder in the county jail, in which he said it could not be operated by the jailer, except with the assistance of the prisoners, and that it had to be moved so rapidly that it was dangerous for the prisoners to go in and out of their cells while it was revolving.

The board adjourned to Tuesday.

HUMOR IN COLORADO TRIAL

Court Has a Hard Time Trying to Keep Down Laughter in Doyle-Burns Suit.

Pat Murphy of Victor and John D. O'Haire, the merchant tailor of Colorado Springs, who grabbed James Burns, James Doyle and Jerry O'Driscoll in the early days of their prospecting in the Cripple Creek district, were the witnesses examined Saturday for the plaintiff in the Doyle-Burns suit in the district court.

Murphy, who preceded O'Haire on the stand, is a typical Irishman and his native wit and humor cropped out in almost every answer he made. He testified to being out of a job in the fall of 1892 and going to the Cripple Creek district to see "if he could not find a hole in the ground where gold was to be had."
